4,000 REBELS TAKEN IN DRIVE ON TORREON; 700 FEDERALS SEIZED

Calles Reports Victory in Two Battles of Encircling Move.

LOYAL PLANES DROP BOMBS UPON TRAINS

Insurgents Near Saltillo Forced to Abandon Cars; Fuel Runs Short.

ATTEMPT TO ISOLATE NACO IS UNDER WAY

Revolt Chiefs Burn Bridges; Claim First Skirmish Against Gen. Calles.

Pipolito, State of Coahuila, Mexico, March 13 (A.P.).—The capture of 4,000 rebel soldiers on four troop trains today by Gen. Saturnino Cedilla was reported here by Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, leading an army against the rebels' stronghold at Torreon.

Reports to Gen. Almazan said that Gen. Cedilla's troops had caught up with the retreating rebels today and were harrying the vanguard of the army commanded by Gen. Gonzalo Escobar.

Juarez, Mexico, March 13 (A.P.).—Advices received at rebel military headquarters here tonight stated that 700 federal troops were captured and many killed and wounded by revolutionists in a battle near Saltillo late today. The communique came from Gen. Marcelo Caraveo, former Governor of Chihuahua and now commander of the revolutionary troops at Chihuahua City.

Mexico City, March 13 (A.P.).—The federal government announced tonight that 60 rebels were killed or wounded in a battle fought about halfway between Canitas and Durango. The fight was a development of Calles' advance upon Durango. The federals won the battle and were continuing their forward movement tonight.

The communique added that the encircling movement of the federals around Torreon already had been almost completed. When it is finished the rebel stronghold will be attacked from all sides by converging federal forces.

7 Prisoners Executed.

The communique said that Gen. Almazan was advancing upon Torreon from the direction of Monterey, that Gen. Cedillo was approaching from the direction of Saltillo and that Gen. Lazaro Cardenas was headed for Torreon from the direction of Zacatecas.

Later details of the fight between Canitas and Durango stated that Gen Medino Veytia led the federal forces. The rebel casualties included fourteen killed and seven taken prisoner, these latter being executed.

The communique also said that Gen. Calles had established his headquarters at Rio Grande, near the Durango-Zacatecas border.

Gen. Calles, who is directing the federal government operations in an attempt to stamp out the current rebellion, today ordered soldiers, who last week terminated the revolt in the state of Vera Cruz, to go to Irapuato. That town is an important railroad junction in the State of Guanajuato.

Religious Motive Alleged.

The task for these troops will be suppression of activities by insurgents whose motive, according to government sources, is religious. Mention of that situation in the government bulletin gave the first prominence to that movement since the military rebellion

Girl of 13 Corrects Taft for Oath Error

Walden, N. Y., Child Tells Chief Justice He Used "Maintain" for "Protect;" He Agrees, Blaming Slip on "Old Man's Memory."

Walden, N. Y., March 13 (A.P.).—People exercising a public duty must be much more careful now because of the radio. Chief Justice William Howard Taft told 13-year-old Helen Terwilliger.

He made this remark in replying to a letter from the girl in which she called him to account for misquoting the oath of office when he administered it to President Hoover.

"One can not speak to the whole United States without having his words closely examined," Chief Justice Taft wrote Helen. "You are quite right that the words of the oath mentioned in the Constitution are 'preserve protect and defend,' but my memory is not always accurate and one sometimes becomes a little uncertain, so that the variation from 'protect' to 'maintain' was a departure from the text, but not from the meaning.

"It certainly did not prevent the validity of the oath. When I was sworn in as President by Chief Justice Fuller he made a similar slip, but in those days there was no radio. It was observed only in the Senate chamber, where I took the oath. This shows how much more carefully one who is exercising a public duty must now conduct himself.

"You are mistaken in your report of what I did say. What I said was 'preserve, maintain and protect.' What I should have said was 'preserve, protect and defend,' and you may attribute the variation to the defect of an old man's memory."

Helen's classmates in the Eighth Grade American history class who listened with her to the radio account of the inauguration insist with Helen, however, that Chief Justice Taft really said "preserve, maintain and defend" and not "preserve, maintain and protect."

AMERICANS' SAFETY OCCUPIES MORROW

Time Seen Appropriate for Mexico to Accept Onus of Responsibility.

U. S. CLAIMS UNREQUITED

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Safety of American lives and properties in Mexico is giving natural concern to officials here and American Ambassador Morrow has reported to the State Department that he has sent Edward Lowry, third secretary of the embassy, to Guadalajara to investigate the situation in that district. Assurances have been given to Mr. Morrow that the federal authorities will extend every possible aid to Americans in the outlying districts.

But investigation here shows that the government of Mexico has not yet seized the opportunity of effectively assuring the United States that it will assume the responsibility of protecting Americans against such losses as Americans have always suffered in the past revolutionary activities. Mexico is on record as refusing to recognize liability for loss to American nationals and efforts by the United States Government to change the Mexican attitude have so far been unavailing. The time may be ripe for a formal recognition by Mexico of her willingness to accept the responsibilities which the United States has insisted upon.

In reply to American aid extended to the government in the present crisis and in consideration of the concern which the United States naturally feels for its nationals in Mexico, it would be a most appropriate time for adjustment of a controversy which has placed America in a position of humiliating disadvantage and has indefinitely postponed settlement of several hundred million dollars of American claims against Mexico.

There is difficulty at present in establishing contact with Americans in the revolutionary areas, as a consequence of the refusal of the Mexican

WOMAN'S ASSAILANT ELUDES SEARCHERS

$500 REWARD IS OFFERED

Armed posses aroused by the brutality and beastiality of the act, continued at a late hour last night to comb the woods and search hiding places near Takoma Park, Md., for the negro who yesterday morning beat and criminally attacked Mrs. Clara Millar, 32 years old, as she lay ill in bed at 6 Circle avenue. Mayor Ben G. Davis, who had assumed charge of the hunt, late last night offered a reward of $500 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the assailant.

Bloodhounds from Occaquan prison were used in the early stages of the search, but had to be called off, when they lost the trail which they had started baying. The hounds were unable to keep on, according to their owner, R. S. Glascock, because rain had wiped out the scent.

What was at first regarded as a clew to the identity of the assailant was discovered by a few of the posse, which, in all consisted of from 60 to 75 men, in a shed to the rear of the home of Estelle Herbert, 33, colored, which lay in the direction the man was seen to take when he ran from the Millar home.

The colored woman refusing the possemen entrance to her house, they went to the shed in the rear, and there found, it was said, a gray cap and the trousers and coat of a dark suit, such as the assailant was said by Mrs. Millar

Spanish Students Start New Rioting

Fighting in Madrid Follows Hissing of Dictator; Girl Is Injured.

London, March 13 (A.P.).—Advices from Madrid tonight said that there were riots in the Spanish capital today when students hissed a likeness of Gen. Primo de Rivera which appeared in a film showing the recent wedding of the Infanta Alfonso. A girl student, Luisa Lopez, argued with a policeman and received a severe sword cut on the head.

Among the prisoners was Manuel Miralles, who in 1921 was dismissed as Governor of San Sebastian. Miralles, because of his immense strength, has been known as "the Samson of Madrid." He seriously injured four policemen when they tried to arrest him today, but was overcome by superior numbers.

The School of Highway Engineering was closed today. The students thereupon paraded the streets, shouting, "Death to the assassins and Primo de Rivera!"

Lindbergh to Start Flight to U. S. Today

Mexico City, March 13 (A.P.).—It was authoritatively stated here this evening that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, who has been visiting the family of his fiancee, Miss Anne Morrow, would depart for the United States tomorrow morning. He is to travel via Tampico and Brownsville.

The colonel refused to give any indication of his plans or to approximate the date of his return to Mexico. It was understood that he is to go to New York from Texas.

85 POLICEMEN HELD UNFIT IN GRAFT INQUIRY

SEES EXPLANATIONS AS UNSATISFACTORY

Members of Butler Dry Law Squad Among Accused in Court Report.

Philadelphia, March 13 (A.P.).—Dismissal of one police captain, a former captain and 83 detectives and policemen, because they failed to explain satisfactorily how they acquired large sums of money, was recommended today by the special grand jury investigating bootlegging, gang murders and police corruption.

In a presentment to Judge Edwin O. Lewis, who last August charged the jury to begin the investigation, the grand jurors declared the police named were "unfit to hold office in the municipal government."

From time to time since August the grand jury has made presentments to Judge Lewis and in nearly every case police officers or policemen were declared "unfit." Officers and men were dismissed from the service, and several were tried on criminal charges and convicted.

Safety Director Quit.

The investigation also led to the conviction of politicians, who were charged with bribery and conspiracy. Harry C. Davis, former director of public safety, resigned his office after the grand jury had criticized the conduct of the police department. He was not personally implicated in any of the allegations made by the grand jurors.

Lemuel B. Schofield, the present director of public safety, was appointed to succeed Davis. Schofield was first assistant district attorney and had prosecuted the policemen and politicians charged with criminal acts. Schofield's appointment was recommended by John Monaghan, district attorney, in charge of the investigation.

Dry Raiders Hit.

The captain declared unfit today was John J. Kerns and the former captain was James C. McPoyle, now a house sergeant.

The grand jury's report declared the investigators had found the accumulated wealth of some of those named was obtained while they served on unit No. 1, a prohibition enforcement squad organized by Gen. Smedley D. Butler when he was director of public safety, or in police districts where vice and crime flourished.

Tornado Kills 7 In South Carolina

Six Mile, in Pickens County Devastated by Sudden Violent Storm.

Liberty, S. C., March 13 (A.P.).—Seven persons were known to have been killed and an undetermined number of others injured at 8 o'clock tonight, when a tornado struck the Six Mile community near here. Four houses were blown down and a gin, a church and a building of the Six Mile Academy damaged.

G. N. Garrett, Pickens County deputy sheriff, his wife and two children were crushed to death when their home collapsed. Mrs. Tillman Garrett and two of her children were killed in the collapse of a nearby home.

All physicians in Pickens and Liberty were called to the scene and the injured were being cared for in the hospital in the Six Mile Academy, a Baptist preparatory school.

The community, which numbers about 200 persons, was cut off as light and telephone lines went down. The damage was centered in a radius of a few hundred yards.

An infant of Mrs. Tillman Garrett's was blown some 300 yards by the tornado and was lost for an hour, but was found later to be not seriously hurt.

New York House Rejects Dry Bill

Republicans and Democrats Join in Defeating Measure for Enforcement.

Albany, N. Y., March 13 (A.P.).—The assembly today killed the Jenks State prohibition enforcement bill. First the house refused to accept the codes committee report of last night amending the bill so as to apply only to beverages containing more than 6 per cent alcohol and then immediately killed the measure by voting to recommit it to the committee.

Heeding the exhortation of Majority Leader Russell G. Dunmore not to accept the committee report, all but eight of the Republicans voted against the 6 per cent report. This left the bill in its original form, applying to beverages containing 1½ per cent in accordance with the Volstead act.

Peter J. Hammill (Democrat), New York, then moved to recommit. On this vote Republicans who had voted with the majority on the previous motion switched and were recorded with the Democrats.

Tri-Motored Monster Leaves Course in an Attempt to Beat 231-Mile Mark.

Ocean Speedway, Daytona Beach, Fla., March 13 (A.P.).—Lee Bible, 42-year-old Daytona Beach garage mechanic, rode to a spectacular death today in the 36-cylinder racing car with which he was attempting to break the world's speed record of 231 miles an hour. Speeding at more than 3 miles a minute, the machine got beyond his control and crashed into the sand dunes, striking and killing also Charles Traub, a newsreel camera man.

The accident, one of the most tragic in the history of beach racing here, occurred just after Bible had crossed the measured mile course at a speed of 202 miles an hour, and was witnessed by a crowd of approximately 20,000 spectators, who lined the sand dunes for miles.

Roaring over the course at such a terrific speed, the car, owned by J. M. White, of Philadelphia, quickly disappeared in a haze that hung over the beach, and those who sat in the grand stand a mile away were unable to see just how the accident happened.

Witnesses Tell of Crash.

Eyewitnesses, who were standing on the dunes at the end of the mile, declared Bible attempted to run too far out on the course near the surf. They said the driver, evidently believing the car would run into the ocean, lifted his foot too quickly from the accelerator. With the power shut off so suddenly at that speed, the car started to swerve.

Witnesses said Bible probably slammed on his brakes and attempted to swing the machine back into control, but in doing so turned the steering wheel too far. The machine went out of control, spun around twice on the beach and turned over. It bounced high into the air, rolled and smashed into the dunes with a terrific impact. Traub, who was standing on the beach taking pictures of the race, attempted to get out of the way, but the car was traveling too fast.

Traub was struck squarely by the speeding car just before it crashed into the dune. His body was mangled beyond recognition.

While the car was turning over, and just before it struck the dunes, Bible's body was hurled out onto the beach. Witnesses said he attempted to sit up, gasped and fell back on the sand, dead.

Machine Demolished.

The Triplex, which held the world's record of 207 miles an hour before Maj. H. O. D. Segrave, of England, boosted the mark up to 231 last Monday, was demolished. After rolling for several hundred feet over the beach it struck the high dunes and rolled back onto the course, right side up. All four wheels were torn loose and one of them rolled across the course into the surf. None of the tires blew out, however.

The front twelve-cylinder motor was torn loose from the frame, but the two rear motors remained in place. The steering wheel was broken and the hood and cowling was stripped from the machine.

Bible never had driven a race car, except at a few small dirt tracks in Florida and the Middle West, and had staked his life on the opportunity to make a name for himself. When White brought the car here last year he stored it in Bible's garage and turned the ma-

CHIEF FROM RANKS URGED BY COUNCIL

BUDGET SYSTEM RAKED

The new chief of police should be selected from the police ranks and should not be chosen from among the numerous candidates outside the Police Department, the Citizens Advisory Council declared last night.

The declaration of the council was clothed in general language and did not refer specifically to the job of police chief, but the resolution, adopted unanimously, was proposed by William A. Roberts and seconded by Charles I. Stengle on the heels of the adoption of a resolution proposed by Stengle expressng the "deep regret" of the council over the pending retirement of Maj. Edwin B. Hesse as superintendent of police and declaring that the council hoped he "soon will regain his health."

The council excepted presidential appointments from the scope of its "promotion" declaration, but said that "where possible, all appointments in the District should be made by premotion."

The name of no candidate was mentioned in the discussion and indications were, after the council meeting, that the members intended to leave the door wide open to every qualified man in the Police Department.

The "presidential appointee" exception was suggested by Dr. George C. Havenner, president of the Federation of Citizens Associations and presiding officer of the council, after Stengle had

SPEED MEET ENDED BY DRIVER'S DEATH

Bible Is Called Martyr to Progress as Tests Are Closed at Daytona.

MAJ. SEGRAVE IS THROUGH

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 13 (A.P.).—The international speed meet, sanctioned by the American Automobile Association to extend to March 17, was declared ended today immediately after the crash in which Lee Bible, Daytona mechanic, was killed.

Maj. H. O. D. Segrave said he would make no more attempts at this meet to break his own record of 231 miles an hour, and this left no more trials to be made.

Val Haresnape, secretary of the association's contest board, who officially closed the meet, called a conference with T. E. Myers and Tommy Milton, famous racing driver, both members of the contest board.

The following statement was issued: "The contest board regrets greatly the accident. It has no statement to make as to the possible cause. The Triplex driver was driving quite steadily past the officials' stand and through the measured mile. What happened occurred so quickly and the car was so completely demolished that no investigation could possibly determine the real cause of the crash.

"We take it as part of the development work in the design of automobiles. It is inevitable that such accidents will occasionally happen."

Lee Bible "did not die in vain," Maj. Segrave, British racing driver and

Seller of Leviathan Loot Convicted; U. S. Asks Bonds

Vienna Merchant, Who Offered to Return $110,000 Securities, Acquitted; America, Envoy Tells Court, Faces Demand for Repayment to Bank.

Vienna, March 13 (A.P.).—Friedrich Rybar, a merchant of Vienna, today was convicted of having conspired with Franz Rudis, a waiter, to dispose of Tokyo traction bonds stolen from the mail on the steamship Leviathan last June. He was sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment.

Wilhelmin Miltner, who assisted Rybar in disposing of some of the stolen bonds, was acquitted after offering to return $110,000 worth of the bonds, which were the property of the National City Bank of New York.

A petition presented to the court by Albert H. Washburn, American Minister, asked the return of these bonds on behalf of the Postoffice Department of Washington. In the petition the Postmaster General stated that the National City Bank held the American postal service responsible and claimed full reimbursement.

Mr. Washburn was present today at the opening of the trial of Rybar.

On cross-examination Rybar admitted that he had received $100 from Rudis to proceed to Antwerp to take possession of the stolen bonds, having been told by Rudis that he had fallen heir to a large fortune from a relative in the United States. Rybar went to Antwerp, but pleaded that he was not aware that the bonds were stolen property. He testified that Rudis was his former business associate, but that the partnership had been dissolved when Rudis left Austria for the United States.

Doctor Admits $500 Offer To Settle Narcotic Cases

Dr. Mazarin C. Dollman, on Stand in Trial of Mrs. Stanley Horner, Declares Amounts of Drugs in Prescriptions He Issued Were Raised.

Dr. Mazarin C. Dollman, prominent physician, admitted from the witness stand in the District Supreme Court yesterday that he has offered Federal narcotic authorities $500 to settle criminal and civil charges pending against him.

The physician made the admission with reluctance while a witness for the Government in the trial of Mrs. Lorraine Horner, pretty wife of Stanley Lorner, automobile dealer, who is charged with forging and uttering five prescriptions for narcotics given her by Dr. Dollman. Charges of violating the Harrison narcotic law by issuing the prescriptions are contained in an indictment against the physician.

Heated tilts between John H. Burnett, defense counsel, and Assistant District Attorney William H. Collins, the prosecutor, marked the first day of the trial, which will be resumed before Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy and a jury of eleven men and one woman at 10 o'clock this morning.

Dr. Dollman, after identifying five prescriptions, which were redeemed by Mrs. Horner in September, 1927, declared that the amounts on all prescriptions had been raised. Three of the orders were given for 20 tablets and were raised to 25, while the other two were given by him for 30 and altered to 35.

Upon cross-examination, Burnett attempted to have the physician admit he was under indictment in connection with issuing the prescriptions and was testifying for the Government so that the charge against him be nolle prossed, but objections of the prosecutor were sustained.

The defense attorney then asked if Dr Dollman had not conferred with Col. L. G. Nutt, of the Narcotic Bureau jority of the mechanical work on it over to him.

After Ray Keech, of Philadelphia, drove the Triplex to a record of 207 miles an hour at that time, Bible felt the urge to again return to the racing game, and asked White to let him drive the car this year.

White said he had taken a particular liking to Bible, and because of the work the mechanic had done on the car decided to let him drive it this year in "repayment of all the things he did for me."

Proved His Competence.

When the opportunity presented itself to Bible, he made application for membership into the A. A. A. so that should he break the record, it would be officially recognized. Officials of the organization, however, held up the application until after he could make several test runs to prove his competence as a driver of such a highspeed car.

Bible made two test runs in bad weather yesterday, attaining a speed of 190 miles an hour. When he brought the machine on to the beach today he sent it roaring south over the course on a preliminary trial at a speed of 180 miles an hour.

After making a careful inspection of the machine, Bible then climbed into the cockpit and sent it speeding northward on what proved to be its last and tragic run. He was timed on his second trial at 202 miles an hour, and hardly a second had elapsed after he crossed the finish line than the car went out of control.

Dunes Lined With Spectators.

The sand dunes for miles were lined with spectators and those standing at the north end of the course saw the tragedy clearly.

Bible's body, which was thrown from the machine as it rolled over the beach, was badly broken.

Bible is survived by a widow and two children, while Traub, who had been a newsreel cameraman for several years, is survived by a widow.

Both bodies were taken to a mortuary. It was some time after the accident, however, before the wrecked machine was loaded onto a truck and hauled to Bible's garage.

White did not witness the accident, as he was at the south end of the course when it happened. He trailed along in a car over the beach, afterward, as he always did when Bible made his preliminary runs, and did not know of the accident until he came upon the crowd standing around the wreckage.

Trembling and shaken, with tears rolling down his cheeks, he was helped into his machine and taken to his hotel on the verge of collapse.

Widow May Have Seen Crash.

It was not known whether Mrs. Bible witnessed the accident, but she had said earlier in the day that she would be at the track to "see my husband break this record."

After Bible had gone north on his fatal run, the crowds, which had stood up in the grandstand and given him a mighty cheer as he roared by, sat down as the machine disappeared in the haze, thinking the driver had made his run successfully and was preparing for another.

Suddenly the telephone, which connects each mile post along the 9-mile course, jingled in the timing pit, and the electrician at the finish line announced that the car had gone out of control. At that time it was not known that Bible had been killed. A few moments later, an electrician, who went to the scene of the crash, notified officials it had been fatal.

When the news was announced, panic reigned for a moment, but the officials quickly brought the spectators under control.

Newspapermen Stampede.

Then there was a mad rush of newspapermen and photographers for their cars and they dashed wildly up the beach to the wreck. Several score spectators succeeded in getting into machines parked on the beach, and trailed up the course, but police kept the majority in check.

There were several hundred spectators standing along the course when the speeding car went out of control and they narrowly escaped death when it struck the dunes almost at their feet.

Maj. Segrave just before his record-breaking run said he estimated that a man had about one chance in ten in such a trial.

Overnight Bible had climbed into the limelight of publicity, an obscure father of two children, who was to "shoot the bolt" in an effort to acquire fame and bring back to America the racing title.

Lived in Obscurity.

Born on a farm near the village of Midway, Tenn., Bible became a railroad switchman and fireman at Knoxville. He has since worked as a telephone lineman, automobile factory mechanic, lockwasher worker, taxi driver and mediocre automobile racer. He had driven in county fair racing events in Arkansas, Indiana, Michigan, Kansas and other States. His first race was at the county fair at Carlyle, Ark., which was one of the few he ever won.

About five years ago Bible settled in Daytona Beach, where he was employed as a mechanic. He owned his own garage, but he still worked as a mechanic.

Traub With Pathe 15 Years.

New York, March 13 (A.P.).—Charles R. Traub, the cameraman killed today when Lee Bible's giant racing machine catapulted across the sands of Dayton Beach, had been with the Pathe firm for fifteen years. He was married.

Traub had been stationed at Miami for some time and had scored several picture beats for them, Pathe officials said, his latest being pictures from inside the S-4 when she was sunk off the Florida Coast to test the new "submarine lung," he also made several pictures from inside a diving bell on the ocean floor during the tests.

Maj. Ross Whytock, one of the editors of Pathe, left for Daytona Beach tonight to take charge of the body and to investigate the circumstances of Traub's death.

Third Fatality at Beach.

(Associated Press.)

The American Automobile Association said here tonight that the death of Lee Bible was the third fatality in the 26 years of speed tests at Daytona Beach. During this time it was said that hundreds of runs had been made at tremendous speeds and fourteen records were established.

The first casualty listed by the association was of Frank Croker, son of the late Richard Croker, Tammany leader, who was killed about twenty years ago when he attempted to avoid a collision with a motorcycle on the beach traveling at a high rate of speed.

In the intervening years the speed record was steadily pushed to the 200-mile mark without a single fatality. Frank Lockhart was killed on April 25 of last year while trying to beat the record of 207.552 miles an hour, which Ray Keech had just established with White's Triplex.

Woman and Aged Man Shot to Death in Home

Smithboro, N. Y., March 13 (A.P.).—J. B. Roberts, 70, and Mrs. Gilbert Eastman, believed to be about 40, were found dead, each with a bullet in the head, in the Roberts home here late today. Police were unable to determine at once whether the deaths were the result of an attack by outsiders or a murder and suicide.

Mrs. Eastman, widow of a section foreman on the Erie Railroad, was beneficiary under her husband's will on the condition that she care for Roberts until his death.

SPEED QUEST COST 3 LIVES IN 2 YEARS

WIFE SAW ONE CRASH

New York, March 13 (A.P.).—The death of Lee Bible on the famous sand straightaway at Daytona Beach is the third tragedy in two years to mark attacks upon the world's automobile speed records.

J. G. Parry-Thomas, famous English driver, was killed March 3, 1927, on the sands at Pendine, Wales, in an attempt to beat his own mark of 172 miles an hour, made in 1926. The latest record feat of Maj. H. O. D. Segrave thus has added more than 50 miles an hour to the record since then.

Almost a year ago Frank Lockhart, American automobile racing champion, was killed at Daytona Beach in an attempt to set a new world record, just as Lee Bible was killed today.

Lockhart was driving a light Stutz racer. It blew a tire as it neared the timing wire. Hurtling end over end, it jumped four times into the air and traveled 1,000 feet before it came to rest in the sand.

Tossed From Tumbling Machine.

The driver's unconscious form was tossed from the tumbling machine as it somersaulted down the beach, and at the hospital where he was taken doctors said he had died almost instantly.

Lockhart died on April 26 1928, in his second unsuccessful attack on the record. On the previous February 22 he had skidded into the ocean in a speed trial not half a mile from the place where he was later killed. As he took his last ride, Lockhart's wife sat in an automobile on the beach and witnessed his spectacular death. She saw the Stutz fly into the air and she jumped to the sand. Her husband's body fell almost at her feet as she ran to his aid.

A group of policemen, reporters and camera men narrowly escaped being mowed down by the whirling car. One camera man was injured by a flying fragment.

Stalked by Death For Miles.

The Lockhart tragedy was attributed to tire failure. Lockhart had made three runs along the beach course and was killed on the fourth. Pieces of tire tread were found along the sand and a survey showed that even in the third run the rubber had been stripping from the treads and that the driver had been stalked by death for several miles before the accident actually occurred.

In recent years the toll of racing daredevils included Jimmy Murphy, twice American national champion, as well as winner of speed classics in Europe, and Dario Resta, famous Italian driver, who numbered the Indianapolis 500-mile race among his victories. Both were killed in 1924.

Black's Plane Crew of 3 Stricken in Africa Flight

Two Pilots and Mechanic Have Influenza as Machine Reaches Broken Hill, Rhodesia; Baltimore Publisher Stranded in Season of Tropical Rains.

Broken Hill, Northern Rhodesia, March 13 (A.P.).—The air touring party of Van Lear Black, Baltimore publisher, is stranded here. The two pilots and the mechanic are in the hospital with influenza and a torrential rain is falling on the unsheltered machine.

The three-man staff of the plane became ill during a rough nine-hour flight from Pretoria, collapsing when they landed here yesterday afternoon. Physicains said that all were progressing favorably, but that they would not be able to leave for at least a week. Mr. Black, his secretary and his valet all are well.

When the machine left Pretoria at 6:16 a. m. Tuesday, the crew seemed in good health. The mechanic felt bad when they landed at Bulawayo at 11:35 a. m. After leaving Bulawayo both pilots became ill.

For four hours, through the worst weather yet encountered on the trip and buffeted by tropical rain torrents, the pilots controlled the big plane although they scarcely were able to sit at the controls. They both were giddy with a raging fever. Meanwhile the mechanic had collapsed in the cabin.

Mr. Black, finding that he can not get to England in time to see Billy Barton, an American horse, run in the Grand National, has cabled a bet on him.

Capital's Educational Activities Are Lauded

Educational activities in Washington were praised last night by Elwood Street, director of the Community Chest, addressing the Parent-Teacher Association of Powell Junior High School and the Mount Pleasant and Columbia Heights Citizens Associations in the Powell School Building.

Street praised the spirit of citizens in contributing to the support of the 57 charitable agencies which are embraced by the Community Chest.

Evolution Act Illegal, Says Arkansan's Suit

Little Rock, Ark., March 13 (A.P.).—A suit seeking to restrain the State's attorney general from enforcing provisions of the Arkansas antirevolution act and to have it declared unconstitutional was filed in Chancery Court here today by H. F. L. Maxey, an attorney.

Maxey mailed the papers to the chancery clerk from New York. He said in an accompanying letter that he is a resident of Arkansas.

Charges Dropped In Stein's Arrest

Reformatory Wharf Head Is Jailed on Chrage of Disorderly Conduct.

Charges against William B. Stein, superintendent of the Occoquan Reformatory's Ninth street wharf, who was arrested Monday night for alleged failure to give right of way to a policeman and subsequent disorderly conduct while pursuing two fugitives from justice who escaped from the District Workhouse five years ago, were nolle prossed in Police Court yesterday when the corporation counsel's office refused to issue papers for the charges.

Stein was arrested by Motorcycle Policeman V. V. Vaughn, of the Third Precinct, and forced to ride to the station house in a patrol wagon despite the fact that he showed his credentials to Vaughn and told him that he was pursuing in his own machine fugitives who have eluded the authorities for five years.

In discussing the case yesterday, Stein denied that he had been disorderly, and intimated that he would urge his superior officer, Capt. M. M. Barnard, general superintendent of District Penal Institutions, to file a formal complaint against Policeman Vaughn for the treatment which was accorded him.

Conference Fails On Arms Control

Geneva Parley Seeking Way to Government Supervision Ends in Deadlock.

Geneva, March 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—One more attempt to reach an agreement regarding government control of the private manufacture of arms collapsed tonight when a committee of experts, including four American delegates, rejected the "Belgian plan" and adjourned.

Since the traffic in arms treaty was drafted by an international conference held under the league's auspices in 1926, many efforts have been made to prepare an accord for the control of private arms manufacture which would be mutually acceptable to all nations. First one country, then another, has blocked progress.

The situation has dwindled down to the point where the only agreement has been upon the American and German thesis, namely, that the "widest publicity" be given to the facts relating to private manufacture of arms. The experts committee, which adjourned today, will report "no progress" to the plenary committee which will probably reassemble some time this summer.

ACTRESS ENDS LIFE; IN LOVE WITH PRINCE

Helen Rench Leaves Pathetic Note to Grandson of of Franz Josef.

MOTHER DIES WITH HER

Vienna, March 13 (A.P.).—Leaving a pathetic farewell note to Prince Ernest Windisch-Graetz, grandson of the late Emperor Franz Josef, Mme. Helen Rench, a brilliant young actress, committed suicide with her mother in their dingy apartment today. In her arms was the body of her baby boy, Franz Josef Rench.

"Bury me with the photographs of my two greatest treasures, my lover, Ernest, and my baby son, Franz Josef," was the dying message of the beautiful 20-year-old actress who recently starred in the Americanized Viennese operetta, "Roses in Florida."

Prince Ernest, who is a handsome youth of 24, is a son of the only daughter of Emperor Franz Josef, the Archduchess Elizabeth Maria.

The newspapers hint that the prince failed to reciprocate Mme. Rench's love. The triple tragedy has stirred all Vienna, where the young actress was extremely popular.

Budapest, March 13 (A.P.).—Memories of the tragic suicide of the Austrian Crown Prince Archduke Rudolf, which shook the world 40 years ago, were revived today by the suicide here of Stefan Dubowsky, favorite coachman and friend of the late Emperor Francis Joseph.

Dubowsky, who drove every crowned head in Europe for half a century, had fallen upon lean days since the disintegration of the Austro-Hungarian empire. Despairing of finding a job because of his advanced age and the disappearance of his last horse, Dubowsky flung himself into the Danube River.

SPEED TESTS ENDED BY DEATH OF DRIVER

holder of the world's land speed record, said tonight in paying tribute to the former garage mechanic who was killed today in the crash of the giant Triplex while attempting to better the record.

"It is just one of those things which occasionally happen and which must be expected in the development of high-speed racing," said the British driver who set a mark of 231.36 miles per hour Monday.

Maj. Segrave had intended to make an attempt to boost his own record, but canceled any further trials.

"In due respect to White and Mrs. Bible, I am through," he said.

He did not see the crash, which was hidden from the grandstand, where he sat, by mists.

"It is most impossible to tell the cause of accidents like that," said Maj. Segrave. "The car always is completely demolished and we may never know exactly what happened. When Bible went by the grandstand, he seemed to be all right and to have the car under control.

"I watched it go down the course and everything seemed to be lovely until the car suddenly went out of control."

A New Method of Storage

We have shipped goods abroad in our steel "lift" vans for many years, loading the goods in the van at owner's residence, sending the van to Paris, Rome, or elsewhere, and delivering at owner's door under lock and seal, there to be unloaded much as though the goods had been moved from the next street.

Now we offer the same convenience and security in storage.

Your goods may be loaded in one of our steel vans, fumigated for moths, locked and sealed at your door, then stored in our depository in the van until you want them—here or abroad.

The utmost in security and convenience.

DAVIS HAS SOLUTION FOR NAVAL PROBLEM

All Nations Should Forget Prejudice for Reality, Says Former Candidate.

OPPOSES PLAN OF BORAH

New York, March 13 (A.P.).—John W. Davis, writing on "Anglo-American Relations" in "Foreign Affairs," published tomorrow, makes some recommendations for improving those relations through a clearer understanding of the problems connected with naval power.

He advocates an agreement whereby the United States would not insist on its neutral rights at sea when other nations were engaged in coercing a covenant-breaking state, in return for which Great Britain would fully accept America's interpretation of neutral rights in a regular "private" war. The former Ambassador to Great Britain believes this would greatly facilitate a naval agreement.

Mr. Davis thinks both nations must decide to take into account realities and possibilities rather than prejudices and traditions.

"This," he writes, "is precisely the field for political thinkers, often called statesmen; it ought not to be left as a tilting ground for the admirals, who are so admirable on their own target ranges. The whole crux of the matter lies in an effort to make it reasonably probable that in future naval conflicts the fixed policies of Great Britain and the United States will cause their navies to work in harmony or at least not as potentially hostile agencies diametrically opposed."

This implies, Mr. Davis points out, "that the United States should take an active part in concerting measures for the prevention of war, and in compelling the observance of those rules which are designed to mitigate its destructiveness—in other words, that it should accept what the treaty for the renunciation of war may be said to imply, viz, that all the nations whose treaty is broken or threatened so to be, have a mandate to concert measures to prevent the breach or to repress it. * * *"

Mr. Davis believes it reasonable to suppose that on the basis of such an understanding regarding America's attitude toward a treaty-enforcing war, Great Britain would agree that if she were engaged in an "old-fashioned 'private' war," she would not attempt to interfere with the fullest freedom of sea transit by all noncombatant nations.

Mr. Davis opposes Senator Borah's plan to summon another conference to codify war law or practice.

He believes one of the chief weaknesses of the Geneva conference was that questions of naval strategy rather than of national policy were always to the fore.

Church Dedication Services Are Held

Canon Anson Phelps Stokes, of Cathedral, Addresses Temple Audience.

The pastor, choir and congregation of the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church attended exercises at the Lincoln Temple Congregational Church, Eleventh and R streets northwest, last night incident to dedication of the new church structure.

Dr. Anson Phelps Stokes, canon of the Cathedral of Washington, made the principal address, comparing Abraham Lincoln and Booker T. Washington as illustrations of types of psychology to be studied in America.

Transformation of "Hell's Bottom" to its present status during the 49 years of the establishment of the church at its present location was cited by the Rev. R. W. Brooks, pastor. The new church has a roof garden for open-air services, individual classrooms for Sunday school instruction, social service rooms and an assembly hall. Dedicatory exercises will continue through Sunday night.

MRS. HORNER ACCUSED IN DRUG TRIAL

William Forsythe, Post Staff Photographer.

Mrs. Stanley Horner, wife of the well-known automobile dealer, and Milton King, her attorney, leaving the District Supreme Court yesterday where Mrs. Horner went on trial on charges of forging narcotic prescriptions.

$500 DRUG OFFER ADMITTED BY DOCTOR

and had offered the Government a $500 check as a compromise in the criminal and civil charges against him.

Collins objected, and the defense counsel stated that "the witness is under indictment himself in connection with these very prescriptions, and if the Government has bought his testimony with a compromise, the jury is entitled to know it." The court agreed with Burnett and Dr. Dollman admitted the statement was true.

Says Memory Is Dimmed.

To question propounded during a severe two-hour cross-examination by Burnett and Milton King, for the defense, the physician frequently said his memory failed him. He said he could not remember whether or not he gave Mrs. Horner 200 drug prescriptions in the course of 183 days, and that he could not recall whether he left prescriptions at the Home for Incurables for the pretty defendant. He did admit that he gave Mrs. Horner's chauffeur and maid prescriptions for her.

He was asked whether or not at the time of Mrs. Horner's arrest in December, 1927, he had not admitted in her presence that "I might have scratched over those prescriptions myself," referring to the five orders Mrs. Horner is accused of altering, but denied the statement. He also denied that he frequently gave Mrs. Horner additional prescriptions to "cover up" shortages at the Argyle Pharmacy, Seventeenth street and Park road northwest, where the orders were filled.

The entire morning session was taken up in argument by Burnett for a directed verdict of not guilty. After Collins had made his opening statement to the jury, the defense counsel charged that the indictment against his client was faulty.

Sister Will Testify.

Following Dr. Dollman's testimony, Morris Rodman, of the Argyle Pharmacy, testified Mrs. Horner represented herself to be Mrs. Vivian Tillman, her sister, in having filled an undated prescription. He said the prescription was dated by himself. He will be called for cross-examination when the trial is resumed today.

Mrs. Tillman was jointly indicted with Mrs. Horner, but her attorneys, Daniel S. Ring and Harvey L. Cobb, obtained a separate trial for her. She will be called as a defense witness in her sister's trial.

Under the narcotic laws, an official of the Narcotic Bureau may compromise any civil charges against a physician with the approval of the Attorney General. Collins stated yesterday that no promise had been made by the District Attorney's office concerning the indictment against Dr. Dollman, despite the fact that he and Col. Nutt had reached the $500 compromise.

Apartment Reported Robbed.

Mrs. Robert Holmes, of 1615 Twelfth street northwest, reported to police yesterday that her apartment was entered during the day by use of a duplicate key and jewelry and clothing valued at $57, and $10 in cash were taken.

WOMAN'S ASSAILANT IS SOUGHT IN VAIN

to have worn. The woman was taken to the Takoma Park police station for questioning.

She claimed, it was said later, she knew nothing of the clothing. Members of the posse said it was muddy and wet, as if recently doffed, when found. From Takoma Park the possemen continued their search.

Among those who joined in the man hunt last night was Louis Millar, husband of the victim, who was at work and could not be located until some time after the attack. One of the posse, Curtis Barr, 21 years old, 1014 Carroll avenue, Takoma Park, shot himself accidentally through the calf of the right leg early last night when the pistol he was carrying in his trousers pocket was discharged.

Woman in Serious Condition.

Mrs. Millar was reported to be in a serious condition last night at the Washington Sanitarium Hospital, where she was taken following the attack. She is in a highly nervous state as one result of her experiences, and Dr. A. W. Truman, who is attending her, reported that her face is swollen and her body covered with bruises.

The victim was at home alone when the attack occurred. Her husband had left home for work and her two sons, Howard, 13 years old, and Byron, 11, had gone to school. She was in bed and half asleep, she said, when about 10:30 o'clock she sensed there was some one besides herself in the room. Looking up, she saw the man.

She screamed and then, when he beat her, lost consciousness, it was reported. Regaining consciousness, she found the assailant still in the room. Screaming, she ran to a window and attracted the attention of two house painters who were at work nearby, William Blosser and Dale Hamilton, both of the vicinity. They saw the negro break from the house and head for the woods.

Pursuers Lose Trail.

The painters pursued the colored man but lost his trail in the woods after a quarter-mile chase.

In the meantime a neighbor had come to the assistance of Mrs. Millar. The Washington Sanitarium Hospital was notified. An ambulance came and took the woman to the hospital.

Policeman Louis A. Cutshaw, of the Takoma Park police, was directing the search early last night.

Deputy Sheriff A. W. Hepburn, Harry Robinson and Claude Reese, of Prince Georges County, and Guy Jones, of Montgomery County, made a preliminary search for the assailant, while Maryland State Police were notified to be on the lookout for the attacker. The State police brought the bloodhounds to the scene.

Parent-Teacher Group Will Ask for Chest Aid

The Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations will apply for membership in the Washington Community Chest, in order to secure aid in the employment of two social workers on juvenile delinquency cases, the association decided last night in a resolution at the meeting in the Randall Junior High School, Second and I streets southwest.

Miss Christine Heinig, director of the Washington Child Research Center, gave a stereopticon lecture on the subject: "Preschool Education and Its Effect on the Child." Garnett C. Wilkinson, assistant superintendent of schools, addressed the meeting. The Girls' Glee Club, of Randall School, and Miss Juanita Brown sang. The Rev. George A. Parker, president, presided.

WORLD COURT SEEKS INCREASE IN JUDGES

Fifteen, Instead of Eleven, Recommended by Group; Root Eyes Protocol.

NEW DRAFT NEARLY READY

Geneva, March 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—While Elihu Root mulled over the old World Court protocol, which contains the declarations made at the 1926 Geneva conference accepting the United States Senate's reservations, with the exception of the one on advisory opinions, hoping that he could make it conform to the Senate's viewpoint and thereby minimize the possibility of congressional controversy, the league's juridical committee today decided to recommend increasing the number of the court judges from eleven to fifteen.

The committee also considered minor changes in the system of electing judges in order to expedite naming successors to members of the court who might die or resign.

The special committee which last night took over the final editing of the Root-Hurst draft on advisory opinions finished its work today, but it is giving Mr. Root all the time he wants for rewording the complete proposed protocol in order not to ruffle the Senate's amour propre.

While Mr. Root's original draft was admittedly softer and more subtle, the suggestions of Sir Cecil Hurst of Great Britain, J. M. Van Eysinga of Holland and Nicholas Politis of Greece, although not changing the meaning, could be construed as putting it more bluntly.

The recommendation for increasing the number of judges of the world court also envisages elimination of the present four deputy judges.

The juridical committee also recommends that the court remain in permanent session hereafter. Judges coming from a distance necessitating more than five days of normal travel will be given six months vacation every three years.

While the new judges will be elected according to regular procedure, it is regarded as a foregone conclusion that Von Simon of Germany, will be elected in September. Poland and Canada are already laying plans to secure representation on the bench of the court.

Honor System Is Urged At Howard University

Need for establishment of the honor system at Howard University was discussed in open forum last night at that institution by Lottie Lee Hargett, president of the Women's League. She said the system could be developed at the university after a period of intense promotion, but the discussion participated in by student leaders indicated small faith in the system's workings.

Thomas Taggart Will Bares $300,000 Estate

Indianapolis, March 13 (U.P.).—Thomas Taggart, Democratic leader, who died last week, left an estate of $300,000, filing of his will revealed here today.

The bulk of the huge fortune Taggart amassed from his hotel at French Lick, Ind., was distributed ten years ago to his wife, sons and daughters.

Two Men Are Accused Under Jones Dry Law

Charged with the sale of a pint and possession of a quart of liquor, Paul Davis, 27, and Clifton Coleman, 22, both colored, were held for the grand jury in $2,500 bail each by Judge Isaac R. Hitt yesterday in Police Court.

The men, who were the only ones against whom Jones law charges were made yesterday, were arrested by Eighth Precinct police at 1831 Fourteenth street northwest. Police said they saw the men sell a pint of liquor to John Moore, colored.

Group Refuses to Join Commission Balloting

The American University Park Citizens Association, meeting at Hurst Hall, American University, last night refused to participate in the organizational balloting for vacancies on the District Public Utilities Commission being conducted by the poll committee on commission vacancies.

The request of the poll committee that the association vote on names proposed was "referred to the files." Thomas E. Lodge, president, was nominated by the association for membership of the advisory committee of the Federation of Citizens Association, of which he is at present a member.

Buckley Is Fined; Given 2-Year Term

Former Ohio Treasurer Is Sentenced on Dry Charge; Files Appeal.

Columbus, Ohio, March 13 (A.P.).—Bert B. Buckley, former State treasurer, was sentenced to two years six months and one day in the Federal Penitentiary at Atlanta and fined $1,000 by Federal Judge Benson W. Hough today on charges of conspiracy to bribe.

Buckley's attorneys immediately filed a petition in error in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals seeking reversal of his recent conviction in Federal Court. Buckley was found guilty on ten counts of an indictment charging that he attempted to arrange with John F. Eckhart, acting assistant prohibition administrator, and two Cincinnati men, a "tip-off" system whereby Cincinnati breweries would be advised of pending Federal inspections.

Judge Hough granted a stay of execution pending a decision of the Court of Appeals and released Buckley under a new bond of $10,000, which was posted. Buckley was forced to resign as State treasurer after his conviction.

Joseph Sperber, brewmaster at the Jackson Brewing Co., Cincinnati, alleged coconspirator, was sentenced to four months in Hamilton County Jail and fined $200. Sperber pleaded guilty.

John L. Schrimper, Cincinnati attorney and former State legislator, who also pleaded guilty to the charges, will be sentenced within two weeks.

NEW LIEUTENANT

LIEUT. EDWARD J. KELLY.

Kelly Gets Police Lieutenant Berth

Acting Head of the Detective Bureau Homicide Squad Approved by Hesse.

Edward J. Kelly, acting lieutenant in charge of the homicide squad of the detective bureau, yesterday was promoted to be full lieutenant. The promotion was made on recommendation of Inspector Henry G. Pratt, head of the detective bureau, and was approved by Maj. Edwin B. Hesse.

Kelly, Pratt said, is to remain in the detective bureau, in charge of the homicide squad, and is not to be sent to a precinct, as usually is done when a detective sergeant in the bureau is promoted.

Kelly's promotion was regarded by some as significant. At one time when the late Inspector Clifford Grant, then chief of the detective bureau, was being considered for chief of police, Kelly was reported to be slated to be made chief of the detective bureau. Pratt now is one of those mentioned as a possible successor to Maj. Hesse, who is to retire on March 31, and Kelly's promotion to full lieutenant would make easier his elevation to be chief of the detective bureau.

Sojourners Praise Lejeune at Dinner

Retiring Commander of U. S. Marine Corps Is Honor Guest of Club.

Commissioned officers of America's armed forces gathered at the Marine Barracks under auspices of the Sojourners Club last night to pay tribute to Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, former commandant of the Marine Corps, who leaves next month for the West Coast.

Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, national president of the Sojourners, described Gen. Lejeune as "a gentleman, a soldier and a leader, who is known to the world for deeds well done."

Others who spoke were Maj. Gen. Wendell C. Neville, who recently assumed Lejeune's former post as commandant of Marines, Rear Admiral Luther E. Gregory, Rear Admiral Robert E. Coontz, Wisdon D. Brown, Grand Master of Masons in the District of Columbia; Dr. Bolivar J. Lloyd, assistant Surgeon General of the Public Health Service, Maj. Gen. Anton Stephan and Capt. George F. Unmacht, president of the Washington Sojourners Club, who presided.

Eaker Starts Canal Flight on Saturday

War Department Revokes Order Prohibiting Him to Fly Over Mexico.

San Antonio, Tex., March 13 (A.P.).—Capt. Ira C. Eaker plans to hop off from Brownsville, Tex., Saturday morning on his dawn-to-dusk flight to France Field, Panama Canal Zone, if weather conditions are favorable, he announced this afternoon after receiving word through the Associated Press that his flight is now authorized by the War Department.

Capt. Ira C. Eaker, Bolling Field aviator, will be permitted to make his attempted dawn-to-dusk flight from Brownsville, Tex., to France Field, Panama-Canal Zone, after all, instructions suspending the flight because of the Mexican situation having been rescinded by the War Department yesterday.

The flight was to have been made March 10, and arrangements regarding the new take-off will be left to Capt. Eaker, whose projected flight of 2,000 miles will require five landings for refueling, two in Mexico, one in Guatemala, one in Nicaragua and one in Panama. Headquarters of the Eighth Corps Area of the Army, Fort Sam Houston, Tex., have been notified of the change of orders.

Two Shot, One Fatally; Bootleggers Blamed

Two negroes, said to be police informers, were shot by a trio of negroes, said to be bootleggers, late last night at Four-and-a-half and G streets southwest. One of the negroes is dead, Clarence Harvey, 224 V street northwest. The other is believed to be in a dying condition at Emergency Hospital, William Smith, 1112 Howard road southeast.

As a result of the shooting, police rounded up twelve negroes and held them on technical charges of investigation. Among these were Joseph Edwards, alias "Hippy Lee," of Cleveland Park, allegedly notorious bootlegger.

SOLDIER MAY SAVE MAN FROM NOOSE

Private in Manila Says He Is Guilty of Murder Last Year in Dallas.

WORD SENT TO GOVERNOR

Confession of Pvt. Robert Dell, Company G, Thirty-first Infantry, stationed at Manilla, P. I., forwarded to the War Department yesterday by Maj. Gen. Douglas McArthur, commanding the Philippine department and transmitted to Gov. Moody of Texas, throws a murder in that State in doubt, and may save Clarence Carter from being hanged for the crime in Dallas tomorrow.

Dell confessed that his right name is Robert Lee Delgado; that he was born at Dallas, Tex., January 6, 1903, and that on or about October 1, 1928, about 3 o'clock in the morning, he shot an unnamed man in a holdup at Ervay and Kelly streets in that city.

He further confessed that Clarence Carter, a casual asquaintance, witnessed the killing, and although innocent of complicity, is under sentence of death for the crime and is to be hanged at Dallas tomorrow.

Maj. Gen. McArthur requested the department to get into immediate communication with Dallas authorities, to ascertain the facts and, if the story is verified, to make the necessary representations to Gov. Moody to delay execution pending the investigation. Pvt. Del is in confinement and under observation.

Gov. Moody has been informed that this is the only action taken by the War Department, and no further action will be taken until his wishes are known.

HOOVER OIL PLANS EXPECTED TO STAND

COURT ACTION POSSIBLE

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Despite its far-reaching scope, President Hoover's second definite policy, that dealing with Government oil lands, is apparently to have but little trouble in Congress.

Senator Walsh, of Montana, from whom most of the opposition might be expected to come, indicated yesterday after a call on Mr. Hoover that he would not attempt to do anything, for the present at least. He said he was convinced that Mr. Hoover would deal fairly with those who have made investments under permits to drill for oil issued by the Department of Interior in accordance with the general leasing act of February 25, 1920.

He is not yet prepared to appraise the full effect of the policy on his State, and although he will do everything he can, of course, if it works for serious injury, it does not appear that there is anything he can do in the Senate. Possible if not probable court action seems to be the only thing in the President's way.

Orders Already Issued.

In the meantime, the machinery of the Department of Interior was put quickly to work putting the policy into effect. Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur directed the General Land Office to send instructions to all local land offices that they are not to receive further applications for permits to prospect and drill for oil and gas on the public domain and to reject all applications now pending.

A statement by the Interior Department quoted language of the general leasing act giving it discretionary authority to issue the permits, revealing that it considers it is clearly within its rights. It also called attention to General Land Office circular No. 672, saying:

"It should be understood that under the act, the granting of a prospecting permit for oil and gas is discretionary with the Secretary of Interior, and any application may be granted or denied, either in part or in its entirety, as the facts may be deemed to warrant."

Aside from the refusal to issue any further permits, it was said that the next step of the department will be to study the some 32,000 now outstanding with a view to revoking those whose holders have not made a "reasonable" investment for exploration. The estimate was that the number of permits revoked under this procedure would be very large.

Sees No Curb on Output.

Those found to have made "reasonable" expenditures, however, will be granted leases under the terms of the leasing act, but no adjacent lands are to be leased as the leasing act authorizes. The only leases aside from those which the department feels morally bound to grant will be those for offset wells necessary to prevent drainage by wells on private property.

Senator Walsh is so far virtually alone in his opposition to the policy. And it is one, incidentally, which he says he would be heartily in favor of if it did not work out to discriminate against the public lands States, of which his is foremost. In such States as Texas and Oklahoma, he pointed out, the oil lands have passed into private interests.

He does not believe that the policy will tend to curb production in these fields, but on the other hand, they will increase their output, thereby taking advantage of Montana's misfortune. In Montana, and likewise in Wyoming, if there is to be no development of the Government holdings then there will be no development of the oil industry in those States.

Two Senators Approve.

The extensive Government holdings in these two States, too, are tax free just as Federal property is here in Washington, and under Mr. Hoover's policy the State will derive no income from them, although it has to keep up its roads and public works just the same.

From the adjoining State of Wyoming is the politically hardy Senator Warren, who will quite likely share Senator Walsh's views, but with Mr. Hoover's mind set there is hardly anything, aside from court action, that the two of them can do about it. At least two other Western senators have indorsed the policy, Senators Nye, of North Dakota, and Howell, of Nebraska. The Nebraska senator was at the White House yesterday on another mission, but he expressed the wish that Mr. Hoover not stop at oil conservation, but other natural resources.

Insofar as this second policy of Mr. Hoover's is concerned—the Mexican pronouncement was his first—he quite probably had the assistance of two very close friends in arriving at it, not that he has not given it considerable study himself. They are Mark L. Requa, now a White House guest, and J. F. Lucey, of Texas, both of whom are closely identified with the oil industry.

Wurzbach Files Motion To Quash Indictment

San Antonio, Tex., March 13 (A.P.).—Motion to quash the indictment charging former Representative Harry M. Wurzbach with violation of the corrupt practices act was filed in Federal District Court here today.

Counsel for Wurzbach contended that none of the acts alleged in the indictment constitutes a violation of any Federal law. Wurzbach was arrested Saturday and made bond of $2,500. The indictment alleges he received contributions from three Federal employes in the Republican primary campaign of 1926.

Fish, Shipping Rates, Oil, Farm Aid Engage Hoover

Salmon Treaty With Canada Urged; Mrs. Rogers Asks New England Help; Reapportionment Bill at Extra Session Advocated.

(Associated Press.)

The administration policy of absolute conservation of Government oil, the rehabilitation of trade in New England and the regulation of salmon fishing in the State of Washington were among the subjects placed before President Hoover yesterday by a succession of callers from Capitol Hill.

The Chief Executive, moreover, held brief conferences with two members of his Cabinet, Secretary Kellogg and Secretary Good, accepted a medal from the committee which supervised arrangements for the inaugural celebration and received 150 visitors at the second and last public reception of the week.

Senator Jones (Republican), Washington, recommended to the President that a proposed treaty between the United States and Canada for the regulation of salmon fishing in the Puget Sound and Georgiana Bay areas be considered by the Senate at the coming special session.

Declares Treaty Ready.

In addition, the Washington senator declared his belief that House reapportionment legislation should be approved at the extra session, but otherwise he said he felt the session should be limited to farm relief and tariff revision, the two subjects suggested by the Chief Executive.

Under the proposed treaty a commission of six would be created to deal with the salmon situation, consisting of the Federal Commissioner of Fisheries, two members from the State of Washington and three from the province of British Columbia. The pact, Senator Jones explained, has been pending and ready for ratification for several months, but the State Department thought it best to put it off until President Hoover had taken office.

Chairman Fenn of the House census committee also discussed the subject of House reapportionment with the President. He said a duplicate of the reapportionment bill passed by the House at the last session would be ready for introduction the first day of the special session. After leaving Mr. Hoover's office, he said he believed the President agreed with him that reapportionment should be effected at the special session.

Another caller was Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, Republican representative from Massachusetts. She said she told Mr. Hoover that she felt New England was being discriminated against with regard to ships, shipping and shipping rates and that, in her opinion, conditions would be improved generally throughout New England if this situation could be corrected.

New Post for Burke.

The farm relief problem was brought up by Senator Smith (Democrat), South Carolina, who declared the agriculture committees of the House and Senate would cooperate in evolving a remedy for the agricultural depression.

During the day it was learned that while the resignation of Charles H. Burke as commissioner of the Bureau of Indian Affairs in the Interior Department is to be accepted, Burke will be continued in the Government service at another post.

The medal presented to the President today was a gold reproduction of bronze emblems which were sold to the inaugural day crowds as souvenirs. The proceeds were used by the local committee to help defray the cost of the celebration.

MORROW LOOKS INTO AMERICANS' SAFETY

government to permit transmission of messages to these areas. Telegraphic communication is understood to be interrupted upon orders of the federal authorities. There is therefore a temporary period at least during which hundreds, if not thousands, of Americans are isolated and unable to establish contact with their own country.

The Mexican government's refusal to assume responsibility for the lives and property of Americans in revolutionary territory is based on the decision of the special claims commission in the now famous Santa Ysabel massacre case.

Facts in Test Case.

The special commission was formed to pass judgment on claims growing out of revolutionary activities in Mexico. There were three members of the commission, Judge Ernest Perry, representing the United States; Gonzales Roa, representing Mexico, and Dr. Octavio, the neutral member, who was a Brazilian.

This was a test case because the facts were not disputed and it was felt that the strongest case from the American standpoint should be decided prior to other claims aggregating around $300,000,000.

The facts were simple. American engineers with their wives and families left Mexico during the 1920 revolution and went to Nogales, where they came in contact with Gen. Obregon and the revolutionists. Obregon told them to return to Chihuahua and open up their mines and promised them protection, at the same time asserting that there would be no danger. They boarded a special train under troop protection and reached Paral in Chihuahua, where the train was halted by Villa.

21 Lined Up and Shot.

Twenty-one were taken from the train, lined up and shot. The claim for damages was made by the widows and children of the deceased Americans. In view of the contention that Villa was later given a pension by the Mexican government and was actually in the Mexican army, the United States claimed that the responsibility of the Mexican government to pay damages to the American widows and children of the victims was clear.

But the Mexican government maintained that it had used due diligence in putting down banditry, that Villa was a bandit with no legal status and that Mexico should therefore not be required to pay.

The decision turned on the opinion held by the Brazilian or neutral member and the decision was in favor of Mexico's contention. Judge Perry left the hall, resigned and returned to the United States after the decision was made known. Dr. Octavio, the Brazilian, resigned under a cloud.

The United States Government took the position that it was useless to present any claim if this Santa Ysabel claim could not be maintained. The machinery for adjustment of American claims of this character against Mexico accordingly became inoperative and has practically so remained.

Review Is Hoped For.

Meanwhile, it has been hoped that the Mexican government would consent to review the Santa Ysabel decision and pave the way for genuine adjustment of the special claims. The life of the special claims commission has been continued and a word from the Mexican government expressing readiness to review the case would smooth over an embarrassing impediment in the relations between the two governments. Mexico has, however, persistently refused to review the decision and has claimed that the measure of Mexican responsibility for American lives and properties in Mexico must be measured on that basis.

COOLIDGE DESIROUS OF EXECUTIVE POST

Former President Considering Several Offers; Plans No More Literary Work.

BANS PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Northampton, Mass., March 13 (A.P.).—Calvin Coolidge let it be known today that he plans no extensive literary work. The former President met local newspaper men in the office of his law partner, Ralph W. Hemenway, where he went to open his mail.

Mr. Coolidge has completed all the magazine articles for which he has contracted and the material is now in the hands of his publishers. He has no further literary work in mind.

He would be more interested in accepting some executive position than engaging in further literary pursuits, it was indicated. The dollar-a-word offer of the Encyclopedia Americana has failed to tempt Mr. Coolidge and he does not expect to accept it.

Mr. Coolidge has received several offers of executive positions, but thus far he has made no decision.

The former President wishes it known that the letters he has received commending his first published magazine article are so numerous that it will be impossible for him to reply to all. Mr. Coolidge plans no public appearances or speeches. Due to the illness of Mrs. Lemira Goodhue, Mrs. Coolidge's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge are unable to accept invitations to out-of-town functions.

SOUTH LEADS NATION IN HOMICIDE RECORD

Memphis, With 605 Deaths Per 100,000 Population, Has Highest Rate.

TOTAL MURDERS 12,000

New York, March 13 (A.P.).—The Spectator, an insurance journal, says in its current issue that the homicide record for 136 American cities for 1928 present much the same picture, except in certain details, as "the equally lamentable records for 1927."

Based on figures from local boards of health, an article by Frederick L. Hoffman, consulting statistician for the Prudential Insurance Co., reports that among the 37,000,000 residents of these cities the homicide death rate for 1928 was 10.2 per 100,000, against 10.5 for the preceding year.

Forty-nine cities showed an increase, while the remainder showed either declines or no changes. Memphis, Tenn., had the highest rate in the country and other Southern cities made up the ten leaders; Detroit led the cities of 1,000,000 population or more. Many cities had no homicides.

The ten cities with the highest rates are:

	Population.	Deaths.	Rate per 100,000.
Memphis	190,200	115	60.5
Birmingham, Ala.	222,400	122	54.9
Jacksonville, Fla.	140,700	74	52.6
Atlanta, Ga.	255,100	115	45.1
Little Rock, Ark.	79,200	30	37.9
Macon, Ga.	61,200	22	35.9
Savannah, Ga.	99,800	31	31.0
Nashville, Tenn.	139,600	39	27.9
Houston, Tex.	275,000	72	26.1
New Orleans.	429,400	111	25.9

The figures for cities in the 1,000,000 population class are:

	Population.	Deaths.	Rate per 100,000.
Detroit	1,378,900	228	16.5
Chicago	3,157,400	498	15.8
Cleveland	1,010,300	134	13.3
Philadelphia	2,064,200	182	8.8
New York	6,017,500	401	6.7
Los Angeles.	1,500,000	70	4.7

Hoffman says the returns from certain cities for the two years present an extraordinary contrast. In East St. Louis, Ill., for example, the number of homicides increased from one to eleven; in Utica, N. Y., they decreased from fourteen to three, while in Yonkers, N. Y., they declined from twenty to none.

No Explanation Possible.

"At the present time," Hoffman writes, "I am unable to explain these extraordinary changes which, of course, may be the result of better law enforcement or law laxity, as the case may be."

Of the Southern cities with the highest rates, Hoffman says they are places "with a relatively large colored population."

"But even when the rates are worked out for the two races separately," he continues, "it is shown that both races in the South have a decidedly higher homicide death rate than in the North, central West or far West.

"The ten cities are all located in States in which the death penalty is enforced with a fair degree of rigorous impartiality, but they are likewise located in States where the gun-carrying habit is common and the sale of firearms and ammunition is practically unrestricted. About three-fourths of all the deaths from homicide in Southern cities are due to firearms."

South Four Times North.

The rate of these Southern cities, Hoffman points out, was "nearly four times as high as the country at large, while Memphis, as usual, leads the list with a homicide death rate more than six times as high as the average for all the cities combined."

The combined homicide rate for six cities of 1,000,000 population or more was only 10 per 100,000 against an average of 38.6 per 100,000 for the ten Southern cities.

"The fact that Detroit has the highest homicide death rate of the six largest cities is, of course, largely attributable to the increasing negro population of that city, Hoffman states.

Killings in Chicago increased from 14.1 in 1927 to 15.8 in 1928, Hoffman says, and are therefore about 50 per cent in excess of the average for the country as a whole.

Low Rate Cities.

Among cities with low homicide rates or no homicides at all in 1928 are: Allentown, Pa., 2.0; Altoona, Pa., 1.4; Brockton, Mass., 1.5; Concord, N. H., none; Grand Rapids, Mich., 1.2; Hartford, Conn., 1.7; Jackson, Mich., none; Kalamazoo, Mich., none; Lawrence, Mass., 1.1; Lincoln, Nebr., none; Lynn, Mass., none; Malden, Mass., none; Manchester, N. H., none; Pasadena, Calif., 1.6; Passaic, N. J., none; Quincy, Mass., 1.5; Racine, Wis., 1.3; Schenectady, 1.1; Somerville, Mass., 1.0; Springfield, Mass., 1.3; Davenport, Iowa, 1.5; Harrisburg, Pa., none; Newton, Mass., none; Fall River, Mass., none; New Bedford, Mass., 1.7; New Britain, Conn., none; Pawtucket, R. I., none.

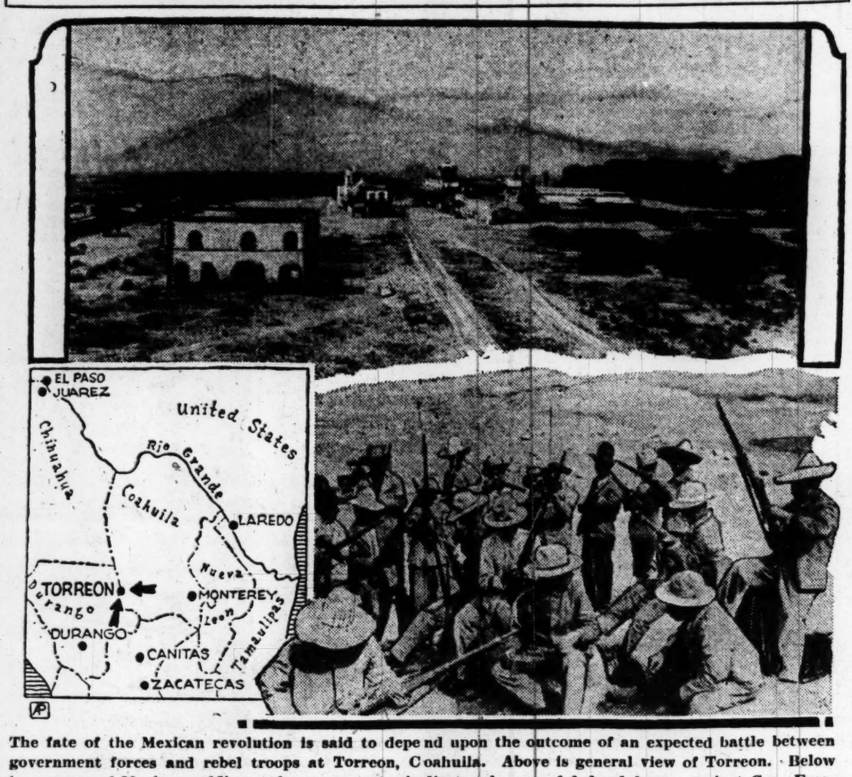
Of the application of the death penalty for murder, Hoffman asserts it is doubtful if the total executions reach 200 against a total estimated murder death roll of possibly 12,000 for the Nation.

Two Killed as Plane Crashes From 300 Feet

Amarillo, Tex., March 13 (A.P.).—Robert C. Poole, prominent Amarillo business man, and Harold Dunwoody, captain of the Amarillo police traffic squad, crashed to their death near the English-Vivins Airport late today.

The plane, owned and piloted by Poole, stalled at about 300 feet.

TORREON, WHERE MEXICAN REVOLT CENTERS



The fate of the Mexican revolution is said to depend upon the outcome of an expected battle between government forces and rebel troops at Torreon, Coahuila. Above is general view of Torreon. Below is a group of Mexican soldiers. Arrows on map indicate advance of federal forces against Gen. Escobar's rebel forces at Torreon.

FEDERALS CAPTURE 4,000

broke out in the northwest and southeast section of the republic ten days ago

The government bulletin said that Gov. Ramirez of the State of Jalisco had organized two regiments of volunteers which, with the troops brought from Vera Cruz, would be ample to hold the Guanajuato disturbances in check. The Jalisco and Guanajuato religionists have been blamed by the government for trouble which has occurred in those mountainous states for more than two years.

Today's communique indicated that the most significant activities in the rebellion are taking place along the American boundary of the State of Sonora. That region has been considered a possible back door for the escape of rebel leaders in case their revolt fails.

Much Property Seized.

Yesterday's capture of Naco, an important intermediary rail point between the rebel forces of Sonora and Chihuahua, was said by the government to have been a heavy blow to the rebellion. Imminent fall of Agua Prieta was predicted and it was said that this, taken with the capture of Naco, would completely sever communications between the Sonora and Chihuahua rebels.

The government already has confiscated extensive property in this city belonging to Roberto Cruz, Gen. Escobar, Gen. Manzo, Gen. Jesus M. Aguirre, and Gen. Palomera Lopes. The last named already has been executed by a firing squad.

The property includes a dozen big limousines and touring cars of the most expensive make and four or five Palatial residences in the most fashionable districts of the capital.

Forced to Quit Trains.

Monterey, Mexico, March 13 (A.P.).—Federal army aviators exploring the country between Saltillo and Torreon along the Coahuila and Pacific railway reported that rebel forces in that vicinity were in disorderly retreat. They had abandoned their trains because of lack of fuel for the locomotives.

The rebels were of the contingent which withdrew from Saltillo. The federal Gen. Saturnino Cedillo, who is governor and military commander of San Luis Potosi, advanced on Saltillo from the south. His forces occupied Agua Nueva where the Coahuila and Pacific Railway meets the National.

Official advices said that Gen. Cedillo pursued the rebels for nearly 10 miles. The aviators reported that they saw near Agua Nueva, or about 28 miles from Saltillo, a locomotive and four cars which had been turned over by the retreating rebels in order to obstruct pursuit.

The fliers also reported seeing five rebel trains halted at Gen. Cepeda Station. They watched the rebel soldiers leave these trains and enter automobile trucks which started toward Torreon.

Trains Bombed, Is Claim.

The aviators said they had dropped bombs on the trains and also on rebel encampments near Agua Nueva. The rebel garrison at Saltillo was commanded by Gen. San Martin.

A correspondent of the Monterey newspaper El Porvenir with Gen. Almazan's column at Paredon sent word that Gen. Cedillo has established contact with Almazan's troops at Saltillo, in which city public affairs have been reorganized.

The same correspondent quoted Gen. Almazan as saying that direct train service now could be resumed between Mexico City and Laredo, Tex. For some days the traffic has been routed via Tampico, but the capture of Saltillo has restored the entire road to government control.

Col. Garcia de Alba, chief of staff of Gen. Almazan, announced officially that the rebels had left Saltillo and that federal forces under Gen. Urrutiaga had captured 300 prisoners and had killed 20 in a rear guard battle. The rebels were continuing their retreat toward Torreon.

Military authorities also announced here that 2,000 government cavalry, commanded by Gen. Davila, also of the troops of Gen. Cedillo, had an encounter this morning along the Coahuila and Zacatecas Railway with rebels and the insurgents were forced to flee, being closely pursued by the federals.

Rebels Claim Victory.

Nogales, Ariz., March 13 (U.P.).—Revolutionary headquarters at Nogales, Sonora, today said that rebel forces had been victorious in what might be the first skirmish of the long-expected battle at Torreon. The rebel forces had gone against a small group from the army of Gen. Plutarco Calles. The rebels were directed by Gen. Gonzalo Escobar.

A bulletin announced that the federal group had been put to flight. In the encounter several men were killed and wounded and a number of federals were taken prisoner, it was said.

The federal force was said to have consisted of the Seventy-sixth and Seventy-seventh Regiments of infantry, under command of Gen. Francisco Torres, which had branched off from the main Calles column north Zacatecas City. The bulletin claimed that after being defeated by insurgent cavalry led by Gen. Valdez Ybarra, the federals retreated in the general direction of Carneros, State of Coahuila.

The skirmish was taken here as a sign that the Calles and Escobar columns would soon open their expected battle.

Rebels Still Mobilizing.

Sonora rebels continued to mass at Del Rio for a proposed attack on the border port of Naco, now held by Gen. Augustin Olachea, who deserted the revolutionary cause Tuesday and claimed the town for the federal government.

Gen. Francisco Manzo, second only to Gen. Escobar in power, was to lead the rebel force from Del Rio.

Gen. Olachea was reported by a rebel who escaped from Nacc to be preparing for an attack. The rebel, Maj. Manuel Negrite, arrived here late today, badly wounded, and said that he had killed two men who attempted to prevent his escape from the town. Maj. Negrite had been shot through the shoulder and the leg.

Gov. Fausto Topete of Sonora, who recently obtained a six months' leave of absence to take the field, was reported en route to Del Rio to join Gen. Manzo.

Other Sonora forces were reported still advancing in the State of Sinaloa and converging on the important West Coast seaport of Mazatlan, where a battle is expected at any time. Gen. Jaime Carrillo, loyal federal, is said to be entrenched within the town.

Nogales Drive Expected.

Nogales, Ariz., March 13 (A.P.).—Possibility of a sudden switch in the revolutionary situation in northwestern Mexico loomed today with events pointing to a concerted effort by two government forces to drive the rebels out of their border headquarters in Nogales, Sonora, opposite here.

A joint land and air attack on Nogales was reported as being planned by Gov. Abelardo Rodriguez of Lower California and Gen. Augustino Olachea. The latter yesterday took possession of Naco, border rail town some 60 miles east, with about 1,000 Indian troops who turned from the revolutionary column to the government.

Gov. Rodriguez, federal commander in the northwestern states, left his headquarters at Mexicali today for Naco to confer with Gen. Olachea, presumably to lay plans for the attack.

Airplanes purchased at Los Angeles by Gen. Rodriguez were reported to be prepared to leave for the border to augment the government air force already gathered in Lower California for bombing operations at Nogales.

Federal General Killed.

Nogales, Sonora, March 13 (A.P.).—Advices telling of the defeat of federal forces and the death of Gen. Francisco Carera-Torres, a federal commander, in a battle with rebels at Carneros, in the State of San Luis Potosi, were received at revolutionary headquarters here today.

A rebel troop train arrived here late today from Oritz, Sonora. Gen. Francisco Borquez, rebel commander here, declared it carried 1,000 soldiers. Observers of the revolutionary troops believed the troops importation was for aid in attacking Naco, Sonora, where Gen. Austin Olaches, former rebel leader, is entrenched in the name of the federal government with about 1,200 men.

It was stated at rebel headquarters that two railway bridges between here and Naco had been destroyed by the revolutionists this afternoon as part of the move to hold Gen. Olachea there until an attack can be formulated.

Juarez, Chihuahua, March 13 (A.P.). Reports that rebel forces have abandoned Saltillo were discredited today by Gen. Marcelino M. Murrieta, in command of Juarez. The general said that as late as 10:30 a. m. today the local military headquarters had received information from the rebel chief of operations in Saltillo that there was nothing new to report."

With the Revolutionary Army at Torreon, Coahuila, March 13 (A.P.).—Rebel soldiers from northern states of the republic continued their concentration here today under the leadership of Gen. J. Gonzalo Escobar, the revolutionary commander in chief. More troops arrived from Juarez, commanded by Gen. Miguel Valle, whose forces conquered Juarez last Friday.

Gen. Valle and Gen. Augustine de la Vega, who also arrived from northern Chihuahua, reported to Gen. Escobar.

Sinaloa Again Organized.

Travelers passing through Torreon, both from the north and the south, have been compelled to stay in the city because of military maneuvers. Gov. Celso Gaxiola Andrade of Sinaloa in a message to Gen. Escobar announced he had reestablished the state personnel under his charge and was operating with efficiency.

The revolutionists added another airplane to their equipment, making a total of four on hand for war service.

RAYON PLANT SHUT WHEN 800 STRIKE

Sheriff Refuses Guards, Since Most of Employes Are Women.

INJUNCTION BEING ASKED

Elizabethton, Tenn., March 13 (A.P.). The rayon plant here of the American Glanzstoff Corportaion, employing about 2,000 men and women, was ordered closed indefinitely today by Arthur Mothwurf, president, after a committee representing some 800 strikers had presented demands for increased wages which he said were "out of the question."

Workers in one department walked out yesterday and returned today to lead employes of three other departments out on strike. At noon the officials ordered the rest of the employes to leave and announced that the $4,000,000 plant would be closed until further notice.

Subsequently Dr. Mothwurf moved to apply for an injunction to prevent strikers from damaging the plant. He said if the application were granted Sheriff J. M. Moreland of Carter County would be required to place guards about the plant. Sheriff Moreland told company officials that his men would not guard the plant against striker, many of whom are women.

Earlier in the day Dr. Mothwurf notified Gov. Henry Horton of the strike, but said later that he had abandoned his previous intention of requesting National Guard troops. This would be done only as a last resort, he declared.

Several minor disturbances occurred this morning. A guard was beaten by several men and treated for his injuries, which physicians said were not serious. Dr. Mothwurf was struck on the head by a rock hurled by a striker, but suffered only a small cut. After the injury was dressed he issued a statement saying strikers had damaged several machines in the plant.

At the conference with Dr. Mothwurf the committee representing the strikers asked wage increases which company officials said ranged from 15 to 30 per cent above the present scale. The committee contended the pay was inadequate.

American Business In Mexico Suffers

State Department Urged to Seek Lifting of Embargo on Shipments.

(Associated Press.)

American business interests in Mexico have begun to feel the pinch of the revolution and have called upon the State Department to ask the Mexican government to loosen up on the strict embargo which has prevented shipments of urgently needed supplies.

The Mexican authorities already have deferred to representations made by Ambassador Morrow and have permitted some shipments to come through at Naco, for the Cananea mines, and the Gil government has indicated that because it regards the revolutionary situation less serious it hopes to regulate shipments in such a way as to work a minimum of hardship upon the civilian population.

Throughout Mexico there are vast American mining, oil and other interests, estimated by American Government officials to be worth approximately $2,000,000,000. Many of these have been forced to curtail their activities. It is held that unless supplies from the United States can be got through, the plants might have to cease operations entirely, with a resultant loss to American investors.

THE NATION FIRST.

President Hoover's stand for conservation of Government oil reserves is based on sound principle and takes into consideration the interests of the Nation as a whole. As Secretary of Commerce Mr. Hoover was a member of the Federal Oil Conservation Board appointed by President Coolidge, and he is familiar with the whole petroleum problem. His action was taken as a means of restricting wasteful exploitation and overproduction, which is demoralizing the oil industry. Only private interests and communities whose development will be held in check by the decision can find any fault with the President's policy.

The last report of the Federal Oil Conservation Board shows that foreign countries are conserving their oil reserves, while the United States is extravagantly exhausting resources and faces the danger of depending on other countries for its oil in a few years. It is estimated that about one-tenth of the oil in the United States is on Government-owned lands. Congress has no authority over the other nine-tenths, and the only possibility of preserving a certain supply for emergencies of the future lies in restricted drilling on the public domain. President Hoover is to be commended for his clear foresight in refusing to grant leases for development of this land, except where such action is made mandatory by act of Congress.

The Government has issued 36,000 permits for oil prospecting, many of which have resulted in leases or sale of land. Under the new policy it is understood that the Government will grant leases to only those prospectors who have gone to considerable expense in drilling wells. Leases would also be granted to prevent drainage of Government oil reservoirs through wells on adjacent private property. Thus the interests of the Government will be protected and the policy will work a hardship on no one.

Arguments that the Government ought further to contribute to the overproduction of oil to allow some public land States greater revenue through royalties are not worth considering. It is not a case in which revenues would be suddenly cut off, for leases now in operation will continue valid. The best interests of the States are served by conserving the Nation's oil supply. The States are in a wrong position when they demand the depletion of the Nation's supply so that they can collect royalties.

Now that President Hoover has taken the lead, the States will no doubt begin dealing with the situation in their respective domains. Laws have already been proposed to halt the excessive production in California, and other States may be expected to follow if the Government stands firm in its policy. The best interests of the country will be served by strict adherence to Mr. Hoover's plan. He deserves the united support of Congress and the public.

MAN AND THE DEATH CAR.

In the wake of the automobile follows damage and death. Not only in the United States is this true. An analysis shows that from 1918 until 1928 there were 1,000,000 street accidents involving injury in Great Britain, nearly 40,000 of which proved fatal. In 1927 5,300 persons were killed and 143,500 injured, and at present 1 of every 20 motor vehicles registered in Great Britain is involved each year in an accident resulting in personal injury. The causes of the accidents are shown to be road defects in 6 per cent of the cases, vehicular defects in 7 per cent, weather conditions in 4 per cent, and human failure on the part of pedestrians, cyclists and motorists in 83 per cent.

The figures were compiled by the British National Safety First Association which, for years, has been striving to reduce the toll taken by the automobile. "We have frequently stated," says its recently issued report, "that the majority of street accidents are due to causes which can never be eliminated solely by engineering or legislative measures. A substantial diminution will, in our opinion, only follow on education in accident prevention of all road users, not only the motorist but also the cyclist and pedestrian, and, in particular, the younger generation." Since 1925, the association has been carrying on an extensive and intensive educational campaign, as a result of which the percentage increase in the number of accidents fell, in 1926 and 1927, to 8 per cent, whereas in 1919 it stood at 36 per cent, in 1921 at 10 per cent, and in 1923, 1924 and 1925 at 18 per cent.

To diminish highway accidents it is necessary primarily to educate the public, motorist and pedestrian alike. Mechanical safeguards have their place; traffic regulations and prohibitions are absolutely necessary, but unless people learn to become more careful there is scant hope that a substantial reduction in highway accidents can be had in England, the United States, or wherever the automobile has come into common usage.

FALSE MEXICAN REPORTS.

The dispatches from the City of Mexico have so repeatedly misrepresented the Mexican situation that they are no longer credited unless confirmed. President Portes Gil has damaged his prestige by giving out statements which events have proved to be misleading. Gen. Calles' propaganda campaign has been more active than his military progress. He announced last Saturday that he would take Torreon within another day, but he is still far from that objective. No doubt the rebels have been giving out equally erroneous statements for propaganda purposes, but they have not enjoyed the telegraphic facilities that are available to the Mexican government. American readers, and especially those who have had some experience with Mexico, are not accepting the reports from either side without heavily discounting them.

The number of men engaged is exaggerated on both sides, and each side minimizes the size of the opposing forces. It is to be doubted that a federal army of 18,000 men is moving to give battle to a rebel force of 20,000 men. If the figures were cut in two in each case they probably would be more nearly correct.

In military leadership the rebels and federals are fairly matched. The rebel generals are thoroughly familiar with the territory in which they are operating. As a rule a Mexican rebel is more enterprising than a soldier who remains in the regular army. One is fighting for a cause and the other is not. The rebel generals will do their utmost to win, in view of the summary execution of rebel leaders who have fallen into the hands of the federals. Both sides are supplied with arms and ammunition taken from government stores.

Gen. Escobar may withdraw from Torreon without fighting. Such a retreat would be proclaimed as a great federal victory, but in reality it might mean prolongation of the struggle and the spread of the rebellion. There is no reason to doubt that rebel strategy will be as cunning as federal strategy. Hence, if Gen. Escobar should stand and give battle it will be because he is well prepared for it. The rebels, however, can better afford to play a Fabian policy than can the federals. The Mexican government is compelled to attempt at once to stamp out the rebellion, but the rebels are not compelled to try immediately to overthrow the government.

A RACING SUICIDE.

Maj. H. O. D. Segrave has his new automobile speed record, but Lee Bible, the mechanic, who was given, in his own words, "the golden opportunity of a lifetime," is dead. Speeding over the sands of Daytona Beach yesterday afternoon, Bible's machine got out of control and crashed into the dunes at 202 miles an hour. He was killed instantly, and a cameraman, unable to get out of the way, was also crushed to death.

This is an excellent time for the A. A. A. to withdraw all connection with these foolhardy speed trials. The machines used are not automobiles, and the public is not benefited in any way by the clipping of seconds off of the "world record." It is a senseless, suicidal sport that should be suppressed in the interest of the dependent wives and children of speed maniacs.

Who is to pay damages for the death of the innocent bystander? Will the American Automobile Association come forward and compensate the dead man's family?

STOPPING POWER NOW NEEDED.

The new world speed record set by Maj. H. O. D. Segrave suggests almost unlimited speed possibilities for the motor car. The British driver dashed down the ocean beach at the unbelievable speed of 231 miles per hour, exceeding the former world record by nearly 24 miles per hour. But even this rate did not satisfy him. He is convinced that his car will attain 240 miles per hour.

The racing car is more like a projectile than an automobile, and its record in no way indicates the objective of manufacturers of pleasure and commercial cars. However, this increase of maximum speed may be said to represent corresponding increases in speed and power in the new pleasure car models. It does not seem probable that the time will come when automobiles serving a practical purpose will be driven over the highways at 200 miles an hour. But speed is a relative phenomenon, and may be expected to increase with the building of better roads and the development of motor-driven cars. Within the memory of many now living 20 miles per hour, even on steel rails, was considered dangerous speed.

With the increasing speed of motor cars must be coupled improvements that will give the driver greater control over his machine. Speed is worse than useless unless it can be attained with safety. One reason why Maj. Segrave could not drive his powerful Golden Arrow even faster than 231 miles per hour is because it takes a considerable distance to attain such speed and a similar distance to stop. The speedway was hardly long enough for him to measure the maximum ability of his machine. Likewise few of the cars operating on the highways at present are able to run safely at their maximum speed because of their inability to stop when it is necessary.

This suggests a new objective for automobile manufacturers. Heretofore most of the emphasis has been placed on speed and power. Under present traffic conditions the modern automobile has greater reserve speed-power than it needs. But few, if any, cars have excessive stopping power. Much has been accomplished in recent years with four-wheel brakes and more effective control devices; but many improvements can still be made. The speed at which an automobile can be driven with safety can be increased only in proportion to the development of more efficient control devices.

THE ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT.

It is to be hoped that Gov. Roosevelt's special message to the New York Legislature will help to bring the matter of developing the St. Lawrence River to a head. For many years the project, which would perhaps involve expenditure of more than $300,000,000 for a power dam, has been delayed. The controversy is now probably more complicated than ever before, and unless Gov. Roosevelt's proposal results in some definite action there will be no possibility of beginning the improvement for a long time.

In the first place the enterprise must be agreed upon by treaty between the United States and Canada. On the Canadian side there is a question as to whether the Dominion government has a right to negotiate on development of the river, and the supreme court was unable to decide the question. The Dominion has now invited the provincial governments of Ontario and Quebec to a conference at which further attempts to reach an agreement will be made. A motion asking the government to proceed with negotiations for a treaty with the United States was withdrawn from the house of commons last month.

On this side a decision of the Supreme Court will be necessary to decide whether New York State or the Federal Government owns the bed of the stream. Gov. Roosevelt is proceeding on the theory that the St. Lawrence power source is the property of the people of the State. But even if New York had full authority to go ahead with the enterprise there would still remain a serious political squabble over construction and operation of the dam and power plant. The Republicans have stood for development by private capital under the leasing system, with provision for recapture. The Democratic governor insists that the power plant "shall be built, financed, owned, operated and occupied by the trustees as the duly constituted instrumentality of the State," but would permit distribution of power by private enterprise with a provision to "secure the lowest rates to consumers compatible with a fair and reasonable return on the actual cash investment."

The special message asks the legislature to create a commission of five trustees to bring in a complete plan for development of the State's waterpower resources on the St. Lawrence. He suggests two former governors—Charles E. Hughes and Alfred E. Smith—as members. These trustees would confer with Federal authorities, the International Joint Commission, and, through proper constitutional channels, with the government of Canada and its provinces, with a view to securing complete cooperation on the St. Lawrence development. They would also inquire into the costs and engineering features of the proposed project with the aid of experts.

Opposition to the plan is bound to develop. Besides the political differences between the governor and the legislature, the relative rights of other States are involved, besides the national rights of both the United States and Canada.

The extra session should take a tip from the poor old Seventieth Congress and start its filibusters early.

MUZZLING CHINA'S PRESS.

From the New York Times.

The attempt of the Nationalist government of China to exercise censorship over foreign as well as native newspapers which publish articles unfavorable to the Nationalist cause was set forth in a special article from Peking printed in Sunday's Times. Further details indicate that the incident has roused strong resentment even among friends of the Nationalists. Significance lies in its indication that the Nationalist government not only is as arbitrary with respect to freedom of the press as its predecessors, but that, in seeking to stifle criticism, it is proclaiming to the world its recognition of its own weakness.

The specific incident may be summarized as follows: On February 5, 1929, the editor of the North China Star, a newspaper in Tientsin, owned and edited by an American who has been noted for his friendliness to the Nationalist cause, was notified by the Chinese postal authorities that his paper would be denied the use of the mails. No reason for this action was given. Inquiry elicited, several days later, the fact that the Nationalist government objected to the printing of a news agency dispatch critical of that government. Instead of seizing the offending edition, as has frequently been done elsewhere, the mails were closed to the newspaper without a hearing.

Forthwith the other newspapers in Tientsin and Peking, all of which were competitors of the North China Star, took up the cudgels in its behalf. It is noteworthy that not only the British Peking and Tientsin Times, which had in the past bitterly attacked the Star on account of its sympathies for the Nationalist cause, but also the Peking Leader, whose editor was an ardent supporter of the Nationalist cause and who recently toured this country speaking in its behalf, both strongly denounced the high-handed action of the Nationalist government. Our State Department has instructed Minister MacMurray to make proper representations on the subject to the Nanking government.

The case concerns the outside world because of the light which it throws on the attitude of the Nationalists toward the freedom of the press. It had long been well known that the Chinese press did not dare to print criticism of any government in power. When the late Manchurian war lord, Chang Tso-lin, controlled Peking he summarily executed two editors whose writings had displeased him. The friends of the Nationalists had given the world to believe—or to hope—that they would be more liberal with respect to the press. But this has not turned out to be the case. As a result, it is difficult to obtain accurate news from any of the Chinese-language newspapers. By reaching out to muzzle the foreign language as well as the native press the Nationalists make a bad matter worse.

Petted Ohio.

Topeka Daily Capital: Ohio gets back into a President's Cabinet, and it is a boast of that State that it has had about a score of Cabinet members, among them three Secretaries of State, five Secretaries of the Treasury, four Secretaries of War, four Attorney Generals, three Secretaries of the Interior and, with the present Postmaster General Brown, three in that office. Ohio, in short, is politically a much-petted State.

Dangerous Flying.

Baltimore Sun: In the Arctic and Antarctic men have been flying dangerously. The geologist of the Byrd expedition has reached the Rockefeller Mountains by air to report in due course on their contents. And, as he went aloft with Bernt Balchen at the controls, Noel Wien in Alaska flew 500 miles over the ice of Bering Sea and brought back furs worth $100,000 from an icebound trading vessel. On another flight Wien expects to carry food and medical supplies to Russians on Wrangel Island. Science, commerce and philanthropy, respectively, are served by these three perilous exploits—an illustration of what men hold dear.

Poise Is Yours If You Can Sit Down and Chat Pleasantly With the Past.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

PEOPLE who can't be happy unless they are being entertained or going somewhere are trying to escape.

They are trying to keep their minds on the present in order to keep from thinking about the past or future.

When they think about the future, they are afraid; and when they think about the past, they are filled with remorse.

Fear of their own thoughts causes their "unrest," and they keep up a frantic activity to divert their minds—as a small boy whistles on a quiet street at night—as a man reads old magazines in the dentist's waiting room—as people of all ages chatter while awaiting an ordeal.

It is a needless business, for both the future and the past may be robbed of terrors.

The future need occasion no fear, for it is not a product of blind chance. It is a product of today—in the same sense that ripened grain is the product of planted seed.

If you plant the right seed today, you may forget it. Nature will do the rest. The future doesn't "just happen." It is inevitable. It develops from today as the full-blown flower develops from a bud.

The past, also, is a product of today and wholly under your control.

Today will be the past tomorrow, and the obvious way to insure a past free of remorse is to shape it now as you like it.

The past that causes heartache seldom is a record of sin, for vanity finds an alibi for our immoralities and shifts the blame to the shoulders of those who shared our sins.

The remorse most common to man is a product of compassion—a vain regret for his unkindnesses and cruelties.

He weeps and hates himself because he spoke harshly to his child—because he was cruel to his wife—because he neglected his broken parents—because he failed a friend in need—even, it may be because he refused a beggar.

It is man's failure to live up to his own sense of chivalry—woman's failure to live up to her own kind heart—that causes the greater part of remorse.

There would be few regrets if all were as decent as they know how to be—which is to say you can make your past what you would have it be merely by being true to your nature today.

And if you fashion a past free of regrets and make a sensible planting for tomorrow, you can enjoy repose and meditation today instead of joining the mad world as it hurries by in an effort to escape itself.

MILD CHEESE PREFERRED.

In England strong, sharp-flavored cheeses have long enjoyed a reputation as a popular item of diet, but they are now giving place to the milder varieties, says the New York Times. The cheeses and other fresh, unaged types board at a recent meeting of food experts in London reported that a survey of London stores showed that cream cheses and other fresh, unaged types are in greatest demand.

Only members of the older generation now ask for the powerful, evil-smelling, old cheese. Even the Stilton cheeses, once the pride and boast of Englishmen, do not meet with a ready market in London.

Various causes for this change in what seemed a permanent national taste are cited. The most likely seems the outdoor life, the devotion to sports and the active exercise of the younger Britishers. An appetite for fresh vegetables and fewer meat dishes has tended to replace the taste for cheeses.

Since Americans, as a whole, have never been enthusiastic in appreciation of the "riper" cheeses, it is possible that their passing from favor in England may be regarded as another evidence of the "Americanization" of the Old World. Yet every year hundreds of Americans make pilgrimages to the Cheshire Cheese Inn, paying their respects to that venerable name, though they may pay their money for steak and kidney pie and a bottle of Guinness or stout.

MOVIES AND JUSTICE.

Although the motion pictures have won dominance in the field of graphic entertainment and are attaining popularity in the educational field, they have yet to establish their worth as aids in the promotion of justice, says the South Bend Tribune. An attempt to use motion pictures as evidence in a Chicago civil court has been unsuccessful. An objection that they are worthless as evidence because "there is no limit to what may be done with trick photography" was sustained by the presiding judge, and an interesting experiment ended.

The case involved a suit for damages brought against a taxicab company by a patron who had been injured in a collision. The sum of $50,000 was asked for alleged permanent incapacitation resulting from a spinal injury. Counsel for the defense attempted to introduce as evidence motion pictures, presumably taken without the plaintiff's knowledge, showing him performing various acts inconsistent with the alleged disability. Unfortunately, the defense was given no opportunity to explain how the motion pictures had been taken or to establish their authenticity. The presumption of trick photography established legal grounds for their exclusion.

The court explained that legal precedent was absent, and remarked that "perhaps science will some day aid in sifting the truth from lies; we realize the impossibility of such fortune until the human element is removed." This will not suffice to dismiss motion pictures permanently from the legal field. The human element is present in motion pictures to no greater degree than it is in oral evidence. The antiperjury statutes can be applied as effectively to spurious photographs as they can to oral falsehoods. It really is regrettable that the motion picture issue was not gone into thoroughly in the Chicago case.

EARLY AIRCRAFT LITIGATION.

Twenty-seven States have passed laws within the past few years to govern the operation of airplanes and the liability of fliers and owners. But, surprising as it may seem, this general movement comes more than a century after the first appearance in an American court of a case involving the rights of a man in the air.

It was in 1822, according to World's Work, that an aeronaut, one Charles Guille, floated over New York City and was forced to make a landing in the tenderly nurtured garden of a citizen named Swan. The balloon dragged Guille 30 feet through Swan's prize radishes and potatoes, while the excited crowd that had followed him trampled down most of the vegetables that escaped his swath. In the suit that followed, the court held the aeronaut liable for damages, asserting that his descent and cries for assistance was equivalent to a request to the crowd to follow him.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

An Island for Prisoners.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: John C. Maher, chairman of the New York City Parole Commission, proposes establishment of an island criminal colony under control of the Federal Government. He would have long-term, habitual prisoners from all the States sent to the island. The prisoners would have all the freedom and benefits of out-of-door life the island afforded, but would not be allowed to communicate with any other part of the world. The institution would be under supervision of wardens and guards, and detailed records would be kept of each prisoner. Mr. Maher believes that the colony would become self-supporting and would afford criminals a much better opportunity to reenter social life.

Good behavior in the prison colony over a number of years would entitle a prisoner to go back to the State in which he was sentenced, not as a convict, but as a workman who had learned to support himself by honest labor. Narrow confinement and possibilities of escaping, which occupy so much of prisoners' attention under present conditions, would be largely eliminated.

The plan of an isolated prison colony is by no means new. Many of the European nations have penal colonies, but most of them are designed primarily for punishment and not the rehabilitation of the inmates. The suggestion of an island reformatory in which the criminals' philosophy of life might be changed and in which he could be taught honest means of supporting himself, is novel and may be worth study.

PRISON REFORM.

Work of Employes' Federation.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It should be heartening for Federal employes to realize that they have a strong national organization to fight their battles. In the National Federation of Federal Employes Government workers have their most effective weapon to obtain their rights to fair compensation and satisfactory conditions.

Every organization stands or falls on the type of its leadership. Organized Federal employes have been singularly fortunate in being able to have their wants presented vigorously yet fairly by the leaders they have chosen. This was evident during the last session of Congress. When there were attempts on the part of self-styled spokesmen for Federal employes to confuse and becloud the legislative needs of the Government worker, President Luther C. Steward and Secretary-Treasurer Gertrude M. McNally, of the National Federation of Federal Employes, made the sincere endeavor to speak for Federal employes as a body, not for individuals or small groups, each with an ax to grind. That they did it effectively, because of their long experience in legislative matters, was evidenced by the overwhelming support they succeeded in arousing for making legislative amends for the injustices growing out of administration of the Welch act, and by their work in behalf of the Dale retirement bill.

The retirement bill failed, but only by means of the pocket veto. Congressional sentiment was solidly behind it, and that, as any one familiar with the task of obtaining legislative enactment, is its most difficult phase.

Federal employes should not withhold support from this truly national organization, which is so well equipped and so well officered to represent them capably in the legislative halls and before the public generally.

If Government employes wish to achieve the things they have set out to accomplish, they certainly can do it in no other way except through organization.

Announcing

the opening of the new addition of the wardman park hotel

The newly completed edifice is an eight-story, fire-proof stone and brick building containing 300 rooms. The plan of apartments is such that room-groups of various sizes are available, each comprising complete housekeeping facilities. These suites may be had either unfurnished or furnished. Your residence here provides all the comforts and seclusion of one's own home; the outdoor setting of a fashionable country club; the beauty and dignity of one of the world's most famous hotels, together with complete service, convenience, comfort and luxury. The cares of housekeeping and the worries of the servant problem may be minimized or entirely eliminated as your requirements may dictate. These are some of the features which have made Wardman Park Hotel the chosen Washington residence of so many leading men and women of this country and abroad. . . . . .

Quincy Smith, traveler and author, now compiling the tale of her adventures into a new book to be entitled "Days and Knights in Tripoli."

550,776 Population of City, 1929 City Directory Says

Nearly 10,000 people have been added to the population of the District of Columbia in a year, figures of the Boyd's Directory, 1929 edition, out yesterday, show. The estimate of population for the District, compiled by the directory officials is 550,776, an increase of 9,976 over 1928 and 25,536 over the estimate of two years ago.

That the new directory is quite up-to-date is indicated by the listing of "Hoover, Herbert C. (Lou H.) President of the United States, White House" and "Curtis, Charles, Vice President of the United States, h 3508 Macomb northwest."

Yesterday's issue was the sixty-first and a resume of its contents show the many changes in life of the Capital over a period of 40 years.

The directory of 1888 (Cleveland's first term) listed 500 saloons, but if such a place of business exists in the Capital today it has been kept a deep, dark secret from the directory tabulators.

Where 68 livery stables and no automobile agencies were contained in the 1888 book, today there are 92 passenger automobile dealers and 3 livery stables. In Clevelands time no apartment houses were recognized by the directory. Today 1,500 adorn the pages of the book.

Churches have jumped from 185 to 500 and 62 public schools in 1888 have been increased to 300 in 1929 with 77,993 pupils enrolled, 2,090 teachers and a property value of $25,472,477.

Directory officials charge all these changes to "the march of progress."

Immediate Relief!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn—now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

Scientific Frankness—and Woman's Oldest Hygienic Problem

Doctors everywhere now advise this new kind of sanitary protection for better health and greater comfort.

WOMEN who have had the advantage of medical advice already realize the importance of the new Kotex. They find a new sense of freedom, a refreshing composure and ease because of this improved sanitary protection. And, at the new low price, they find this method actually cheaper than home-made cheesecloth and cotton substitutes.

The amazing absorbency of Kotex filler (Cellucotton absorbent wadding) provides assurance as well as physical comfort. It is actually 5 times more absorbent than cotton. Ease of disposability means much, not only in emergency situations, but at all times. Kotex is disposed of like tissue . . . as directions in each box explain. And there are certain new perfections which distinguish this as the superior sanitary napkin.

Kotex deodorizes safely, instantly

A process has been perfected whereby each pad deodorizes completely and safely. This formula is considered so important that it has been patented by the Kotex Company. It is, of course, to be found in no other sanitary pad.

No evidence of sanitary protection

Because corners of the pad are rounded and tapered, all conspicuous bulkiness has been eliminated. Snug, secure fit is assured.

Cellucotton absorbent wadding comes in layers, which can be adjusted to one's individual need. That is a unique advantage which women always find comforting. Then, too, there is an easy softness about both gauze and filler today. Manufacturing refinements keep adding to your comfort.

Buy a box of Kotex today. It is 45c for a box of 12 at any drug, dry goods or department store; also obtainable through vending cabinets in restrooms by West Disinfecting Co.

Use Super-size Kotex
Formerly 90c—Now 65c
Super-size Kotex differs from Regular Kotex only in giving the extra protection of additional layers of Cellucotton absorbent wadding. The advantages in using it in connection with the Regular are thus obvious. Disposable the same way. Doctors and nurses consider it indispensable where extra protection is needed. At the new low price, you can easily afford to buy one box of Super-size to every three of Kotex Regular. Its extra layers of filler mean much in added comfort and security.

TO THE OWNERS OF AMERICA'S HOMES
FROM THE DESIGNERS OF AMERICA'S SKYLINE

The gigantic new Fisher Building in Detroit. At right, Albert Kahn, the noted Detroit architect who designed this magnificent structure.

"Money saved in the initial cost by the use of sheet metal and pipes that rust out in a few years is not economy in any sense of the word."

Albert Kahn.

EXPERIENCE prompts America's greatest architects to recommend the use of Copper, Brass and Bronze materials wherever possible in home construction. Why? Because they know that in the long run these metals are always the most economical.

Albert Kahn, renowned Detroit architect, says:

"We advocate the use of Copper for all sheet metal work that comes in connection with roofing or is exposed to the elements; also the use of Brass pipe in connection with the plumbing work."

When you build, buy or remodel, be guided by this advice. Specify Brass pipe, Copper flashings, gutters and downspouts, and solid Brass or Bronze hardware and lighting fixtures. Don't be satisfied with metals that merely resist rust. Copper, Brass and Bronze are rust-proof.

Write our Building Service Department for full information.

Considering their life-long service and their absolute protection against rust, Copper, Brass and Bronze are not expensive even in the construction of small homes.

The Children

By Edith Wharton

A sparkling serial story by one of America's foremost novelists at the gleaming heights of her power.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Martin Boyne, a civil engineer, who has been kept busy on projects in all parts of the world, is taking an ocean trip. He is looking forward to another fortnight of solitude, when the steward places a chair next to his tagged "Mrs Cliffe Wheater." Cliffe Wheater was a schoolmate of his at Harvard. His wife was a friend of those days. Boyne is puzzled by the varied types of children in the entourage and further mystified by its leader. He is told by the gray-haired woman called "Scopy," her name is Judith. She is the eldest child of the Wheaters. The eldest boy's name is Terry, and his health is poor. "Scopy" recounts the tangled love affairs of the Wheaters to explain the group for Boyne. Boyne begins to mull over his own affairs, particularly with a Mrs. Sellars. Hitherto "unattainable," he recalls her husband has died. Terry, the heir-apparent to the Wheater fortune, asks Boyne to intercede in his behalf with his parents to obtain a tutor. Complying with the Wheaters' request he hires a young Englishman. Boyne leaves the Wheaters with their new yacht and their retinue at Venice and journeys to the chalet of Mrs. Sellars. She agrees to marry him but refuses to set a day. They are interrupted by a visit from Judith Wheater, who announces that they have fled the Wheaters because another break seems imminent and the children refuse to be again parted. Boyne journeys back to Venice and after countless interruptions finally gets the Wheaters to agree that the children can go along as they are with Boyne as a "trial guardian." Mrs. Sellars arranges a picnic for the children and takes along Mr. Dobree, an attorney who settled her husband's estate to her advantage. Mr. Dobree proposes while on the picnic and is refused. Afterward Mrs. Sellars agrees to hasten her wedding to Boyne, who is in a quandary because of the children. She goes to Paris to meet a rich, old aunt, and writes suggesting parceling the children among their varied relatives. Before Boyne can frame an adequate answer Mrs. Sellars returns his ring.

HER face softened, and she met his banter with the wistful tentative gaze that he called her Monreale look.

"But very soon you will have, won't you? A baby of your own, I mean," she explained. "I suppose you and Mrs. Sellars are going to be married as soon as she gets back with her trousseau, aren't you? Blanca and I were wondering if perhaps she'd ask us to be bridesmaids. . . ."

Boyne was flinging the boots out of the cradle with an angry hand, and made no answer to this suggestion. Judith stood and watched him for a few moments; then she went to his side and slipped her arm through his. "Why, Martin—I believe you're very unhappy!" she exclaimed.

"Unhappy? Unhappy?" He swung around on her, exasperated. "Well, yes; I suppose I am unhappy. It's a way people have, you know. But, for the Lord's sake, can't you ever let things be? Can't you ever keep from treading on peoples toes? I—oh, damn it, Judy; look here, for God's sake don't cry! I didn't mean to say anything to hurt you. . . . I swear I didn't. . . . Only sometimes. . . ."

"Oh, I know, I know—you mean I have no tact!" she wailed.

"Damn tact! I'm thankful you haven't. There's nothing I hate as much as tact. But here—don't look so scared, child. There's no harm done . . . only don't try meddling with grown up things. It'll just wreck everything if you do. . . ."

"But how can I not meddle when I love you so, and when I see that things are going wrong for you, Martin?" she flung out breathlessly, "you don't mean to say you're not going to be married after all?"

Temptation suddenly twiched through him. It was as if saying "Yes" to her question might be the magic formula of freedom. After all, there lay the ring, he was free, technically—had only to utter the words to make them true. But he thrust his hands into his pockets and stood sullenly planted before the corner of the table on which he had tossed the open ring-box. "Not in this way," he thought. Aloud he said: "I mean that I don't yet know when I'm going to be married. That's all."

"Positively all?" He nodded.

"Ah," she sighed, relieved. It was evident that she identified herself whole-heartedly with his sentimental troubles, of whatever nature and by whomsoever they were caused.

She was still looking up at him, her face full of compuction and perplexity, and suddenly he put his arm about her and bent his head to her lips. They looked round and glowing, as they did in laughter or emotion; they drew his irresistibly. But he turned his head aside, and his kiss fell harmlessly on her cheek, near the tear-hung lashes. "That's my old Judy. Come, cheerio. On with your hat, and we'll go up the mountain." He saw that she was still trembling, and took her by the arm in the old brotherly way. "Come," he repeated, "let's go out."

In the doorway she paused and flung a last tragic glance at the cradle. "You poor old Martin, you! I suppose it's because you're so unhappy that you put your boots in it?" she sighed.

CHAPTER XXVI.

To Boyne the calm of the next day brought no reassurance. Too many uncertainties hung close. After a night of pondering he had sent back the ring to Mrs. Sellars, with a brief line saying that she was of course free if she chose to be, but that he could not so regard himself till they had had a talk, and she had convinced him that she would be happier if their engagemnt ended.

He knew that he was merely using an old formula, the accepted one in such cases, and he longed to get away from it, to be spontaneous, honest, himself. But as he wrote it became clear to him that he was terribly sorry for Rose Sellars, terribly sorry for having disappointed her; and that such phrase—the kind he had been brought up on—were the devices of decent people who hated to give pain, and were even capable of self-sacrifice to avoid it. "After all, they were a lot better than we are," he thought; and the thought softened the close of his letter, and impelled him to add: "Do be patient with me, dear. As soon as I can get away I'll come."

This done, the whole problem vanished to the background of his mind. He was hardly aware that he was no longer thinking of it. His life of practical activities and swift decisions had given him the habit of easily dismissing matters once dealt with. He flattered himself that he could thus dispose of sentimental cares as easily as of professional problems; and to a certain extent it was true. Behind the close-knit foreground of his daily life there had hung for years the mirage of Rose Sellars; but that mirage was now the phantom of a phantom, and he averted his eyes lest he should find that it had faded into nothing.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

POLI'S.

Mark Twain's comic romance, "A Connecticut Yankee," presented in musical comedy form, begins an engagement at Poli's Theater commencing next Sunday, March 17. For one solid year it was the attraction at the Vanderbilt Theater, New York. Lew Fields and Lyle D. Andrews are owners and directors of the organization. The adaptation and arrangement for musical comedy purposes was made by Herbert Fields, Richard Rodgers and Lorenz Hart. They have followed the original book with historical accuracy, but placed it in the vernacular of present times. The song hits have been among the best sellers for many months.

At the head of the company is William Gaxton. Among his associates are Jack Thompson, Richard Lane, Paul Everton, George E. Mack, Gordon Burby, Nana Bryant, Mary Adams, June Cochrane and many others.

NATIONAL.

One of the first of the real native American farce comedies was "Nothing But the Truth," by James Montgomery, which prevailed some twenty-odd years ago and which the National Theater Players are going to revive next week, beginning Monday, March 18.

"Nothing But the Truth" followed the reign of English comedies and French farces that held control of the American stage up to the beginning of the twentieth century. While American playwrights were prolific in turning out good, wholesome native drama, it was mostly of the melodramatic sort. The writers of comedies resorted always to a continual flavor. Hence, "Nothing But the Truth" is really exhibit A of early American farce. It is, too, one of the funniest ever written. The story revolves around the upset caused by a man who makes a wager to tell the truth, and nothing but the truth, for a full 24 hours. At the end of that time his whole world has gone topsy-turvy, proving that truth is a dangerous weapon.

Wilfred Lytell, leading man with the National Theater Players, will carry the burden of this play, with Miss Mary Newton, leading lady; Charles Hampden, Mrs. Hibbard, Robert Brister, Freddie Sherman and Miss Helen Wallace, competently cast by Addison Pitt, director. There will be the usual Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

BELASCO.

Listed among the new plays Broadway-bound is the H. H. Harper comedy drama, "The Devil's Mistress," due at the Belasco Theater Monday evening, March 18. Editor in chief of the Bibliophile Society, author of some twenty works of fiction, "The Devil's Mistress" is Mr. Harper's first play. This production is being sponsored by the Brandon-Barrett Play Company, a new theatrical firm now preparing several attractions for Broadway. Particular interest attaches to the leading players—Brandon Tynan, Dodson Mitchell, Robert C. Fisher, Lee Patrick, Marcia Byron, May Davenport and Peggy Shannon. Other members of the large cast are Louise Quinn, Robert Sinclair, Hilda Howe, Jean Del Val and Jules Epailly. "The Devil's Mistress" is in three acts, with scenes laid in Passy, France, and a suburb of New York City. The play has been directed by Joseph Graham, who staged "Little Accident," "Elmer Gantry" and "Jealousy."

STRAND.

"Kewpie Dolls" is the Mutual circuit attraction at the Strand Theater next week. Featured in its cast of principals are Jack Hunt, Opal Taylor and Flora Dearth. Many, if not all of the principals, have graduated from big revues and have vaudeville experience also; that's why they are able to keep the fun at fever heat and do the singing and dancing specialties with so much vim; their stunts are important factors in rounding out a most excellent burlesque show. The chorus is one to be proud of, composed of pretty and talented girls. On Thursday evening there will be the usual added attraction, a wrestling match between Demon Gardini and Joe Turner.

RACHMANINOFF, PIANIST.

Sergei Rachmaninoff, world-famous Russian pianist and composer, will make his only concert appearance of the current season at Poli's Theater next Wednesday afternoon, March 20, as the final attraction in Mrs. Wilson-Greene's artists' course and the last Wilson-Greene concert of the 1929 season. Mr. Rachmaninoff has selected a superb program that opens with Mozart's Sonata, No. 14, allegro, adagio and allegretto. Two Scarlatti sonatas, three Chopin selections, Mr. Rachmaninoff's own "Moment Musical" and his own arrangement of Kreisler's "Liebesfreud" are included, though the principal number seems to be Schumann's "Carnaval."

BENEFIT PLAYS.

The tomorrow night and Saturday afternoon performances by the New York Theater Guild at Poli's Theater this week have been taken over by the Alumnae Association of Mount Holyoke and Vassar for the benefit of their respective local scholarship funds for Washington girls. "The Doctor's Dilemma," by Bernard Shaw, will be played tomorrow night, and on Saturday afternoon, "John Ferguson," by St. John Ervine, will be the bill.

"BLUE BIRD" AT Y. W. C. A.

The annual spring production by the business and professional women's department of the Young Women's Christian Association will take place tonight and Friday night of this week in Barker Hall, Seventeenth and K streets. Maeterlinck's delightful fairy fantasy, "The Blue Bird," will be the play, and it has been directed by Alice Sigworth Morse, assisted by Bertha Fabst, with Sophronia McNair as assistant stage manager and Edith Dawson as director of music.

PROHIBITION POSTER SUGGESTIONS

Poster advertising is to be tried by Uncle Sam to help in the campaign for more general enforcement of the dry law. What slogans have done for tomato soups, breakfast foods, pancake flours and cigarettes they can do for the eighteenth amendment, Dr. F. Scott McBride thinks, and the Government will soon begin a phrase and picture drive to put prohibition across.

* * * *

Advertising experts are now at work on the idea and the following messages may greet you from the billboards and store windows any day:

WHAT A JAIL OF A DIFFERENCE JUST A FEW DRINKS MAKE?

WHEN BIGGER CELLS ARE BUILT MABEL WILL FILL THEM.

WHISKEY—FOUR OUT OF EVERY FIVE BOOTLEGGERS POISON IT.

IS A FIVE-YEAR TERM PLEASANT? "ASK THE MAN WHO'S SERVED ONE!"

YOU CAN'T GO WRONG WITH A BOTTLE OF CARBONATED WATER.

TRY THE OLD OAKEN BUCKET "IT SATISFIES."

The idea is full of possibilities. Taking a leaf from the cigarette people, the indorsement angle can be used to advantage: "Whenever I feel low, tired, depressed and in need of pep, inspiration, enthusiasm and lively interest in life I take a nice long drink of water."—Johnny Farrell, America's famous golfing genius.

"Nothing helps after a long hard ball game like a beaker of lemonade or a tankard of raspberry soda. Soft drinks keep me fit."—Babe Ruth.

We may even hear proclaimed that the entire student body at Yale, blindfolded, picked red lemonade as its favorite libation and that "milk ran first, synthetic gin eighty-sixth in vote at Harvard."

* * * *

And, of course, in time the radio will be used. Watch out for the national prohibition or Uncle Andy Volstead hour! "This is the Department of Justice, Maker of Fine Jails for Casual Drinkers, speaking. The next voice you hear will be that of the warden of the Joliet Penitentiary....."

Some Performance.

"The policeman had just dismounted from his motorcycle and was stretching his legs 700 feet north of a police booth."—Brooklyn Times.

The versatile cuss!

One of the ironies of the Coolidge administration is the fact that under it the country was given the talking pictures.

Vice President Curtis is in Florida, which makes the opinion that the Government can be intrusted to Mr. Hoover unanimous.

National Press Post To Dine Gen. Lejeune

Members of the National Press Club Post, American Legion, will give a farewell dinner for Maj. Gen. John A. Lejeune, retiring commandant of the United States Marine Corps, tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock in the post's rooms at the National Press Club.

Following the dinner there will be an informal program in charge of Capt. John Craig. A number of specialties are planned for the occasion.

Before the Pilgrims Landed

When Plymouth Rock was just a rock unknown, unheralded, Jean Denys of Harfleur sailed the Rognoust across the seas to Newfoundland, the first of many hardy and forgotten men to reach the lands Jacques Cartier later claimed for France in 1534. ✣ Even great Spain requested Breton pilots in those spacious days when seamanship meant conquest. ✣ Soon the Grand Banks were full of dancing cockleshells...and still they fish two thousand miles from home. ✣ And so traditions of the sea grew greater still, till not a port around the earth but knew the steady eyes of Breton sailormen. ✣ With comrades from Provence, they man today those French Line ships whose service is their birth-right and their pride. ✣ The "France" the "Paris" and the "Ile de France", giants that form the Weekly Express Service between New York, London and Paris, take only men who graduate with honors from lesser units of that world-girdling fleet that numbers one hundred and ten. ✣ The "De Grasse" and "Rochambeau" for a leisurely cabin crossing.

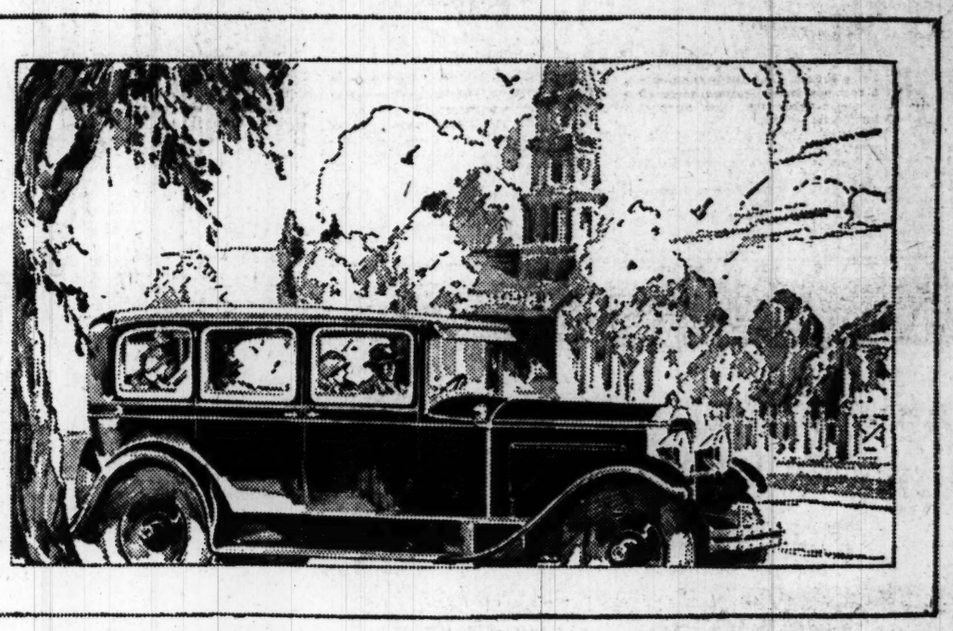
PACKARD



Standard Eights Priced $160 Lower

PACKARD Straight Eight luxury, acknowledged supreme by motorists throughout the world, is now available to a new and wider circle of owners.

Effective March 4th, all models of the popular Standard Eight line were reduced $160 at the factory. The former prices were the lowest at which Packard Eights had ever been offered. The new prices make the Packard Standard Eight the outstanding motor car value of the year.

From the Five-Passenger Sedan, now listing at $2275 to the Seven-Passenger Sedan-Limousine at $2675, the Packard Standard Eight line offers a wide choice of body types—and at prices actually lower than the last established prices of the Packard Six. By concentrating its modern and extensive manufacturing facilities on the Eight-in-Line motor, Packard is now able to offer the many advantages of Straight Eight design without any additional cost.

Purchasers of Packard Standard Eights today are assured of the finest performance, the greatest comfort and luxury ever before available at such attractive figures. Ten models are offered, three of 126-inch wheelbase and seven with wheelbase of 133 inches.

All Packard features are found in today's Standard Eights. The famous Straight Eight motor, with its nine bearing crankshaft, is unchanged in design. Instant Chassis Lubrication saves labor and prolongs car life. The new and exclusive Shock Absorbing System includes a device which positively eliminates all front wheel "shimmy".

Packard has but one measure of quality—the highest. Standard Eight models differ from the Custom and De Luxe lines only in size, in degree of individuality available and in appointments and color finish. They are Packards throughout—in all that this famous name implies.

When may we demonstrate the model of your choice?

If you prefer to buy out of income, you will find the Packard Payment Plan most attractive. Many take possession of their new cars without any cash outlay—and with the small monthly payments made smaller because the used car allowance exceeds the down payment on the new car.

Hearing on WRC Quota Wednesday

Newark Station Wants Frequency Allotted Here; Columbia Company Will Move in Autumn to Big Building.

With the hope that the new commissioner for the Eastern zone may be named by President Hoover by that time, the Federal Radio Commission has set Wednesday, March 20, for the hearing of Station WNJ, of Newark, N. J., which has applied for Station WRC's frequency.

The New Jersey station is dissatisfied with its present frequency, 1,450 kilocycles, and among others, has designated that of WRC, 950 kilocycles, as one it would prefer to its present assignment.

There is considerable dissatisfaction in New Jersey over the reallocation, the State claiming that it has been discriminated against and has not been given the quota of radio facilities to which it is entitled.

This has been voiced by the New Jersey State Broadcasters Association, but Station WNJ is the first one to try to get a frequency away from the District of Columbia.

The station is operated by the Radio Investment Co. at Newark, and uses 250 watts, which is half the power of WRC. Just how elaborate a defense WRC expects to put up for its present frequency is not known, but it is understood that M. H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Co., expects to appear. At the time of the reallocation the frequencies of WRC and WMAL were interchanged, and the impression is that WRC has not been so well satisfied with its present wave as it was with the previous one. Nevertheless, it is certain to put up a fight for it as against the New Jersey station.

The latest reports are that the Columbia Broadcasting Co will be able to move into its new 24-story building early in the fall. It is now being erected at Madison avenue and Forty-second street, in the heart of New York.

The chain headquarters and the studios of WABC, the key station, will be moved from their present locations to the new building. There will be fifteen studios ranging in size from small chambers for the broadcasting of talks by individuals to an auditorium large enough to accommodate more than 250 entertainers. One studio is to be especially equipped for television broadcasts. Each will have individual control rooms.

Besides studios proper, many rehearsal and audition rooms have been planned, which will be equipped with microphone pick-up apparatus to feed the currents to loud speakers in adjoining reception and listening rooms. All are to have, in addition to the radio pick-up apparatus, wires and equipment for sound recording on records or films.

Some of the larger studios are to be two stories high and equipped to insure a certain amount of seclusion for performances. Visitors will be able to look on from special glass-inclosed balconies and hear the performances through loud speakers.

Sixty broadcasting stations scattered throughout the United States are now equipped with a special type of phonograph machine known as the orchestraphone so that they can broadcast programs supplied to them on phonograph records from a central headquarters.

"We call this system of transmission 'electrical transcription' and it is now in use at 60 leading stations, including many of the cleared-channel stations, prominent among them KDKA at Pittsburgh," said Herold M. Schaffer, representative of the company manufacturing the device. "No announcement need be made that the program is electrically recorded because it is not an actual phonograph broadcast.

"The Federal Radio Commission has approved, and in accordance with order issued by the commission, the announcer need not allude to the fact that the actual entertainers are not in the studios in person.

"No objections have been received from radio listeners and apparently they fail to notice any difference between the electrical transcription method and personal broadcasts. Six records are needed for a half-hour program and a switching arrangement causes a shift from one record to another."

What Today Means to You

March 14.

PISCES.

If March 14 is your birthday, the most propitious hours for you today are from 8:30 a. m. to 11 a. m., and from 2:45 p. m. to 4:30 p. m. The other periods are from 12:30 p. m. to 2 p. m., from 5 p. m. to 6:30 p. m., and from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m.

The outcome of anything attempted today can not be prognosticated with any degree of certainty. The planetary aspects present a doubtful outlook, and while they do not indicate anything of an untoward nature, they, on the other hand, do not portend success.

A child born today will be venturesome, and as it develops in age this will grow into a habit of "taking a chance." It will not be indolent, but much of its energy will be misapplied, and it does not seem fated to reap that reward which its qualifications merit.

You are naturally reticent and quiet and reserved. You strongly resent any interest being shown by others in your affairs, and, whenever you make a mistake—and you make many—you never create alibis, but shoulder the responsibility alone. Ordinarily, such a one would possess few loyal friends. You, on the contrary, have many, inasmuch as though you never tell your own troubles, you are a sympathetic listener to the troubles of others.

You are fond of power, but only when you can, unnoticed and unrecognized, pull the wires. Any notoriety or publicity is distasteful to you. It is difficult for you to take orders from any one. You always aspire to do the ordering. The occult and the mysterious make a strong appeal to you, and superstition is one of your besetting weaknesses.

Your nature is an affectionate one. You, however, demand, rather than give, demonstrations. The stars predict that you will marry young, but your mate will have no easy task in getting along with you, and it can be safely predicted that the first few years of your married life will be difficult. Only the mellowing influence of time and long association will the partnership be productive of that felicity which can be expected when "two hearts beat as one."

Thomas H. Benton, statesman.

James Bogardus, inventor.

John G. W. Cowles, financier.

Agriculture Head Is on Air Tonight

Hyde, McNary, Hawley on WRC at 10:30; "Deep River" Sung at 8:30; Irish Potato Talk on WMAL at 10.

Arthur Hyde, Secretary of Agriculture, will speak to more than 1,250,000 farmers in the United States when he delivers an address from Station WRC at 10:30 o'clock tonight.

The new Cabinet member will be heard during the radio mass meeting, sponsored by the Farm Bureau Federation. Senator McNary, head of the agricultural relief commission of the Senate, and Congressman Hawley, chairman of the ways and means committee of the House, will also be speakers.

The program will go on the air from the Washington and Chicago studios of the National Broadcasting Co. Incidentally, Mr. Hyde is the first member of President Hoover's Cabinet to speak over the air.

The spiritual, "Deep River," will be heard in special arrangement for tuba and clarinet as an orchestral novelty in the broadcast by the Hoover Sentinels at 8:30 o'clock. A Friml cycle, containing such well-known hits by that composer as "Rose Marie," "Only a Rose" and "The Vagabond King" are scheduled for the same program. Jessica Dragonette will be the soprano soloist.

Advance notice of St. Patrick's Day is given by the Seiberling Singers at 9 o'clock tonight. Traditional Irish tunes and songs will be offered in special arrangement for the male quartet, the Seiberling Singing Violins, and the two-piano team of Ohman and Arden.

Another of the musical receptions at the home of Halsey, Stuart's "Old Counselor," in which the financial wizard answers the questions of his radio guests, will be broadcast at 10 o'clock.

A selection of Humperdinck's rarely heard opera "Konigskinder" (the Kingly Children) and "The Watch of the Guardian Angel," by Pierne, atmospheric pieces appropriate to the mood of the last half-hour of the day, will be played during the Slumber Music program at 11:30 o'clock. The conductor of this presentation will be Ludwig Laurier.

At the air meeting of the Radio Homemakers Club at 10 o'clock this morning from Station WMAL, Mrs. Ida Bailey Allen will talk about Irish kitchens, and the main part of her talk she will devote to directions for a St. Patrick's buffet supper.

Helen Oelheim, contralto, will be the artist in the program that the Sonora Hour will present at 9:30 o'clock. Miss Oelheim has chosen as her two contributions, "In Our Love Nest" from "Mary," and "Auf Wiedersehen" from Romberg's "Blue Paradise."

"Three Shades of Blue" will be the specialty feature of the Columbians program at 10 o'clock. A male quartet will assist the orchestra in their rendition of "Sweethearts on Parade," "When Summer Is Gone," and "The Song I Love."

Jules Frederic Massenet, French composer, will be honored in the Musical Episode at 10:30 o'clock. The episode that will be featured this week will reproduce the meeting between Massenet and Mialhac, French librettist, composer and author of the opera "Manon." At this meeting, plans for the opera "Manon," the music for which was, of course, written by Massenet and the libretto by Mialhac, were discussed in full, and in the reproduction of this episode many of the leading themes and songs of this opera will be heard.

Station WJSV will present a program between 7 and 10 o'clock this evening, featuring a Children's Half Hour, the Whoopie Trio and the Columbia Trio, among other features.

Florence Jane Adams, impersonator, the Ultra-Moderns, and a Carlton dinner concert are among the early evening features from Station WOL.

Station WRC, between 4 and 5 o'clock, and Station WMAL, between 7:30 and 8:30 o'clock, today will carry in their concert programs by the United States Army Band two selections which have not previously been played. One is an arrangement for full band of a march, "Heroica," by Fernando Centurion, of Asuncion, Paraguay. The arrangement was made by Theodore Bingert, attached to the Army Band as a special arranger and extra leader. There will also be rendered in the same program an original composition by Mr. Bingert, entitled, "In the Hall of the Americas." In this selection he has embodied his conception of some of the outstanding musical motifs from the Southern lands. Mr. Bingert will direct these two numbers.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES McDONALD.

"Watching Love Die."

Of all the things that have kept me wide-eyed in my eventful rush through life, the one that causes me to marvel most, is the time people spend at the deathbed of love. All the agonizing, all the praying, the hoping against hope till the last breath. What for? Suppose suddenly love did rise up on elbow and draw a few more breaths, what of it? Seems to me there is always waiting just around the corner consolation in most attractive form.

But most people seem bent upon bringing the dead love back to life. One can understand this in a wife and mother, but how can a single woman sit mooning at love's deathbed instead of peeking around the corner at consolation and his new spats. Listen to Gwen, couldn't you just shake thee Gwens?

"Above all do not tell me to give him up! I can not. I love him. But for him I do not even exist any more. I have written him begging him to tell me what I have done to offend him, but he does not reply. I used to see him four nights a week. Now she sees him every night, and I am forgotten. At Christmas I sent him a gift, and he sent it back with a letter in which he merely said he thought since 'everything was over' we had better not continue exchanging gifts. That was when I wrote and asked him what I had done to offend him.

"It was quite gradual the way he dropped me for her. Just broke date after date. Then stopped coming unless I called him up. Then mother forbade that, and he never came at all.

"Tell me what to do, for I must do something. He was absolutely mine for over a year, never called on anyone, then she came, and he started seeing her oftener and oftener. And now she is his only thought. He said he loved me. Evidently he did not speak the truth. But even so, I want him back. What can I do to bring this about?"

And there you are. And women have been doing this since life began, instead of saying, "Well of all things, just when I thought I had met my fate, here I must turn another corner and get used to another man and a whole new set of man tricks, but here goes, come on Mr. New Man, trot out your 'line' and let's see how we like it." Ten to one the next man is lots more intriguing than the last anyway, so why the tears and loud laments over the parting.

Don't sit at the deathbed of love. Go to a party and let love die, or get better just as he sees fit.

One thing that makes life bearable is the number of corners one turns, and the astonishing and thrilling things that wait just around the next turn.

How awful to be a person who always goes right on, straight ahead. Turn the corner, Gwen! And wear a new hat when you do it!

Jane Interprets the Mode

An unusual and very cunning frock of light blue woolen, with white cotton collar and cuffs, light blue ribbon tie, and knitted blue lace trimming. (Courtesy of the Maison Jenny, Paris.)

New York, March 13, 1929.

FUR, which has been used for 'most everything these past few seasons, has definitely made its appearance as a feature of the evening gown. Not in any pronounced way as yet, but it is sponsored by Chanel, which means that if it finds favor with Miladi we shall be seeing much more of it.

It is not, of course, now (as what is?) but it has been away so long that it seems refreshingly different.

• • • •

The model in question is an evening gown of white satin, quite plain save for many stitchings and a strass buckle, which holds the belt of white satin. The fur, which is black fox, is applied as an irregular band at the hem, and is/repeated in a narrow scarf at the throat.

As the skirt flares, thanks to its many godets, the weight of the fur gives a quite new character to its movement. As the wearer walks or dances, the fur has something the effect of Premet's stiffened hemline—the folds disappear and appear in a soft rippling movement, which is utterly delightful.

• • • •

Easy If You Know How.

There's a trick about making a cape-coat, as Mamzelle just found out to her sorrow and our expense. There is something about getting those darned sleeves in the underneath part that is very tricky indeed.

All you have to do to save yourself all that grief is to send a stamped self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet, which gives you all the tricks!

• • • •

Even though it may sound extraordinary, a Jenny frock really couldn't be anything but successful. Yet I can not but defy any one lesser to achieve a model like the one I illustrated for you today! Of light blue woolen fabric, with cotton collar and cuffs, and with knitted blue lace edging the hem, it has a quaintness and charm that is entirely Jennyesque—and which caused us to forego several meals in an effort to get a sketch of it for you!

• • • •

Here and there and everywhere, and ever so often, too, one encounters an evening gown with transparent sleeves. Sometimes of tulle, sometimes of lace, always lovely, and always unmistakably an evening gown and not a dinner dress. The distinction is found in the materials and silhouette of the dress, and in particular in its decollete.

• • • •

And never do I see this type of evening gown but do I remember the number of evening gowns I have seen in my life, which might have appeared a great deal more to their owners' advantage had they—the owners—been covered with sleeves!

Hesitate at all times to be too obvious with your charms, and never at any time permit yourself to be obvious with your defects.

• • • •

Just Try This.

Instead of tying your silk handkerchief scarf, draw the pointed ends through a thick ring of jade, amber, cornelian, crystal or jet. And if one of them trims your hat or bag, so much the better!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS.

LEAD POISON IN HIDING.

ONCE upon a time there was a man who worked in lead. Knowing that he was being poisoned, he changed his job. The lead in him was stowed away safely in his bones and there it lay, causing no harm, for sixteen years. Then he got pneumonia, just the ordinary garden variety of pneumonia. No reason to expect lead poisoning in pneumonia. This man got over his pneumonia just as do about four out of five of those who have it. But when he should have been convalescing lead poisoning developed. From this disorder he died. What had happened? What can be the relation between lead poison and pneumonia?

This is it. When lead poison is stored in the bones it exists there as an insoluble salt. This salt, however, is readily changed to one that is soluble. In this instance the acidosis which developed in the course of the pneumonia changed the lead in the man's bones to a soluble salt. This was dissolved by the blood stream and carried from the bones, where it did little harm, to other and very important tissues, where it did irreparable harm.

This is not a fairy story. It is an actual experience attested by a physician of standing. It is illustrative of what happens every now and then. A man who has been a lead worker and who has not taken proper precautions finally discovers his danger and changes his job. His symptoms disappear. It may be that a lead line can still be seen on his gums, and there may be some reason to suspect that he has lead in his bones. But so far as the ordinary symptoms which make semi-invalids out of some lead workers, there are none. There is lead in his tissues, but it is an insoluble salt, and the blood leaves it alone. He thinks he is permanently out of the woods. Then he develops an acidosis for some reason. It may be a cold, or erysipelas, or any infectious disease, or it may be an acidity, so-called, for some other reason.

The lead is changed to a soluble salt and symptoms of lead poisoning show themselves. Perhaps a physician is called. He suspects lead poisoning, but knowing the nature of the man's present work and not knowing of the earlier job, he dismisses the possibility from his mind. The danger of this form of delayed lead poisoning is even greater with child-bearing women. Vomiting and some other disorders of pregnancy are very apt to result in acidosis.

DEPENDS ON MANY THINGS.

R writes: I am a young college graduate and am deeply in love with my cousin, who is extremely pretty and well educated. She loves me, but we hesitate about getting married because of the ugly stories we have heard about the children of first cousins. People tell us these children are always cripples and morons incapable of being taught. Our family physician tells us this is not always so but that the children of first cousins are more intelligent than the average. What am I to believe?

REPLY.

There is need for a column on eugenics.

The children of parents who are first cousins are likely to be highly intelligent if the parents have that quality. Perhaps your physician knew that you have it and knew what he was talking about.

If the parents are feeeble-minded, some of the children will be feeble-minded. The same law holds as to certain types of cripples.

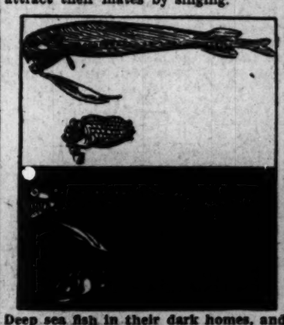
Fish of the Deep Sea

II—LIGHTS OF THE DEPTHS.

FIREFLIES on a summer night make little lights which glow in the darkness. The purpose seems to be to attract mates, just as birds attract their mates by singing.



Deep sea fish in their dark homes, and as they would appear in daylight.

You may be surprised to hear that some fish of the deep sea make lights. As I explained yesterday, it is very dark two miles below the ocean surface—so the fish certainly need lights to show them the way to go home!

Nature has given certain deep sea fish rows of lights running from their gills to their tails. Others are bright almost all over.

One curious fellow has a "feeler" as long as his body. At the tip of the feeler is a single light, stronger than most of the lights possessed by other kinds of deep sea fish.

What is the purpose of the lights? It is hard to be sure, but we may guess. Like fireflies, deep sea fish may use their lights to attract mates. They may also use the lights as "bait" to draw smaller fish near enough to be gobbled up.

In the seas of the tropics, some fish with glowing lights are seen near the surface at night. They leap and dash about, making a pretty sight.

The cause of the light is not well known. It is believed to arise from slime coming out of pores in the fish's body.

Another trouble in the deep sea is the coldness. The water down there is almost at the freezing point, no matter whether it is winter or summer. The fish are used to it, however, and do not suffer in the way we would suffer in such a cold place.

Some deep sea fish are related to sharks, or herrings; but they have changed so much that their grandfathers wouldn't know them.

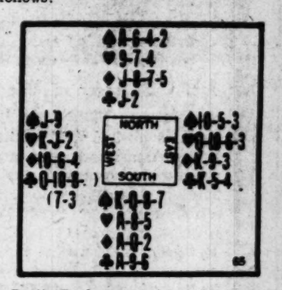
WORK ON BRIDGE

The third and last of this week's series of "Misplayed Hands I Have Met" follows:



South Declarer, contract No Trump.

West led his fourth best Club, Dummy's Jack was covered by East's King, and South held up his Ace until the third round. West winning trick 2 and continuing Clubs. Declarer then led four rounds of Spades, winning the last in Dummy; next a small Diamond from Dummy won by Closed Hand's Queen. When that won, Declarer took in his two red Aces, making a total of eight tricks, but failing to get the nine needed for game.

Could he have made the ninth trick?

THE CORRECT PLAY

After holding up the Ace of Clubs until the third round so as to exhaust East's Clubs if the division of the adverse eight Clubs should prove to be the dangerous 5-3, Declarer should have led the Ace of Diamonds to trick 4, and the Queen of Diamonds to trick 5. This insured two Diamond tricks, regardless of whether the adversaries won the second Diamond or not, and insured game if East held the King of Diamonds and the six adverse Diamonds were evenly divided. (East, winning with the Diamond King, could not then return Clubs.)

With the King of Diamonds held by West, game could not be made in any event. It was not likely that the adverse Diamonds would be divided, West four small, East King and one small.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE BLESSING OF TRIAL.

Thank God for the hills that weary us,
And the cares that come and go,
If life were all joy delirious
What boredom soon we'd know!
Thank God for the rain and the snow and sleet
And the cold earth, brown and bare,
For we'd trample roses under our feet
If forever they blossomed there.

Thank God for the doubts that are fretting us,
And for failure's sting of pain,
For the tricks of fate upsetting us
And the goals we can't attain!
Thank God for the tasks which hold us fast
Through the dull and dreary day,
For if for a lifetime joy could last
We'd sicken of idle play.

Thank God for secrets that baffle us
And for mountains too steep to climb,
For the cares that curb and snaffle us
To the measured pace of time,
For the sun looks fair to the man who knows
The skies in their winter gray,
And pleasure has only a zest for those

TWO BLASTS WRECK BUILDINGS; 3 DEAD

Town in Terror Fearing New Explosives; Natural Gas Is Blamed.

ONE KILLED AT BUFFALO

St. Joseph, Mo., March 13 (A.P.).—Two terrific blasts early today wrecked two buildings, killed three persons and wounded nine others. Authorities admitted tonight they were without definite clews to the cause of the detonations.

The explosions demolished the two brick buildings in which they occurred and did great damage to surrounding property. Both of the destroyed buildings housed groceries on the first floor and apartments on the second. They were but a block apart.

The first blast occurred at 1 o'clock. Two hours later, while crowds surround the scene, the second building was shattered.

Two theories were advanced in explanation of the explosions. Racketeers were blamed for the destruction by some officials. Others attributed the havoc to natural gas explosions.

Cause of Blast Sought.

State and municipal authorities joined in the investigation, after a conference between Mayor L. V. Stigall and C. V. Philley, president of the police board.

Police detectives, the fire department and the prosecutor's office are seeking for some light on the blasts. Facts uncovered will be presented Dr. B. W. Tadlock, coroner, who will conduct a public hearing as soon as possible.

The dead, all killed in their apartments, are Mrs. Mary Leu, 64; her grandson, Charles Donald Nolan, 9, and Dorothy Glogner, 9. The first two were killed in the first explosion, the third in the second.

All of the injured, among whom were several children, were expected to recover.

The tragedy was the worst in the history of the city. Thousands of persons were terrified by the loud detonations.

Gas Recently Piped.

Natural gas recently was piped to St. Joseph. Those who attributed the blasts to gas were terrified for hours by the thought of other impending destruction.

Speeding ambulances and shrieking sirens added to the early morning terror.

Theories of a competitive grocers' war proved groundless when it was shown the grocers were each doing a modest business and had not been active in trade competition.

Destruction for insurance also was scouted, as the ordinary fire insurance each store carried does not cover losses of the nature suffered.

W. D. Webb, a police board member, who owns a drug store in the neighborhood, scoffed at reports racketeers attempted to damage his business and bombed the grocery stores by mistake.

Operators of the groceries hold to the theory of exploding natural gas. Insurance adjusters late today estimated their losses as considerably in excess of $50,000.

One Dead in Dye Blast.

Buffalo, N. Y., March 13 (A.P.).—One man was fatally burned, thirteen others were taken to hospitals and many more were slightly injured by an explosion that wrecked the nitrobenzol building in the plant of the National Aniline Chemical Co. here today. John Dunlop, 35, succumbed to burns.

The concussion of the detonation of the nitrobenzol caused an explosion in the indigo building 450 feet away. Fire followed the explosions. Plant officials refused to divulge the number of employes injured, the cause of the explosion or the monetary loss.

Many employes were given first aid treatment at the company's infirmary and removed to their homes. All the injured, it is believed, were working around the large tanks of the highly explosive nitrobenzol when a 1,000-gallon tank exploded. Flaming fluid was shot over the workmen who ran with clothes ablaze from the building.

So far as could be ascertained no one was injured in the explosion in the indigo plant.

Dust Storms Sweeps Shanghai.

Shanghai, March 13 (A.P.).—Flour-like dust from the Gobi Desert engulfed Shanghai today in the worst storm reported here in ten years. The dust was blown more than 1,500 miles borne on a storm which originated in Mongolia on March 11.

U. S. Horses, Untutored In French, Miss Show

The 80 Belgian cavalrymen, members of King Albert's crack military band, will not ride United States Army horses for their parade to the New York City Hall and up Fifth avenue. While Uncle Sam's mounts are most attractive to the eye, they do not understand the French language, and the royal bandsmen of Belgium are taking no chances of embarrassing developments on this account.

Accordingly Capt. Arthur Prevost, director of the band, yesterday sent a radio message from the S. S. Megantic politely declining the offer of the Army authorities to furnish fitting mounts.

"Unfortunately, your American horses do not speak French," the captain wirelessed, "and our musicians are naturally accustomed to giving all their commands to their mounts in that language. Any experienced horseman will realize that quite regrettable incidents might arise from trying to mount a military band on horses which do not understand the language."

Father Accused of Plot To Have Son Killed

Suffolk, Va., March 13 (A.P.).—Levy Vicks, 50, of Southampton County, was held here today for a grand jury investigation Monday of charges made by two negroes that he conspired with them to have his 22-year-old son killed to collect a $13,000 insurance policy said to be carried on the life of the young man. He denies the charges.

Police say that the two negroes have confessed that they were to receive $1,000 each from the elder Vickers to poison his son, but that their courage failed them after plans had been made.

MISS ARTH CHARMS IN CAPITAL CONCERT

Washington Girl Sings Aria With Which She Won Audition Trophy.

PIANO OCTET IS PLAYED

Miss Hazel Arth, the Washington contralto who recently won the $5,000 Nation-wide prize in the audition contest, was the star of the "Music of the Nations" concert given at the Jewish Community Center last night, in which the Center Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Joseph H. Ratner; a piano octet and several other singers participated.

Miss Arth, by special request, sang the aria "Mon Coeur s'ouvre a ta voix," from the opera of "Samson et Dalila," by Saint-Saens, with which she won the contest.

Her mellow, ample tones were heard to fine advantage in this number, as in the rest of her program. The orchestra brought applause by its excellent support and ensemble work.

The piano octet displayed remarkable unison of tone and attack.

Salvatore Carta, who sang a tenor solo and also sang a duet with Giuseppe Bruno, barytone, gave a good account of himself. He had an excellent voice, but did not read his first solo to full advantage. In the duets, however, he was more effective.

Mr. Bruno's voice was very sympathetic and of good quality.

$2,000,000 Gift Made by Candler

Emory University Received Donation Two Years Ago From Coca Cola King.

Atlanta, March 13 (A.P.).—The Atlanta Journal today announces for the first time a gift of $2,000,000 to Emory University made by Asa G. Candler, sr., in 1924, but kept secret until after the capitalist's death.

Mr. Candler delivered the money to the trustees in the summer of 1924 on condition that he was to receive during his lifetime the income, less 1 per cent, which went to the university. Upon his death the fund was to divert outright to the school.

This gift was part of $7,000,000 which Mr. Candler gave to the university during his lifetime. It was revealed today that the aged capitalist made his own funeral arrangements in a letter he wrote more than three years ago. It asked that the obsequies be held at 11 a. m. on the second day after his death and the Dean of the Emory School of Theology conduct the services.

Government Ends "Film Trust" Suit

Decision Reserved in Sherman Law Action Against Leading Producers.

New York, March 13 (A.P.).—The first of two suits brought by the Government against an alleged "movie trust" comprised of many prominent producers and distributers and organizations formed by them, was completed today. Decision was reserved.

The case dealth with the right of producers to assume all uncompleted contracts for pictures existing at the time of purchase or transfer of a theater.

Among defendants were the Motion Picture Producers and Distributers of America, headed by Will Hays; First National Pictures; Paramount-Famous-Lasky Corporation; Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing Corporation; Universal Films Exchange Co.; Fox Film Corporation; Pathe Exchange; F. B. O. Pictures Corporation; Vitagraph; Educational Film Exchange, and 32 film boards of trade throughout the country.

Trips Home by Air For Ship Travelers

U. S. Lines to Sell Nonstop Tickets to Pasengers in Near Future.

New York, March 13 (U.P.).—Plans were announced today by the new owners of the United States ship lines to inaugurate a service to allow incoming passengers to make nonstop flights to their homes.

Twenty large airplanes are to be put into service of United States Lines ships by Sky Lines, Inc., organized by Paul M. Chapman. Chapman recently paid the Government $16,300,000 for the eleven passenger vessels of the United States Lines and the American Merchant Lines.

One plane has already been completed and tested for service. It is all metal and has a capacity of 20 passengers and two pilots. It has a kitchen and bathroom and a cruising radius of 4,000 miles at a speed of 115 miles an hour. Passengers will be allowed to purchase nonstop flights to their homes. The concern hopes to operate by autumn.

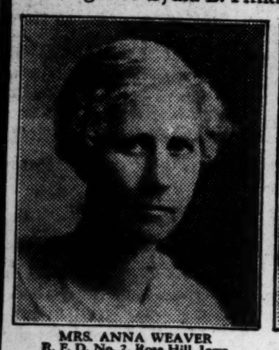
Middle Age Can Be Happy

NO woman need fear middle age if her health is good. Hundreds of active, contented middle-aged women tell their friends that they owe their health and vigor to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.



MRS. ANNA WEAVER
R. F. D. No. 2, Rose Hill, Iowa

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine at the Change of Life. I would get blue spells and just walk the floor. I was nervous and did not care for anything, could not sleep at night and was not able to do my work. I know if it had not been for your medicine I would have been in bed most of this time and had a big doctor's bill. If women would only take your medicine they would be better. I eat and sleep as I should and can do lots of work now."—Mrs. Anna Weaver.

MRS. MINNIE SHERIDAN
Warrensburg, Missouri

"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at this time (Change of Life), also Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash, which I think is wonderful, and the Pills for Constipation. I recommend this full treatment whenever I can and I am perfectly willing to tell anyone what I know about it. I am in better health than I ever was and I am often told that I look more like a sister to my daughter than her mother. I am a hotel cook and have been at one place for six years."—Mrs. Minnie Sheridan.

MRS. MERTON SECOR
Afton, N. Y.

"I am taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at the Change of Life and it certainly has done wonders for me. I highly recommend it to all women who are having troubles like mine. It has helped my nerves and my appetite and I sleep well. I feel much better and am gaining in flesh. I am able to do my housework for my husband and little boy and am always busy sewing or crocheting. I am willing to tell other women what the medicine has done for me if they care to write to me."—Mrs. Merton Secor.

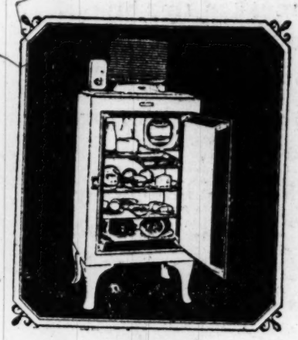
GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerators offer these vital advantages

THE outstanding merit of the General Electric Refrigerator was universally recognized the very day it was first announced. This refrigerator—the product of fifteen years of intensive research and development—completely revolutionized the art of refrigeration by embodying the following important features:

. . . . an hermetically sealed, dust-proof mechanism.
. . . . an easily accessible temperature control.
. . . . a mechanism that requires no oiling.
. . . . all troublesome machinery eliminated.
. . . . a new standard of quiet operation.
. . . . mounted on legs with broom-room underneath.
. . . . no installation problem whatever.
. . . . a sanitary, porcelain chilling chamber.
. . . . the entire mechanism mounted on top.
. . . . absolutely no radio interference.
. . . . maximum food storage space in the cabinet.
. . . . an appreciably lower cost of operation.
. . . . a radically improved type of cabinet.
. . . an unqualified two-year service guarantee.

These features, tested and proved by thousands of enthusiastic owners have broughtan enviable position of leadership to General Electric Refrigerators.



Come in and examine these "years ahead" refrigerators at our display rooms. Let us tell you about our plan of conveniently spaced time payments.

CITIZENSHIP PAPERS ARE AWARDED TO 20

JUSTICE M'COY PRESIDES

Twenty newly naturalized citizens of the United States received their certificates last night and 60 others who received citizenship in January and February were given graduation certificates from the Americanization School of the District last night at the United States Chamber of Commerce Building in a patriotic reception sponsored by the Americanization committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

A number of new citizens were unable to be present. Their certificates will be awarded later. Altogether 28 will receive naturalization certificates and 104 school certificates.

Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy, of the District Supreme Court, presided, introducing as speakers Justice Peyton Gordon, of the District Supreme Court; Mrs. W. W. Husband, national chairman of the Americanism committee of the D. A. R.; Souren Hannessian, president of the Americanization School Association; Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of District schools, and Mrs. Grattan Kerans, State chairman of Americanism, D. A. R.

Broad smiles lighted the face of each new citizen as he or she stepped forward in response to his name to receive his naturalization certificate from Chief Justice McCoy or his school certificate from Dr. Ballou and a small American flag from Mrs. Kerans. Later they stood respectfully at attention while "The Star-Spangled Banner" was sung.

The twenty who received naturalization certificates are Fred Deckelbaum, Ben Segretti, Miss Mary McGahan, Nicola Celenza, Agostine Fiori, Mrs. Josephine T. DeCola, Carmine DeSilvio, George Poropat, Jacob Kline, Marie Gabriel Villeneuve, Miss Jeanne Marie Muller, Mrs. Louise Reger Blub, Miss Augusta Lutz, Irving Shames, Harry Gordon, Carl Cantarini, Israel Shuster, Miss Lily Sanner, Mrs. Ayda Papps and Mrs. Velda Graven.

Lowery to Talk on Community Chest.

"The Community Chest" will be the subject of a talk by Vernon Lowery tonight at a meeting of the Comrades Club in the First Universalist Church, 1603 S street northwest, at 6 o'clock.

'Good Bootleggers' Aid Hunt For Sellers of Poison Rum

Peoria Venders Back State in Efforts to Find Man Responsible for Seventeen Deaths From "New Process" Alcohol.

Peoria, Ill., March 13 (United Press). The "good bootleggers" of Peoria, the city once known as the "liquor center of the world," came forth today with the promise to aid the State in gathering evidence against the distributors of poison liquor which recently caused 17 deaths in this vicinity.

State's Attorney Harry E. Pratt, who made known the offer of the bootleggers, said he would ask the death penalty for the distribution of the wood alcohol, and named Morris Mansfield, one of seven men indicted, as the man responsible. Mansfield has been charged in the indictments with responsibility for six deaths.

The prosecutor said that the latest evidence obtained in his investigation showed that industrial alcohol used in the manufacture of lacquers, had been smuggled out of the Commercial Solvents plant here in a dinner pail by a workman.

Peoria, which once was the "wettest" spot in Illinois, was reported today to be one of the dryest. The recent poison liquor deaths, combined with fear of prison sentences under the new Jones law, have ruined the bootlegging business of the city.

Federal, city and county authorities have joined in the investigation of conditions which led to the recent fatalities and drink parlors and their sources of supply generally have ceased to operate.

Embittered at being forced out of business, many of the bootleggers offered their assistance to State's Attorney Pratt in obtaining evidence against those under indictment.

Those indicted with Mansfield are his wife, Clement O. Gussin and wife, who sold liquor at their home; Louis Selz, proprietor of a hotel; Walter Neibert, his bartender, and Herman W. Wohlferth.

The State hinted today that some of those indicted would turn State's evidence against Mansfield, who is accused of trying a "new process" of converting the wood alcohol into drinkable liquor.

POLICE CHIEF FROM RANKS IS SOUGHT BY CITIZENS COUNCIL

inquired whether Roberts' resolution might not be interpreted as placing the council on record as favoring a Public Utilities Commission employe to succeed Col. Harrison S. Brand, Utilities Commissioner, whose appointment was not approved by the last Congress.

The appointment resolution followed a discussion and series of actions in which the council took up the cudgels for the inarticulate residents of the District and demanded greater freedom and recognition of their rights in their government.

Stengle, former member of Congress, set the ball rolling with a demand for a new plan for the handling of the District estimates and appropriations. The Federal Bureau of the Budget, Stengle declared, should be eliminated from its present control of District appropriations.

"We should try to bring the government of the District—our government—closer to the people who are governed," Stengle declared.

"Who has more interest in protecting the people against reckless expenditure of public moneys than the people who contribute those moneys through taxation?

Free Rein Here Urged.

"We ought to have responsible District Commissioners and the District Commissioners should be the budget bureau for the District. The Federal contribution ought not to have strings tied to it. The interest of the President should not be to keep down expenditures for the welfare of the District. There should be given a free rein to the people of the District to do what they want and the interest of the President should extend only to see that the people of the District maintained the National Capital in a manner in keeping with its character.

"Our estimates ought not to be restricted or interfered with on the grounds of Federal economy, when as a matter of fact they have nothing to do with Federal economy, because we pay out of our own pockets for the improvements and public works we want. We are in a peculiarly anomalous position from which we should be relieved."

New Plan to Be Drawn.

On motion of Stengle the task of working out a new arrangement for the handling of District estimates and appropriations was committed as a specific task to the council as a whole. This course was taken after Stengle had first proposed to give the job to Dr. Havenner. A new council is to be elected next month and unless Havenner calls the present council to meet again in the interim the meeting last night is the last the present council will hold.

The present arrangement, it was declared, permitted the District Commissioners "to go around and blame" the Budget Bureau for various lacks when criticism arises.

The surprise surplus of several millions of dollars, disclosed last year to the District's credit, had seriously impaired the efforts of civic leaders to get needed remedial legislation, council members declared in a general and somewhat informal discussion which followed.

Seek Number of Voters.

Stengle declared that the Citizens Advisory Council should take a positive attitude; that it had something more to do than merely to pass on bills which were introduced and should cease to be a negative factor in the handling of District legislation.

Roberts proposed and the council approved a request that the Census Bureau ascertain, in the 1930 census, just how many persons residing in Washington maintained voting residences elsewhere and exercised their voting privilege.

Probably without precedent was the council's action in expressing unanimously the hope that the civic associations would return Dr. George H. Richardson, one of the colored members, to office next month. "Dr. Richardson has been one of the most valuable members of the council and I hope he returns next year," Havenner said.

Thanks Given Hoover.

Roberts was instructed to draft an amendment to the utilities act, if not as a member of the council, "then as a citizen," incorporating the principles of the Blaine prudent investment theory for public utilities.

President Hoover was thanked for retaining Col. U. S. Grant 3d in his present post as head of the public buildings committee. All applications for changes in zoning should be referred to the council and to the neighborhood associations affected, the council said in another resolution. The architect's advisory council was thanked for its interest in helping the development of the city.

Park View Citizens Ask Chief Taken From Ranks

The new superintendent of Washington police to take the place of Maj. E. B. Hesse should come from the ranks of the police force, in the opinion of the Park View Citizens Association.

A motion was adopted by the association at a meeting last night recommending that this be done. Inability to select a suitable chief of police out of 1,400 men would be a reflection on the force, members of the association said. The association indorsed Fred S. Walker, a fellow member, to fill the vacancy on the Public Utilities Commission.

COURT BRIEF LINKS WALSH IN RUM RING

DUPLICITY PROVES FATAL

(United Press.)

Definite proof of Thomas "Fatty" Walsh's connection with a Cuban liquor ring, as revealed Tuesday, is contained in Cuban court documents, copies of which were filed with authorities here, it was learned yesterday.

Walsh, a former bodyguard of the late Arnold Rothstein, notorious New York gambler, was slain recently in a Coral Gables, Fla., hotel, as the result of efforts of certain persons to gain control of a large quantity of prepro-hibition American rye whisky, valued in this country at approximately $1,000,000, Federal investigators declared.

As a result of manipulations to gain control of the liquor, a New York business man lost $172,000, it was charged. Efforts of the New Yorker to recoup at least part of his losses by court action resulted in the inside story of the deal being made public.

Walsh Double-Crossed.

According to documents in possession of authorities, Walsh was first recognized as president of the liquor holding company in which the New Yorker had invested heavily. Later another man, for whom officials are searching to question in connection with Walsh's death, "illegally called a general stockholders' meeting," the documents charge, resulting in the ousting of Walsh and the election of the other man as president.

When the New Yorker asked for an accounting of his investment in the company he was subjected to a visit by Walsh "who was accompanied by an individual named Edward J. Martin, who in the United States is commonly known as Jack Diamond, and these individuals made great efforts to intimidate my principal," a brief filed by the New Yorker's lawyer with the courts charged.

The documents then related how the technical libel of $100 was filed against the liquor in order to remove the New Yorker from the deal. An appraisal was ordered by Cuban courts after agents for the New Yorker failed to protest the libel and the liquor, which the document said was valued in Cuba at more than $200,000, was appraised at $6,689.07.

The document charged officers of the company "did not want to pay an amount less than $300 to prevent loss of all their property."

New Yorker Eliminated.

The liquor was sold for the insignificant sum of $4,459.98, leaving the New Yorker completely out of the picture and out of his money.

Federal investigators said Walsh and several other persons, including an alleged rum runner, thus became the sole owners of the liquor worth at least $1,000,000 in this country.

A Cuban member of congress was involved in the deal, the documents charged, and investigators expressed belief that a meeting was called in Coral Gables by Walsh and others interested in the liquor, resulting in a quarrel and the shooting of Walsh.

The liquor involved in the deal is said to be on board a Cuban schooner which left Havana last Saturday, apparently headed for Nassau. No record of its arrival in Nassau has been received, so all Coast Guard boats in the south Florida and Gulf division were directed today to be on the lookout for it.

Brother Beneficiary Under Will.

The will of Leo A. Gertman, who died March 2, was filed for probate yesterday in the District Supreme Court and named his brother, George C. Gertman, local attorney, sole beneficiary and executor of the estate.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

NOBILE QUITS POST TO VINDICATE SELF

BLAMED FOR TRAGEDY

Rome, March 13 (A.P.).—Gen. Umberto Nobile, commander of the ill-fated Italia North Pole expedition, has resigned from the Italian Air Service in order to vindicate himself against the findings of a recent commission which blamed him in great measure for the tragic loss of the Italian dirigible.

The general, in a statement to the Associated Press, said that he was glad to resign in order to be absolutely free as a private citizen to vindicate the Italia expedition and to tell all the truth concerning it.

"The first intimation I had of the findings was publication by the official agency," the general declared. "I had no opportunity to be heard or to refute the charges of faulty maneuvering of the Italia or faulty composition of the crew. If the commission would have confronted me with the technical accusation, they could have been refuted. This affair is not yet concluded."

He added that he would continue work on his book, which will tell "the whole truth of the expedition.

As for his having been rescued first by the Swedish flier, Lundborg, Gen. Nobile said that he had nothing to add to what has already been published, namely, that Lundborg, after landing on the ice near the little red tent, had insisted upon his returning in order that he might help the rescue parties in their work.

The general said that he had never recognized the competence of the investigating committee members, and also that there was much to be doubted about their impartiality. He declared that he would spend the remainder of the year resting, as he was extremely tired, and that he would remain in Rome for a considerable time because of Senora Nobile, who has been ill for the past two months. Next year he expects to resume his course in aeronautical construction at the university of Naples, where he holds the rank of professor.

The news agency Stefani this afternoon made public an extract of the official bulletin of the aeronautic ministry announcing the general's resignation by royal decree of March 7.

Papal Delegate Here May Soon Get Red Hat

Rome, March 13 (A.P.).—The newspaper Giornale D'Italia today mentioned the name of Mgr. Fumasoni-Biondi, apostolic delegate at Washington, as a possible candidate for the cardinalate at the next consistory which probably will be at the end of April. Mgr. Fumasoni-Biondi is now in Rome for a brief rest.

The paper also says that the first solemn benediction "Urbi et Orbi" by the pontiff will be imparted on May 9, Ascension Day. This benediction "for the city and for the world" was formerly imparted by the Pope from the balcony of the chief basilicas of the city. The paper says the Pope probably will promulgate an encyclical to the world on that day.

Carlton, Home, Denies Radio Merger Reports

New York, March 13 (A.P.).—Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph Co., returned from England on the Olympic today. He went abroad recently to observe the results of the merger in England of radio and telegraph, but would not say whether he found it satisfactory.

Commenting upon the repeatedly denied rumor that a like merger was coming in America, Mr. Carlton said: "It is as remote as the moon from the earth. I can say for my company that nothing of this sort is even remotely apt to happen."

Chicago Bomb Damages Home of Track Owner

Chicago, March 13 (A.P.).—A powerful time bomb exploded last night at the entrance of the fashionable South Shore apartment building owned by John C. Schank, head of the Hawthorne race track. The explosion wrecked the vestibule and did other damage estimated at $1,000.

The bomb was the second aimed at the building. The first was on September 20, 1927. Schank, who occupies one of the first-floor apartments, could advance no motive.

Style Set by Wales Stirs London Tailors

London, March 13 (A.P.).—A startling new style set by the Prince of Wales last night was the main topic of conversation in the fashionable London West End today.

His highness appeared at the boys' boxing championship wearing a double-breasted dinner jacket, a soft shirt with soft cuffs, a soft turn-down collar, black bow tie and a gray checked pullover.

Tailors and outfitters generally agree that the prince's example is not likely to be widely followed. "It must be remembered," said one outfitter, "that the prince is a law unto himself. No other man would have the courage to appear in public in such attire, nor would the prince himself do so at any formal function."

Wisconsin House Links Amendments

Wants Equal Funds for Dry and Negro Provisions; Says One Helped Other.

Madison, Wis., March 13 (U.P.).—The Wisconsin Assembly passed a resolution today asking Congress to appropriate as much money for enforcement of the fourteenth amendment to the United States Constitution as it has for the eighteenth amendment.

The fourteenth amendment, which enfranchised the negro, provides that all persons born or naturalized in the United States are entitled to all the rights of citizenship, including the voting privilege. The second section provides that when the right to vote is denied to any persons within a State, the representation of that State in Congress shall be reduced proportionally.

Assemblyman Charles A. Budlong, author of the resolution, declared that many States are violating the second section. The resolution declares that "due to such violation of said section of the United States Constitution sufficient votes were mustered in Congress to pass over President Wilson's veto the so-called Volstead act." Adoption of the resolution was by a vote of 59 to 26. It goes to the State senate.

Cuba Investigates Mystery Airplane

Searchlight and Motor Hum Believed Clew to New Smuggling Plot.

Havana, March 13 (A.P.).—A mysterious finger of light which nightly sweeps the seas from a hidden sentry post on Cape Salinas, on Cuba's southern coast, and the hum of a nocturnal aviator's engine, reported over Havana suburban districts, were subject for a secret service investigation order by the government today.

Recalling that Cape Salinas offered safe landing for Cuban American filibustering expeditions in 1895 fishermen of the nearby village of Tunas de Zaza suggest that the mysterious searchlight is a beacon for the smugglers of narcotics and the knocked-down silks and satins which find their way into the Havana market despite customs vigilance.

It is only 200 miles from Cape Salinas to Havana, and police think that a plane may be running drugs and also light but valuable materials from the coastal vantage point to city consignees.

A Home That Takes Care of Itself

Pawnbroker Is Struck in Wrist; Policeman and Bandit Expected to Die.

Salt Lake City, Utah, March 13 (A.P.).—A robber who attempted to hold up two loan officers here today shot and wounded Walter Griffin, policeman, and Louis Grossman, pawnshop proprietor, and was probably fatally wounded himself before his capture. The robber gave his name as Frank Watson and said he lived in Denver.

Watson wounded Grossman in the wrist when the pawnbroker resisted the holdup of his shop and then rushed to the Eagle Loan office, where he attempted to hold up Nate Grossman, brother of Louis Grossman. Apparently losing his nerve, Watson fled and was pursued by Nate Grossman and Ben Rosen, one of whom shot him through the body. Patrolman Griffin accosted Watson a short time afterward and received a bullet wound in the abdomen.

Detectives found the robber in a rooming house later and he surrendered. Both Griffin and Watson are expected to die.

Little Granddaughter Visitor to King George

Bognor, England, March 13 (A.P.).—Tiny Princess Elizabeth, daughter of the Duke and Duchess of York, arrived at Craigwell House this evening to visit her grandfather. This is the first time she has seen King George since his illness.

During his long period of sickness she constantly asked for the king, but was told he was suffering from a cold and that she could not see him.

Pair Are Given Year In Neglect of Boy, 4

Man and Woman Are Found Guilty of Neglecting His Small Child.

Morehead, Ky., March 13 (A.P.).—A man and his housekeeper today faced prison sentences of one year each for the abandonment of the man's 4-year-old son. The boy was found two weeks ago plodding barefoot through ice and snow, eating such discarded food scraps as he could find and drinking water from wagon ruts on country roads.

The local humane society, which took the child in charge, reported that his legs were frozen from feet to knees. Pictures showing his condition were taken and were submitted to the jury by the prosecution as its appeal for a maximum sentence of five years for the man, Fred Tomlin, 45, and the woman, Marie Sheets, 40.

The jury deliberated four hours, members of the panel reporting that they agreed early on a verdict of guilty, but were at odds for a time as to punishment.

Plans have been made to send the child to an orphanage.

Holland, Mich, Closes To Hold Crop Prayers

Holland, Mich., March 13 (A.P.).—Business was slowed down here today in observance of the "day of prayer for crops," an annual ceremony here since pioneer days.

Schools were closed, most business houses and offices closed and work in some factories was suspended. Services were held in the churches.

PRICES MOVE AHEAD IN NERVOUS TRADING

OILS ARE MORE BUOYANT

New York, March 13 (A.P.).—Prices achieved higher levels throughout the list on the stock market today, but widespread nervousness over the possibility of higher Federal Reserve rediscount rates kept trading at a moderate pace.

An array of pleasing business developments, and an abundant supply of call money gave impetus to the forward movement, but with the New York Federal Reserve Bank meeting tomorrow again holding out the threat of a higher rediscount rate, and the prospect of another flurry in call money with the midmonth shifting of balances Friday, the rank and file declined to be drawn into the market.

There had been some talk of a rise in the Boston Reserve Bank's rate today, but Wall street was not surprised that it was left unchanged, as that bank's reserve ratio has recently risen from around 50 to more than 70 per cent. There was much guesswork as to the probable action of the New York Reserve directors tomorrow, but there was no penetration of the secrecy which the directors have maintained as to their intentions.

Street Expects Postponement.

Wall street, however, was inclined to the belief that a higher rate would be postponed until next week, when the midmonth settlements will be out of the way.

An increase in brokers loans is expected despite the reduced stock market activity and the recent sag in prices. Predictions of the higher loan total were based on the fact that the new Radio common stock, previously traded on a when-issued basis, had to be paid for this week. Call money again renewed at 7 per cent and fell to 6, but time money was scarce at its abnormally high rates. Little was available under 8 per cent for the 30-day maturity.

The weekly steel trade views reported increasing pressure for deliveries, despite the fact that mills are operating practically at capacity. Inability of mills to keep up with demands has in some centers handicapped makers of finished products. March promises to set another new record, both for daily and monthly ingot production.

Favorable Dividend Actions.

Further favorable dividend actions and earnings statements were reported. American Sugar Refining reported 1928 earnings of $7.60 per share, against $7.49 in 1927, although conditions in the industry remain unsettled. Michigan Central paid a $100 dividend, against $40 previously.

Steels, coppers and utilities led the advance. The Old Radio Stock sold up more than twelve points at one time, and the new stock was accumulated heavily. A block of 15,000 shares changing hands at 94, up more than 2 points, just before the close. Allied Chemicals, Victor, Johns Manville, eoples Gas, Commercial Investment Trust, Commercial Solvents, and Wright Aero mounted 6 to 9 points.

Oils displayed more buoyancy than for some time, reflecting the substantial drop in crude production as reported by the American Petroleum Institute, and the more optimistic attitude, taken toward the prospects of general curtailment. Mexican Seaboard and Houston Oil mounted 4 and 5 points, respectively, while Atlantic refining improved on rumors of a refinancing plan to be launched by the directors at their coming meeting, and Standard of New York advanced on further reports of negotiations for Vacuum.

Steel Shares Move Up.

In the steels, U. S. Steel and Bethlehem sold up about 4 and 5 points. Pacific Lighting was a strong point of the utilities, mounting 5 points to a new high on reports of negotiations for Southern California Gas. Calumet and Arizona led the coppers with a jump of more than 5 points.

Among the few soft spots was Rossia Insurance, which sold down 9 points at one time in profit taking on yesterday's gain of nearly 22 points but regained about half its loss. A. M. Byers lost 5 points.

In the commodities, cotton futures closed steady after absorption of considerable profit taking. Wheat sagged on better reports from the winter belt, and corn was also carried lower.

Foreign exchange rates were generally firmer, as the demand rate for sterling mounted 3-16 of a cent to $4...5 1-16. The Canadian dollar, however, fell to a new low for the year at 99.19¾ cents.

FEW FEDERAL BONDS SHOW GAIN AT CLOSE

FOREIGNS ARE IRREGULAR

New York, March 13 (A.P.).—The decline in the United States Government securities traded in on the bond market today attracted some buying and three of the seven issues closed the day with net gains. New lows for the year, however, were established by the Liberty first and fourth 4¼s and Treasury 3¾s of 1946-56. The volume of offerings fell off somewhat.

The general market continued its decline, and the Associated Press combined averages again touched new low levels for the year. More than a score individual issues, and the majority in the rails, closed at their cheapest prices of the year.

In the foreign section, Chile issues continued in supply at lower levels, but the 7s gained a point. Japan government securities improved in sympathy with an advance in the yen. Pirelli 7s, after several days of inactivity, were a spectacular performer, shooting up 4 points.

Anaconda Copper 7s ran up to 242 in sympathy with strength in the stocks and an advance in export copper. Alleghany Corporation 5s were firm. The steel issues were under pressure. Bethlehem refunding 5s dropped 2 points and Indiana Steel 5s, with a decline of a point, were at a new 1929 low. Colon Oil 6s were the feature of the oils, advancing on President Hoover's pronouncement for oil conservation. Dodge 6s were again under par, down more than 10 points from their high of a few months ago.

New lows for the year were established by Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4½s, Burlington refunding 4½s, Rock Island refunding 4s, Great Northern 7s, Kansas City Southern first 3s, Missouri Pacific 5s and New Haven refunding 4½s. New Haven convertible 6s advanced more than a point.

Utilities failed to share in the buying and sharp advances in their stocks. Montana Power 5s D were at their year's low, but International Telephone convertible 4½s gained fractionally. Western Union 6½s were under pressure and North American Edison 5s again established a new low for the year.

Four new issues were admitted to trading—Republic of Esthonia $3,989,000 banking and currency reform 7 per cent loan; Consolidated Agricultural loan, $25,000,000 interim receipts, 30-year 6½ per cent secured sinking fund gold bonds, series A; Chicago & Western Indiana Railroad, $176,000 additional consolidated mortgage 50-year gold 4 per cent bonds, and National Dairy Products Corporation, $1,200,000 additional 5¼ per cent gold debentures.

TRADING IRREGULAR ON STOCK EXCHANGE

Few Shares Gain Fractionally; Stronger Tone Is Displayed.

BANKERS MEET IN MAY

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Trading continued irregular on the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday, with stocks displaying little more strength than in Tuesday's market.

As the sole representative of the bank group, Washington Loan & Trust sold at 530, a net gain of 7 points over the level last recorded.

Other stocks moving fractionally forward were Potomac Electric 6 per cent preferred, which traded at 113¼; Potomac Electric 5½ per cent preferred, which brought 106¾; Security Storage, 121¼ to 122; Columbia Sand & Gravel preferred, 93¼ to 93½; Merchants Transfer & Storage preferred, 111.

After opening at 107⅞, Mergenthaler Linotype again moved to 108. Capital Traction lost more ground, falling to 102⅛. It opened at 103¼. Minor recessions were noted in Washington Railway & Electric preferred, at 98; Columbia Sand & Gravel preferred, 93¼; Federal-American Co. preferred, 103.

Capital Traction 5s led the trading in the bond division, $2,500 selling at 100½, while $2,000 Washington Railway & Electric 4s sold at 88⅛ and 88¼; $1,500 Washington Gas 5s, at 101⅛; $1,000 Potomac Electric 6s, 1953, 108⅛; $500 Georgetown Gas 5s at 101½.

Two Join Bankers' Committee.

James A. Soper, of the Lincoln National Bank, and John D. Leonard, of the Washington Savings Bank, yesterday were added to the program committee of the District of Columbia Bankers Association, at a meeting called to discuss preliminary arrangements for the June convention of the association at Montauk Point, Long Island.

C. H. Pope, of the Munsey Trust Co., general convention chairman, and E. J. McQuade, of Liberty National, secretary of the association, met with the committee. Earlier in the afternoon both had attended a meeting of the council of administration of the association, where the selection of a subject for the annual essay contest of the association was considered.

Leith Again May Be Candidate.

The board of governors of the Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, last night discussed plans to again place in nomination T. Hunton Leith, of the Security Savings & Commercial Bank, for a place on the executive council of the national organization at the June convention of the institute in Tulsa, Okla. Leith made an impressive run for this office in 1928. Last night's meeting of the board was held at association headquarters in the Becker Building. Only routine business was transacted.

Midyear Meeting Planned.

Miss Mabel V. Boyce, of the Washington Loan & Trust Co., and the women's committee of the Washington Chapter of the institute, are in charge of arrangements for the midyear open meeting of the chapter, Friday, March 22. Graduates of first-semester courses will at that time receive their certificates, and an entertainment will be presented by the women's committee.

Bank Governors to Meet.

The spring meeting of the governors of the Investment Bankers Association will convene in White Sulphur Springs the week of May 13, it was announced yesterday. Unlike the convention, this midyear meeting is strictly by invitation, attendance being limited to governors, committeemen, past governors and group chairmen. The governors will center attention on the association's legislative program, in view of the fact that 43 of the State legislatures are in session this year.

New Issue Oversubscribed.

An oversubscription of $48,000,000 to the new issue of 4¾ per cent Treasury certificates dated March 15 and maturing nine months later, was announced yesterday by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. The offering was for $475,000,000, and $523,000,000 in subscriptions were received before the close of business Tuesday. Secretary Mellon based the total subscription on reports of twelve Federal Reserve banks after the books had closed.

C. F. Burton Joins Board.

Announcement was made yesterday of the election of Clarence F. Burton to the board of directors of the Washington Mechanics Savings Bank. Mr. Burton, who will fill the place on the board left vacant by the recent death of R. H. Bagby, is a member of the local bar and a certified public accountant of the State of Nevada.

According to Vice President Thomas J. Groom, the board has declared its regular quarterly dividend of 4 per cent, payable April 1, to stockholders of record March 20.

Dividends Are Declared.

The regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent was declared by the board of directors of the Continental Trust Co. The dividend is payable on March 30 to shareholders of record at close of business March 25.

Announcement was also made yesterday that directors of the Federal Storage Co. have declared their regular quarterly dividend of $2 a share on the preferred stock of the company, payable April 15 to stockholders of record at the close of business March 30.

C. J. Bell Recovering.

Charles J. Bell, chairman of the board of directors of the American Security & Trust Co., who on Tuesday underwent an operation for mastoiditis at the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, yesterday was reported to be recovering rapidly. The operation was performed by Dr. William Mason.

New Cities Service Issue.

Public offering was made yesterday of a new issue of $50,000,000 Cities Service Co. 5 per cent gold debentures due 1969, the largest refunding operation of the year, by a banking group headed by Harris, Forbes & Co. in the East and Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., in the West. The debentures are priced at 97½ and interest and each $1,000 debenture will carry a warrant entitling the holder to purchase ten shares of common stock.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, March 13 (A.P.).—The Nitrogen Engineering Co. of New York is preparing plans for construction in the Soviet Union of a $10,000,000 factory to produce synthetic ammonia fertilisers. The Soviet government has closed a ten-year contract with the American firm which calls for technical assistance in construction and operation of the plant. Similar agreements for technical assistance in Soviet industry have been made with several American firms in the last two years.

A 100 per cent cash dividend, declared today on the common stock of the Michigan Central Railroad, will add, it is figured, $18,584,100 to the 1929 income of the New York Central Railroad, which owns 99 per cent of Michigan Central stock. This is equivalent to $4 a share on New York Central's stock.

Domestic consumption of crude rubber exceeded 40,000 tons in February for the fourth time in the history of the American rubber industry. The total was 41,594 tons, against 43,002 tons in January and 33,703 tons in February, 1928.

The National Metal Exchange will be closed on Good Friday, March 29, and the following Saturday.

C. V. Geran, New York, has purchased four rights to a membership on the New York Stock Exchange for $107,000 each, or $428,000 for the seat. This compares with a previous sale at $440,000 and with the top price of $625,000 before the exchange members voted to increase their numbers by 275.

Curtiss-Reid Aircraft Co., Ltd., controlled by Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Co., has let a contract for construction of an airplane plant adjoining its airport in Montreal, Canada, to have an annual capacity of between 350 and 400 planes.

Gordon Abbott, chairman of the board of the Old Colony Trust Co., of Boston, and a director of the General Electric Co., has been elected a director of the New York Central Railroad.

In carrying out its program of consolidating operations, the United States Rubber Co. plans to cease its footwear manufacturing operations at the New Haven (Conn.) plant of L. Candee & Co., said to be the oldest rubber company in the country and a U. S. Rubber subsidiary. A U. S. Rubber Co. unit at Melrose, Mass., also will be shut down and operations increased at Malden, Mass., to make up for the Melrose plant.

United Gas Co., Houston, Tex., has actively entered oil production with the purchase of 651 acres of leases, including a producing well, in the Refugio (Tex.) field from the Mission Drilling Co. Mission Drilling Co. will be operated as a subsidiary to drill wells for United Gas' other subsidiaries.

Stockholders of the Prudential Refining Co., Baltimore, have approved sale of the company's assets to the Marland Oil Co. for 110,000 shares of Marland common stock.

Stockholders of Postum Co., Inc., have voted to increase authorized capitalization to 6,000,000 shares from 5,000,000 to provide for acquisition of Certo Corporation, Rochester, N. Y.

The Globe Underwriters Exchange, Inc., is being launched here as an international holding company and investment trust for insurance stocks. Among sponsors of the company are officers and directors of the Rossia group of fire reinsurance companies. Edwin G. Sibels, president of the South Carolina Insurance Co., will be president of the Globe concern. An offering of 500,000 shares of no-par capital stock probably will be made next week.

The Sterchi Furniture interests, embracing retail stores in 41 cities and two manufacturing plants, are to be united into one corporation, headed by J. G. Sterchi, with headquarters in Knoxville, Tenn., it was reported today. Public financing is expected with the consolidation.

Kolster Radio Corporation announced that its British subsidiary, Kolster-Brandes, Ltd., has taken a ten-year lease on an additional plant adjoining its existing plant at Sidcup, England, together with a large tract of land adjoining both plants, to take care of expansion requirements.

Outboard Motors Corporation, a merger of Lakewood Motor Co., of Jackson, Mich., and Evinude Motor Co. and Elto Outboard Motor Co., of Milwaukee, is marketing tomorrow common and preferred stocks in the form of 102,400 units, priced at $27.50 a unit. Each unit consists of one class A convertible preference share and one share class B stock.

The old system under which all stock certificates sold by New York Stock Exchange firms had to be signed by a member of the firm will become obsolete on May 1. To the immense satisfaction of brokers who suffered from writer's cramp during the successions of 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 share days in recent months, the stock exchange committee on securities has approved a plan whereby this onerous task may be assigned to employes with power of attorney.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, March 13 (A.P.).—An opening advance on unfavorable weather reports and relatively firm Liverpool cable was followed by realizing on cotton today, later continued realizing and liquidation. May contracts, after selling up to 21.29, declined to 21.06, or 7 points net lower, but regained part of the loss and closed at 21.13. The general market closed steady, net 6 points higher to 6 points lower. Near months were relatively firm.

The market opened steady at an advance of 3 to 16 points. Active months sold 11 to 18 points above yesterday's closing quotations on covering or rebuying by trade sellers combined with some trade and commission house demand. This apparently was promoted by firmer Liverpool cables than expected and an unfavorable weather map suggesting further delays to farm work.

March sold up to 21.27 and the new October contract to 20.82. The initial buying movement was supplied by continued realizing or liquidation and the market soon turned easier. Unfavorable weather reports for today seemed to be practically offset by a more encouraging weekly weather review than expected. Failure of bullish features to stimulate a more general demand promoted reactionary sentiment.

Prices sold off to 21.09 for March and 20.30 for the new October contract, or about 1 to 8 points net lower. The decline was checked by trade buying of old crop months as they approached the low levels of yesterday. Later fluctuations were rather nervous and irregular. Closing prices showed rallies of 3 to 8 points from the lowest of most positions. Some of the buying reports were supposed to be in anticipation of large figures on domestic consumption for February from the Census Bureau tomorrow. Private cables reported general buying and covering in Liverpool on unfavorable weather news. They also said there was moderate cloth demand from India, but that business in cotton yarns was restricted, with spinners losing ground.

Export today, 5,257; making 6,550,623 this season. United States port stocks, 1,871,504.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, March 13 (A.P.).—Quick general seizing of profits on a price bulge in the wheat market today brought values down to a lower level at the finish. The temporary flowing of wheat strength was of a pronounced character, and was associated with the fact that the market had become bare of offerings, largely as a result of continued unfavorable aspects of the crop outlook, domestic and foreign alike.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, ½c to 1c net lower, with corn ½c to ⅝@⅞c down, oats at ⅜@⅝c decline to a shade advance, and provisions varying from 10c setback to a rise of 2c.

Nervousness pervaded the wheat trade today from beginning to end. At the outset, prices here were irregular, but sellers had an advantage owing to the circumstance that the Liverpool market had made practically no response to sharply upturned yesterday on this side of the Atlantic. However, persistent buying developed during early declines today in Chicago and Kansas quotations. Meanwhile, friends of higher prices made much of the fact that official advices today confirmed reports of crop damage done by blowing of soil in the western third of Kansas and in southwestern Nebraska, as well as noting many complaints of alternate thawing and freezing in certain portions of United States winter wheat territory.

Rallies which then took place hoisted the wheat market here to more than 2c a bushel above today's bottom figures, but withstanding that welcome rains were reported over the greater part of the domestic winter wheat belt. Accelerating the activity was a general opinion at one point to likelihood of widespread crop damage being disclosed both in this country and abroad on account of unusually severe winter conditions, together with existing moisture shortage in Canada and adverse prospects for wheat yields of India and Australia. Word of large deliveries of wheat at Liverpool and of liberal tenders of wheat from Argentina, though, were bearish factors, and with domestic rains and snowfalls mild temperatures did much to give impetus to the late rush which holders made to grab profits today while the grabbing was good.

Corn for a fluctuating while fell into selling on small rallies, most of the speculative interest now centering on wheat. Kansas City sold 55,000 bushels more corn to come here. Oats swayed lower, sympathizing with corn.

Provisions also were easier on account of downturns in the value of hogs.

BANK PLAN ASSURED OF GERMAN SUPPORT

Dr. Schacht Returns From Berlin Anxious to End Reparation Work.

ANNUITY STILL PROBLEM

Paris, March 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Hope that the Young committee may definitely settle the size and number of Germany's reparations annuities increased today with the return from Berlin of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, head of the German delegation. Dr. Schacht went home to be present at his daughter's wedding, but after the ceremony was in conference with members of the German government.

He is reported to have received encouragement in Berlin to finish the bargain with Germany's creditors and to try to reach a definite settlement on the annuities.

Dr. Schacht also brought back to the committee, which was in session this afternoon, word that the plan for the creation of an international bank to handle the reparations settlements is acceptable to Germany, despite criticism of it in the Nationalist press.

The experts are deliberately moving slowly in settling the details of the bank plan. Sir Josiah Stamp, of the British delegation, today submitted a report on how the bank could be constituted sufficiently complete to provide the essentials of a final draft. But the experts want to fit into it exact details of how it will collect and distribute reparations and those details are in large measure dependent upon the final reparations figures themselves.

In Germany the figure of $355,000,000 is being discussed as a tentative annuity but Dr. Schacht has not so far made any offer as high as that.

The report submitted by Sir Josiah Stamp is being carefully studied and will be further discussed at the next plenary session, to be held Friday.

Meanwhile, efforts to get Germany and her creditors to agree on a compromise annuity figure will be continued in informal conversations.

Col. James F. Coupal, Army Medical Corps, now relieved from duty as personal physician to former President Coolidge, will report to the Army Medical School as a student and revert to his permanent rank of major.

He has been given a four months' leave of absence, beginning March 12, with permission to visit foreign countries.

Minister in Kresge Marriage Is Cleared

Conference Drops Case on Statement He Did Not Know of Divorce.

Philadelphia, March 13 (United Press).—The charges against the Rev. Benjamin C. Dahnes, of Mountain Home, Pa., growing out of his officiating at the marriage of Sebastian S. Kresge, chain-store owner, and Clara K. Swain, a few months ago, were dismissed today by a committee of the Philadelphia Methodist Episcopal Conference.

The Rev. Mr. Dahnes appeared before the committee which was named to investigate charges that in marrying Kresge, a divorced person, he had violated the rule of the church against ministers remarrying the offending party in a divorce action. He explained that when he performed the ceremony he did not know he was violating any rule of the church and that he knew little as to Kresge's identity. The committee dismissed the case.

Rivals Loom For Title of Loughran

Braddock and Lomski Harder Hitters Than Class Champion.

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, March 13 (A.P.).—It may turn out to have been only a little static, but the radio conferences credited to Tommy Loughran hardly can be classified as music to soothe the savage spirit, if any, of the heavyweights are jockeying for position in the big championship derby of 1929.

Tommy avers he will turn his attention to these "bums"—or, more specifically, Herr Max Schmeling, Sailor Jack Sharkey and Senor Paulino Uzcudun—after attending to the more familiar business of fighting Mickey Walker, Leo Lomski and James J. Braddock in defense of the world's heavyweight title.

It is such things as this, an observer mourns, that lower the scholarly level of the fistic business.

Tommy May Have Hands Full With Men of Own Weight.

Regardless of what attitude Loughran may take toward the heavyweight contenders, the point seems to be that the usually mild-mannered and softspoken Philadelphian has his hands full in his own division of 175-pounders, not to mention the challenge of the middleweight contender, Mickey Walker.

Mickey has always delighted in going out of his class to pick on heavier rivals. He fought Harry Greb and Mike McTigue when he was a welterweight. Now that he has grown into the middle class no handicap in poundage is too big for the "toy bulldog" who has held one championship or another longer than any boxer now in active competition.

Even if he disposes of Walker in Chicago, Loughran will hardly be a convincing favorite to repulse Lomski or Braddock. Both of these challengers can hit considerably harder than Loughran. Tommy will admit this, so far as Lomski is concerned. He would not underestimate Braddock if he had seen the upstanding Jersey man stalk Jimmy Slattery the other night until he brought him down. Braddock put Slattery down in nine rounds, something Loughran could not do in fifteen.

Celtics and Guards Winners In South Atlantic Tourney

115-POUND CLASS—Jewish Community Center, 27; Frenchy Arcadians, 17.

130-POUND CLASS—Curtin Wonders, 35; Washington Preps, 2. Boys Club Standards, 39; St. Mary's Celtic Juniors, 24.

145-POUND CLASS—Calvary Reds, 24; Petworth Mets, 23.

UNLIMITED CLASS—St. Mary's Celtics, 49; Naval Air Station, 34. Company E, D. N. G., 43; Trinity M. E., 25.

THE Calvary Reds and the Petworth Mets, rival church teams, supplied the feature of last night's program in the South Atlantic championship tournament which The Washington Post is staging at the George Washington Gymnasium. These teams clashed in a point-for-point battle that had the spectators on their feet from start to finish. Three points was the biggest margin either team had during the 40 minutes of the contest, and it was only as the game closed that the Calvary Quintet nosed ahead to take the contest.

However, there was enough action in the other games to satisfy the large group of fans present.

In the unlimited class the St. Mary's Celtics, of Alexandria, survived at the expense of the Naval Air Station Five and Company E, of the District National Guards, won second round spurs by defeating the Trinity M. E. Church Five.

In the 130-pound class, the Curtin Wonders, one of the favorites, held the Washington Preps without a field goal, while the Boys' Club Standards advanced to the second round at the expense of the St. Mary's Celtic Juniors.

The Jewish Community Center placed its third team in the second round when the 115-pounder won over the Frenchy-Arcadians.

Sawyer Leads Company E to Victory Over Trinity.

Tom Sawyer, former American U. star, led the Company E Team of the National Guard to a 43-to-25 victory over the Trinity M. E. Five in the second unlimited contest. Sawyer not only led his team in scoring with 18 points, but played a brilliant defensive game. Lee Glascock made 14 points for the Guards, Zier and King did the best work for the Churchmen.

Trinity could never make up the ground it lost in the first quarter in which the Guards piled up a 12-3 lead. The Churchmen fought hard all the way, however.

Unlimited class—K. of C. vs. Mount Vernon, 10 o'clock.

The Sailors gave the more seasoned Celtic players a real battle throughout. Watson and Briese were the offensive stars and Harmon played a good floor game. Despite his error in shooting a goal for the Sailors, Dreifus was one of the big cogs in the Celtic scoring machine. Clarke and Colliflower contributed heavily to the winning cause, and Zimmerman looked well both on the defense and offense.

The Celtics are one of the favorite contenders for the unlimited title and the Naval Airmen's showing came as an unexpected surprise.

Davidson's Goal in Last Minute Eliminates Met 145-Pounders.

In one of the fastest and hardest-fought games of the tournament to date, the Calvary Reds eliminated their rivals, the Petworth Mets, from the 145-pound title quest, 24-to-23. So spirited was the scrimmaging that neither team enjoyed more than a two-point lead at any one time and four times during the final quarter the lead alternated.

It was Ray Davidson's basket in the last minute of play that turned the tide to the Reds after Jasper had put the Mets in front a minute previous with a neat goal.

The initial quarter ended in a 5-all deadlock. Mets were leading, 11-to-9, at the half and 17-to-16 at the three-quarter mark. Maxwell, Blanchard and Davidson were the outstanding performers for the victors. Heinrichs, Jasper and Starns played the principal roles for the losers.

Wonders Smother Preps In 130-Pound Class, 35 to 2.

Giving an exhibition of what a well-drilled team can do, the Curtain Wonders completely smothered the Washington Preps in the 130-pound contest, 35 to 2. Not until the last fleeting minutes of the final quarter were the Preps able to find the basket. Kane twice looped the ball through the rim from the free toss mark to prevent a generous whitewashing.

With Castell and Kessler leading the offense and Shapiro shining on the defense, the Wonders demonstrated their strength which had made them favorites from the start of the tourney. Jefferies played a splendid game for the losers. It was his work that prevented the winners from running up an even larger score.

Tall Boys Club 130-Pounders Triumph Over Alexandrians.

An overhead passing attack enabled the Boys' Club Standards to win over St Mary's Celtic Juniors, of Alexandria, 39 to 24, in the second 130-pound battle. The victors presented a tall, rangy crew, who not only took advantage of its effective overhead game, but also presented too formidable a de-

Paulino Signs to Fight For Garden for Year

New York, March 13 (A.P.).—Paulino Uzcudun, the Spanish angle of the heavyweight triangle most favored to produce the next champion, placed his near future tonight in the hands of the Madison Square Garden Corporation. He signed a contract giving the Garden exclusive right to his professional services for one year.

The signing of Paulino gave the Garden a virtual monopoly on the three heavyweights which William Carey, successor to Tex Rickard, plans to set at one another next summer in a brief series of outdoor spectacles calculated to produce a new heavyweight king. With Jack Dempsey all but counted out of active glove slinging, the Garden believes that the field of contenders has narrowed down to Uzcudun, Jack Sharkey, of Boston, and the socking German reproduction of Dempsey, Max Schmeling.

The tentative line-up of the tangent now under the Garden wing will bring Sharkey and Uzcudun together in the first major battle of the open air season at the Yankee Stadium June 27.

Yanks Pound Ball to Beat Braves

Open Annual Series by Winning, 6-3, Despite Lary's Errors.

Rookie Redeems Self at Bat; Byrd Hits Home Run.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The Yanks looked like themselves again today in two busy innings of the opening game of the Sunshine City championship series with the Boston Braves. Sam Byrd hit a home run in the second with a man on, and Lou Gehrig slipped a three-bagger in ahead of three line singles in the eight for three more runs. This combination of wallops was enough to bring Henry Johnson and Gordon Rhodes, the Huggins pitchers, home in front, though they were hampered by errors. The score was 6 to 3.

But for misplays, the Yankee pitchers would have shut out the Bostonians. Lyn Lary made two of these errors, and Col. Jacob Ruppert, watching from a ringside seat, appeared to have sad memories of $100,000 he passed out for the youngster. But when, somewhat later in the fray, Lary came through with a double and a single to help in the scoring of the tying and winning runs for the Yanks, the sadness disappeared like the clouds after this morning's rain. The verdict seems to be that Lary will do, both as a shortstop and a hitter.

Cardinals Score 10 runs in Sixth to Swamp Red Sox.

Bradenton, Fla., March 13 (A.P.).—A batting rampage in the sixth inning that netted ten runs, including a homer by Hafey, gave the St. Louis Cardinals an easy victory over the Boston Red Sox, American League Club, here this afternoon, 13 to 3. Billy Bayne, former Brownie southpaw, was the victim of the Cardinal onslaught. He was taken out after the Cardinals had batted around.

Glenn Wright's Arm Improved; Yannigans Beat Robins, 4-3.

Clearwater, Fla., March 13 (U.P.).—Max Carey returned from Miami, Fla., today and reported that Glenn Wright, star shortstop who went there to have his shoulder treated, is working out and that he believes Wright will be in good condition in two weeks.

The Regulars defeated the Yannigans in a practice game today, 4 to 3. Clark, Elliott and Dudley pitched for the

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, March 13.—Gregory S. Mangin, of Georgetown University, thirteenth ranking national singles player of 1928, has been seeded with other tennis notables, including Jean Borotra, of France, in the draw for the national indoor tennis championships which will open Saturday.

Mangin will not participate until the first round is finished. Only William Aydelotte, defending singles champion, will represent the seeded contingent in the first round, being scheduled to face R. W. Talmadge Saturday morning.

Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, veteran Davis Cup player, has been placed at the head of the seeded list, followed by Aydelotte and Julius Seligson, Lehigh University star, who was runner-up last year. J. Gilbert Hall, of Orange, N. J., Canadian title holder, is in fourth place.

The other Americans on the seeded list are, besides Mangin, Herbert L. Bowman, Lawrence Kurzrok and Merritt Cutler.

Millionaire to Second Demave in Tampa Bout

Tampa, Fla., March 13 (A.P.).—A millionaire flapping a towel in the face of a pugilist is the spectacle promised spectators at the Benjamin Field Arena here Friday night. The financier is Harry McCormack, of New York, and the boxer Jack Demave, the huge blonde Dutch heavyweight, who will meet Tony Fuente, in the main bout of the weekly boxing card. McCormack is said to have made money out of real estate on Long Island.

McCormack purchased Demave's contract some time ago.

Fighter Takes the Count On Recoil of Bad Check

Philadelphia, Pa., March 13 (United Press).—Billy Wallace, lightweight prize fighter of Cleveland, Ohio, today was suspended by the Pennsylvania State Boxing Commission for allegedly giving the commission a worthless check as a forfeit. He will not be permitted to fight in Pennsylvania until the check and protest fee are made good.

Tilden to Arrive Here Today; Titles of 3 Nations His Aim

WILLIAM T. ("BILL") TILDEN 2D, most prominent figure in the tennis world for the past decade, will arrive in Washington today and immediately commence indoor practice on the newly laid out courts in McKinley High School's new gymnasium in preparation for the exhibition matches scheduled there Saturday night, in which Francis Hunter, John Hennessey and Johnny Van Ryan, other ranking stars, will also play.

Paul Harding, member of the committee in charge of the exhibition program and whose guest Tilden will be while here, stated last night that the Nation's ranking star will come here with two intentions paramount. One is to avenge a recent defeat sustained at the hands of Van Ryan in the Brooklyn indoor championships and the other to prepare for a campaign which he hopes will bring him the English, French and United States singles championships this season.

"An opportunity to see so many of the ranking tennis players of the country in action here," Harding said, "has never been afforded Washington's tennis followers. It is probable that all four will represent the United States in the Davis Cup matches this summer and it is probable that such an opportunity will not soon be presented to local fans."

His appearance here will be the first of a series of engagements that will carry Tilden into every important tournament of the 1929 season. Following the national indoor tournament he and Hunter will sail for Europe to compete in the English championships at Wimbledon, and the French title matches at Paris.

Hunter, Hennessey and Van Ryan are expected here from Florida on Friday. Pairings for the exhibition matches will not be made until then. It is almost assured, however, that Tilden and Hunter will face the more youthful stars in the doubles match; Tilden will meet Van Ryan and Hunter will face Hennessey in the two singles engagements. No matches involving local players will be scheduled.

Farrell-Sarazen Team To Oppose Hagen-Diegel

Miami, Fla., March 13 (A.P.).—Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen took a firmer grip on their chances for retaining the championship of the international four-ball matches today, defeating Willie Macfarlane, West Chester, N. Y., and Harry Hampton, Key West and Chicago, by a decisive 6 and 5 score on the thirteenth hole of their afternoon round.

Hagen and Diegel closed their match with Turnesa and Ciuci at the seventeenth hole, with a 2 and 1 score, to enter the finals against the defending champions tomorrow.

Nurmi to Attempt Five Records in One Race

New York, March 13 (A.P.).—Paavo Nurmi, always before phlegmatic and retiring, is going in for the spectacular. He announced today that he would undertake to break five world records in one race Saturday night and then would resort to airplane travel to meet running engagements ranging from here to Los Angeles.

After his record attempt at the Knights of Columbus games at Madison Square Garden Saturday, Nurmi is to run an exhibition at Hamilton, Ontario, March 20. He then plans to reach the Pacific Coast in time for the Los Angeles A. C. games, March 23, with the help of a plane.

This will be the first outdoor appearance of his present tour. The air route may again be used to carry Paavo to the Texas relays at Austin, March 29. It is also understood that Nurmi is booked to run at Hartford next Monday, before going to Canada, and in the Penn relays at Philadelphia, April 26 and 27.

The records on which Paavo has designs in his last-scheduled New York race are for 3 miles, 5,000 meters, 3½ miles, 3¾ miles and 4 miles.

Mutuel Bill Passed By Arkansas Senate

Little Rock, Ark., March 13 (A.P.).—The house bill by Speaker Abington to legalize horse racing and parimutuel betting in Arkansas was passed by the senate tonight, 17 to 16. The measure is now ready for Gov. Parnell.

Opponents sought by a filibuster to delay action, but it was broken after a little more than three hours.

A charge was made by Senator Quarles, of Phillips County, on the floor of the senate late today that he had been offered $1,000 to vote for the bill.

Passage of the bill was the culmination of ten years of efforts by friends of racing to restore the sport in the State, and if Gov. Parnell signs the measure, the Oaklawn track, at Hot Springs, will be opened as soon as it becomes effective, it was announced.

Almost the Naked Truth

By JAMES S. COLLINS

NEW YORK, March 13.—When Glenn Wright, the shortstop whom the Robins obtained from the Pirates in trade for Jess Petty and Harry Riconda, checked in at Clearwater with his shoulder muscles all in a snarl, Wilbert Robinson instantly suspected that Barney Dreyfus knew he was peddling damaged goods when he put Wright on the block. He has asked President Heydler to investigate and to cancel the trade if he finds that the Pittsburgh Club was aware last December of Wright's disability.

Cases of this kind have been fairly numerous in baseball. The most recent developed late in the 1927 season, when the Phils traded their pitching ace, Hal Carlson, to the Cubs for Jimmy Cooney and Tony Kaufmann. The Phils were terribly, terribly hurt to find that Kaufmann was useless on account of a sore pitching arm and that Cooney, judging from his feebleness at bat, was practically stone blind. William F. Baker, the Phillies' owner, emitted a fearful squawk, but exercise of the vocal cords was all it got him.

Zeider's Famous Bunion Of 1913 Caused a Howl.

Loud as it was, however, his wail of protest was but a sigh in comparison with the agonized screeching of the New York Yankees that followed the trade of Hal Chase to the White Sox for Rollie Zeider and Babe Borton in 1913. Zeider reported to his new owners with a bunion as big as the star Betelgeuse. Such a row developed that the Balkan states stopped fighting among themselves for the first time in centuries in order to listen.

Zeider's bunion became as famous a physiological property as Long John Silver's wooden leg, Kaiser Wilhelm's withered arm or Gene Tunney's swelled head. Young fathers examined the feet of their first-born for bunions before they would start passing around

Johnson Gains Respite for Veteran

Must Accept $1,000 Boost This Morning Or Be Suspended.

Hadley Takes Mound Against Cardinals in Game Today.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

TAMPA, Fla., March 13.—President Clark Griffith of the Nationals today issued an ultimatum to "Sad Sam" Jones to sign his contract before the sun rises again or be suspended, but the only person deeply moved by this declaration was Manager Walter Johnson.

Griffith's warning was lost entirely upon Jones, who made no move in the direction of signing, and Johnson, already handicapped by the shortage of pitchers at the camp, intervened to the extent of persuading the club owner to allow the veteran until tomorrow to "pump or let go of the handle." Tonight Jones was still sticking by his guns and showed little interest in the announcement.

"I have made Jones the best offer the club can afford to pay him," said the Nats owner. "Although the club lost money last year and some of the loyal players realized this and met me half way when the time came to talk contracts, Jones is taking the opposite stand. I offered him a raise of $1,000 for his good work last year, but he wants still more and will not get it."

Jones is letting Griffith do all the talking, and the only comment he has to make regarding the salary discussion is that he considers his demands fair and that he will not sign at a figure less than what he considers his services are worth.

Griffith Wasting No Sentiment, With 1928 Row Fresh in Mind.

"Sad Sam Jones" was a hard fellow for Griffith to reason with last season, finally signing for $10,000 and reporting late after some lengthy and frequent correspondence. At the same time Griffith gave in largely because Jones was just joining the club, having been obtained after all other clubs had waived on him and the Nats' owner wanted to encourage him to get off to a good start in his new uniform. It is different this year, however, and unless Jones agrees to accept the $11,000 offered, he probably will have to take considerably less after he has been suspended a while and had time to think matters over.

Catcher Cliff Bolton, who was due on February 25 but has been detained at his home at Ashboro, N. C., because of an attack of influenza and tonsilitis, reported to Manager Johnson today and worked out this morning. He is a stocky, heavily built lad of 20 summers, who had a hitting average of .468 with the High Point Team of the Piedmont League last year, his first in the professional game. His previous experience was on the sandlots of High Point.

Bolton's arrival worked wonders with Catcher Ed Kenna's injured thumb. Ed watched his mates drill in the morning with his arm in a sling. This afternoon the sling was discarded and the finger apparently was much better.

Hadley, Campbell, Cantrell Oppose Cardinals Today.

For the next two days the Nationals will be busy at Avon Park, where they meet the St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow and Friday. Irving Hadley, Archie Campbell and Guy Cantrell will pitch for Johnson's team.

Cantrell gave a sample of his work against the Tampa Smokers here Sunday, granting, three hits in as many innings, but pitching shut-out ball, and incidentally fanning four. Hadley and Campbell have yet to show how their wings are developing, although both have looked mighty good in practice.

Campbell is giving indications of real worth and some of the experts at the camp declare that he will be a regular during the coming season. He has a good curve ball, it is said, although he is not yet being allowed to prove it, has fair speed and, above all, is rated as "smart." His showing tomorrow will be watched with interest.

Bool's Wigwagging of Signals Under Gharrity's Official Eye.

CHEAP FIELDS AND UPSETS MARK MIAMI'S CLOSE

Malley Pilots 2 Mounts To Victory

Scores With Vole and Strong Tackle as Meeting Ends.

Horses Go to Keeney Park for Opening of Meet Today.

HIALEAH RACE TRACK, Miami, March 13 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The curtain fell on the log racing season of the Miami Jockey Club at Hialeah this afternoon. Fields were small, horses cheap and form reversals frequent. Tommy Malley rode his forty-second winner of the meeting when he brought Strong Tackle home in front, winning by a neck from the Arden Farm's Sunfast in the event for 4-year-olds at 5½ furlongs that had the place of honor on the card.

Malley usually takes the long way around, but today he sent Strong Tackle through on the rail at the head of the stretch and this won for him. Five went to the post, and Sunfast and the Seagram stable's Kai Shek, who finished third, raced together to the stretch turn, where they bore out enough to let Strong Tackle through. The time was 1:07 3-5.

Malley scored a double and increased his total to 43 winners, booting Vole home in the closing event of the meeting, a mile and a half affair for 3-year-olds and upward. Vole won easily from Billy Baughn, with Alita Allen third.

Weather conditions were almost ideal and a crowd of about 7,500 turned out for a last chance to get even.

Scene Shifts to Keeney Park Today For 15-Day Meet.

The scene of racing will shift tomorrow to Keeney Park, halfway between St Augustine and Jacksonville, where a fifteen-day meeting will be held. This plant was built three years ago by Frank Keeney, the New York theatrical man, but never was opened because of the opposition to operating under the pari-mutuel system.

A number of the horses that have been racing here will perform at the meeting, though fields will be smaller than at Hialeah. Six races have been carded for the opening day with the Ponce de Leon Hotel Handicap, $2,000 added, for 3-year-olds and upward, at 1 1-16 miles as the feature. Tutti Frutti is down to carry top weight of 126 pounds and gives weight to Boris, second in the Florida Derby, Congo II, Euphrates, Blandris and Golden Volt.

Betting will be under the oral system, the same as here, and it is expected that about twenty-five books will "cut in."

Sweet Lacrue, at 10 to 1, Wins As Favorite Players Suffer.

It was getaway day here and the usual upsets occurred. One of these was Sweet Lacrue. She ran yesterday and could not untrack herself, but today Carey Winfrey ran her in blinkers and she went to the front and never was headed. She was backed at 10 to 1.

Favorites fared badly for the most part. Black Bart was heavily backed in the event at 1 1-16 miles, but trailed to the furlong pole, where he made a belated rush to finish third to Ephesian and Golden Tinted. Ephesian won by half a dozen lengths after following the pace to the head of the stretch. It was his second victory of the week. P. S. F. Randolph's Circumference picked up a purse in the third event, beating Cupid's Dart, the favorite, half a length after a hard drive.

About a hundred horses were shipped from here to Keeney Park this morning.

ST. MARTIN'S FIVE WINS.

Led by Parkhill and Wheeler, St. Martin's 100-pound quintet last night defeated Epiphany tossers, 38 to 11, in Epiphany gym. The winners completely outclassed their opponents. Clark was the star of the losing attack.

SNAKE BITE moved up in resolute fashion rounding the far turn to assume an easy lead entering the home stretch. She weakened the last furlong and, under hard driving at quarter, held on to stall off GUARANY. Latter closed gamely and was gradually wearing the leader down. COMPENSATION, outrun in early stages, closed a big gap. LADY LOOSE was given a poor ride; threw her race out. LEO showed early speed, but could not carry it further than five furlongs.

SECOND RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,000; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won ridden out; place, driving. Went to post at 2:53. Off at 2:54. Winner, G. C. Winfrey's br. g. SWEET LACRUZ was hurried to the front in rounding first turn and drew away into a commanding lead entering the back stretch. Knight rated him along under slight restraint and a had a bit in reserve when MANUELITA challenged at the furlong pole. Latter hung after making a determined effort and was under a hard drive to outlast POLAR SEA. Malley rode a confident race on latter. Trailed along until straightened out in home stretch when POLAR SEA closed with a belated rush and was going two strides to the leader's one at the finish.

CIRCUMFERENCE, outrun in early stages, trailed the leader to the top of the home stretch, where he was taken to outside, closed with good courage and in final drive outlasted CUPID'S DART. Latter was permitted to drop back first half, saved ground entering home stretch and finished next the inside rail where the footing was a bit soft. SETH'S STRANGER was made entirely too much of, raced into a long lead, but collapsed when challenged. RED CURL trailed her field entire trip and was only galloping all the way.

EPHESIAN, in close pursuit of the pace, was rated under slight restraint first half. He moved into an easy lead rounding the far turn and drew away without effort last quarter. He was only galloping at end. GOLDEN TINTED quickest to begin, outrun his field to first turn. He weakened after going five furlongs and just managed to last long enough to stagger home in front of BLACK BART. Latter, only galloping until final furlong, finished stoutly when let down. MY SON moved up on inside on back stretch and was sharply cut off at far turn and dropped out of it.

STRONG TACKLE forced the early pace but was eased up rounding the far turn, came through the inside at stretch turn and outlasted SUN FAST in final drive. Latter showed lot of early speed, but made a wide turn entering home stretch, where he carried KAI SHEK very wide. The field was sent away to a moving start and Pichon was unprepared and KAI SHEK was away very slowly. He moved up with a rush rounding far turn and with racing luck would have won. MIMIC was a trailer entire trip.

20 TO START IN COFFROTH HANDICAP

Genie, Top Weight, to Be Choice Sunday in $130,000 Race.

SAN DIEGO, March 13 (A.P.—Twenty or more starters are expected in the tenth annual renewal of the Coffroth Handicap at the Tia Juana race track Sunday. The $130,000 event is the world's richest stake race.

The future-book favorite is Gifford A. Cochran's Genie, scheduled to carry top weight of 126 pounds. Genie will be ridden by the New York riding luminary, Willie Kelsay. He probably will have the Man o'War mare, Valkyr, as a running mate.

Other entries include Senator Johnson N. Camden's giant Kentucky horse, Hydromel; W. H. Hoffman jr.'s Sankari, the Three D. Stable's Handy Mandy and Vermajo, Harry Unna's Golden Prince, George W. Coburn's Penalo, Alexander Pantages' Alexander Pantages, owned by and named for the theatrical magnate; Sanford, of the Rosedale Stable; Scimitar and Wirt G. Bowman, owned by the border sportsman, James N. Crofton; W. R. Coe's Algernon, Voltear, of the Nevada Stock Farm; Naishapur, owned by the young Los Angeles publisher, Chaffee Earl; W. G. Yanke's Longridge; J. A. Parsons' Quick Return, Henry Dattner's Oh Say, Hamilton Cotton's Listo and Rudolph Speckles' Soother.

Sonnenberg-McCarthy Mat Bout at Auditorium

The Washington Auditorium will be the site of the Gus Sonnenberg-Pat McCarthy wrestling melee Monday night, it has been announced by Joe Freeman. The spacious auditorium was obtained in order that the anticipated large crowd could be easily handled.

McCarthy, who tangles with the heavyweight champion here Monday night, is one of the topnotchers in the game and claims the English championship. He weighs 236 pounds.

Promoter Freeman believes that Monday night's affair will go over with a smash here, as it marks the first time that a wrestling match of such importance was ever offered District fans.

Two excellent events between lighter wrestlers will be offered as secondary features. One of these bouts will possibly present Joe Turner against a first-rate middleweight.

while giving signals to the pitcher. At St. Petersburg yesterday Bool flashed his signals all over the field, but he proved to be an apt scholar and declares that he will be so careful in the future that even his pitcher will have trouble seeing them.

Bobby Burke showed all interested that he is fast rounding to form when he granted the Braves but one hit in three frames yesterday. This lanky southpaw will be there or thereabouts when the gong rings.

The trip to Avon Park tomorrow will be made by bus. All hands are ordered to report at 9 o'clock and they will not reach their destination until about noon, as the Cardinals' camp is more than 70 miles away. A ride of this length, with the players packed in like sardines, will not make the boys play any better in the afternoon.

Lead Changes In District League

Losers Wilt Badly in Last 2 Games After Strong Start.

THE King Pin Bowling Team, which holds the national championship, looked like anything but a championship aggregation last night as Convention Hall's Five took three straight games on the former team's home alleys and virtually clinched its third straight District League championship. Hap Burtner's Hall crew is now two full games in front with more than 700 points advantage in the total pinfall column.

Howard Campbell's team entered the crucial match with a one-game lead and looked like a sure winner in the first setto as the ninth box was reached. At this stage, the Hall Five unleashed an assault on the pins that took all of the fight out of its rivals for the remainder of the match.

Jack Wolstenholme contributed a double-header strike in the last two boxes. Burtner followed with a spare in the ninth, and Red Megaw picked up 35 pins in the final two boxes. Work kept up the good work with two spares and the first game was in the bag by a twenty-pin margin.

Wolstenholme's 379 Set High Score of Match.

King Pins did not threaten seriously after that first game. Bernie Frye and Arthur Logan were the only members of the team up to standard. Howard Campbell, the national all-events champion, failed to hit his stride. He and Jack Whalen, respective anchor men, waged a futile battle with the pins throughout the match.

Jack Wolstenholme was the high scorer of the important match, finishing with 379, closely followed by Capt. Burtner, with 374.

Turner and Gardini Renew Mat Feud Tonight

Joe Turner and "Demon" Gardini are expected to wage a torrid wrestling duel tonight at the Strand Theater. Gardini is especially anxious to defeat the grizzled veteran in return for a previous defeat handed him by Turner at the Strand.

Turner didn't have a cinch in his first encounter with Gardini, as the Italian managed to gain one fall. Gardini, no kin to Renato Gardini, but as talkative, has predicted he will win. The bout will begin as soon as the regular theater performance has ended.

Low Average Bowlers' Sweepstakes Listed

Now that all of the high average bowlers have had their opportunity to share in sweepstakes money, John Blick, local bowling impresario, has arranged to stage a similar event for the genuine "dubs."

All alley addicts, both men and women, averaging below 100 in any league will be eligible to compete in the ten-game affair which opens at Convention Hall on April 6 and is completed at Arcadia the following Saturday night.

Entrants will contribute $2.50 to the prize fund and also pay the alley charges for the ten games. Entries are now being received at Convention Hall and Arcadia.

FAMOUS BUNION DEAL OF 1913 IS RECALLED

the cigars. For a time it seemed as though another civil war was inevitable, but, in the way of all flesh, the bunion and, indeed, Zelder in his entirety, was soon forgotten, just as Wright's lame shoulder is destined to be.

44-Mile Race Allowed Finn To Get Warmed Up.

Among those who never heard of Zelder's or any other bunion is Karl Koski, the carpenter, who runs in the colors of the Finnish-American A. C. of New York. Last Saturday Koski, wearing full-length underwear under his running suit, ran the 44 miles from Providence to Boston to record time, which clipped seventeen minutes off Clarence Demar's old mark. Koski, who has explained past failures to win races at the regular marathon distance of 26 miles 385 yards by saying that he could not get warmed up in so short a distance, was as fresh as a letter carrier leaving the postoffice when he finished his long jaunt.

Forty-four miles of running is a lot of punishment to inflict on any pair of pupils, but Koski was not yet through driving his when he crossed the finish line. After escaping from the Arctic underwear he prettied up and spent the evening dancing at a party in Quincy. All the barking his long-suffering dogs did was at the shins of their Finnish master's dancing compatriots.

Jewish Community Center Wins In 115-Pound Class Game.

In the first engagement, a 115-pound championship game, the Jewish Community Center Quintet gained a 27-to-17 victory over the Frenchy-Arcadians. The losers made a game battle against removal from the series, but were unable to get in front at any stage of the game.

The Center Five not only outscored its rivals but also won the admiration of the large number of fans on hand when Coach Manny Goldfarb chose to put only four men on the floor against the losers when the latter team lost the services of King by the personal-foul route.

In the fourth period King was chased on four personals. The Frenchy-Arcadians were left without a substitute and had to go on with but four players. A minute later Henry Cohen was lost to the victors by the same circumstances, and although Goldfarb had several subs available he chose to proceed with but four players in action.

It was Henry Cohen who enabled the Center Five to take an early lead. His tallying put his team in front at half time, 13 to 8. With the assistance of Wald, Cohen continued his scoring at timely moments in the second half to keep his team in front despite the sensational work of Vernon Holland, high scorer of the engagement. Sherman and King played a fine floor game for their respective teams.

CAPITAL A. C. NINE MEETS.

All former Capital A. C baseball players and new candidates wishing to play with this team in unlimited ranks are requested to attend a meeting tonight at 270 Fifteenth street southeast at 8:30 o'clock.

START DIAMOND PLANS.

All candidates for the Washington Gas Light Co. Baseball Team are to report tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the company offices, 413 Tenth street northwest. The team will compete in the Industrial League again this season.

GRAYS PLAY TONIGHT AT G. W. GYM.

ONE of the best programs of the early rounds of the South Atlantic Tournament which The Washington Post is staging at the George Washington Gymnasium, 2010 H street northwest, is scheduled for tonight.

The United Typewriter Grays, who, as the Woodlothians, won the South Atlantic title last year, will be defending their honors against the Bolling Field Five in a game which is generally predicted as the feature of the program, which includes two other unlimited games, the Bliss Collegians meeting the Woltz Athletic Club and the Calvary Methodist Episcopal Five facing the University Athletic Club.

One of the best first round girls' games is scheduled at 8 o'clock when the Calvary Basketeers and the Als Athletic Club Sextet will clash.

The early contests bring together the Senator Whirlwinds and the Jewish Community Center in the 100-pound class and the Kanawhas and Damascus in the 130-pound division.

The Grays have been one of the outstanding teams in the District this year and are the strongest of a number of favorites to win the tournament. They hold a victory over the Skinker Bros. Eagles. Bolling Field has an impressive record, and may upset the dope. These service teams have yet to display anything but a "do or die" spirit in their play.

D. C. BOWLERS SECOND IN TOURNEY

New Jerusalem Team Rolls 1,653 Set at Richmond.

Special Dispatch to The Post.

RICHMOND, Va., March 13.—New Jerusalem Team of Masonic League, of Washington, assumed second place among the teams competing in the national duck pin bowling congress tournament here last night by rolling a 1,653 set. S. H. Jacobs and William Smith, of the same team, took second place among the doubles contenders with a 657 set.

The Leco Team, of Danbury, Conn., held first place among the five-man combinations with a 1,687 total. Quinn and Sturdevant, of Danbury, hold first place in doubles with 689. Joe Bituniac, of Pittsburgh, retains the singles leadership by virtue of his 411 set of the opening night.

Sherry to Aid Keliher On Martinsburg Club

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., March 13—Leading the only club in the Blue Ridge League that is not controlled by a major league organization, Mickey Keliher, of Washington, for the past two years manager of the Chambersburg Maroons and now pilot of the Hagerstown Hubs, is taking on another ex-league manager, who lost out with his old club this year. It is stated that Henry Sherry, of Baltimore, for the past several seasons manager of the Frederick Hustlers, will sign with Hagerstown. He lost out in Frederick when Bob Wells was named to manage the club this season. Sherry is a pitcher, a good batsman and an all-round utility man. It is also stated that Keliher will sign Reggie Rawlings, long the home-run king of the Blue Ridge League, who was not presented with a Martinsburg contract this year.

The spring training season at Frederick, which is a Cleveland "farm," will get under way April 20. Manager Wells expects to arrive in the van of his recruits by five days. Bud Leis, first baseman for the Hustlers last year, has been signed by the Charleroi club, of the Middle Atlantic League.

Lack of Infielders Problem For New Tech High Coach

IF Coach Malcolm Edwards can develop an infield of commendable strength, Tech will be a strong contender in the coming high school series. Edwards seems well fixed in pitchers, has a capable backstopper in Jules Sorrell, and seems well fortified in the outfield with Capt. Homer Drisel and Paul Brown.

Only Herman ("Heine") Gorman, first baseman, is available for the inner works. Mills, Berger and Demarest, of last year's team, are missing, however, for the other positions, which gives Edwards plenty to worry about at the outset. Willis Benner and William Collins, two members of the reserve team last year, are on hand, and they might help solve the problem.

Ensor Heads Pitching Staff; Starred in 1928 Series.

Edwards, although he has lost Young, right-handed pitching mainstay last year, is fortunate in having "Tack" Ensor, southpaw, back this year, in addition to Speigel and Batson. Ensor was a real pitcher last year, while Speigel and Batson displayed great promise in the few outside games they worked in.

If every coach had a Jules Sorrell for catching purposes, he would not have to worry the least bit about this department. Few of the teams in the high school group this year have or will have as capable a backstop as Sorrell.

Only Ray Roberts, hard-hitting center fielder, will be lost in the outfield this year. Homer Drissel is expected to take care of left field again in his typical Drissel style, while Brown is down to perform in right field once more. Brown's clouting was one of the features of the series last year.

Tech Scheduled to Open Season Tomorrow.

Tech's first game is listed Friday, with St. Albans at St. Albans. Ten games are on the schedule at this writing, including those in the series, while many others are pending. Episcopal, Catholic University Freshmen, Navy Plebes, Maryland Freshmen and Mount St. Mary's Prep are some of the opponents listed.

As soon as arrangements are completed for the Washington Barracks diamond, Coach Edwards plans to transport his squad down there every afternoon after school to get ready for the season. Until then the entire squad will work in the gymnasium.

The schedule, as it now stands, follows:

March 13, St. Albans at St. Albans.

April 2, Episcopal at Alexandria; 16, Central; 20, Maryland Frosh at College Park; 26, Business; 30, Catholic University Frosh at Brookland.

May 3, Eastern; 8, Navy Plebes at Annapolis; 10, Western; 11, Mount St. Mary's Prep at Emmitsburg, Md.

Y. M. C. A. JUNIORS VICTORS

The Y. M. C. A. Junior Quintet outpointed the Epiphanys last night in Epiphany Gym, 39 to 18, as a warming up session for their appearance in the South Atlantic championships tomorrow night against G. P. O. Federals.

The victors took a big lead at the start and were in the van, 20 to 9, at the end of the half. Bourne and Bone were the heavy scorers, the former getting 19 points.

Municipal Golf Links To Be Opened Saturday

Whether or not the weather forecasters are just kidding us along with mild breezes and warm sunshine, spring will be officially recognized by thousands of Washingtonians on Saturday when the Municipal golf courses at East Potomac Park and Rock Creek will be opened at daybreak. The Capital's lovers of pasting the little white pill are expected fairly to jam the courses.

Bus service to East Potomac Park from the south side of the Treasury will be speeded up with the opening of the course. Park-bound buses will leave the Treasury on the hour and half-hour until noon and every fifteen minutes after noon.

Al Price, former assistant pro at Manor and Indian Spring, is the new pro in charge at Rock Creek. Season and monthly tickets go on sale today.

Palm Beach, Fla., March 13 (A.P.).—First round matches in the annual Southern professional tennis tournament were played today with none of the seeded stars falling by the wayside.

Warren Kruger, Palm Beach Tennis Club, defeated Mike Dolan, Miami Beach, 6—3, 6—1, 6—4. Vincent Richards, present title holder, gained the second round by a default from James Burn, Miami Beach.

Paul Heston, Washington, D. C., professional, defeated John Cardegna, Bath and Tennis Club, 6—4, 6—4, 6—3.

Julius Boise, Pittsburgh, defeated Martin Simmons, Everglades Club, 6—3, 6—2, 6—1. Charles Wood, Fairview Tennis Club, New York, defeated George Agutter, West Side Tennis Club and Palm Beach Tennis Club, 6—2, 8—6, 6—2.

Howard-Lincoln Fives In Third Clash Tonight

Howard and Lincoln, ancient rivals of the gridiron and court, will meet tonight in the Howard Gymnasium to play off the third court clash of the year. Each team has a victory to its credit by a narrow margin, and the Lincoln team, followed by a host of rooters, has come prepared to carry decisive victory with them back to Oxford, Pa.

The Bisons, however, are equally confident of victory. They point out that tonight's game is the first of the season with Lincoln on their home court, which fact is regarded as distinctly in their favor.

CARDS SEEKING GAMES.

The Indian Head Cardinal Baseball Team is ready to book games with local unlimited nines for the coming season. Business Manager Sprague will arrange dates at Indian Head 101-K-3.

N. Y. TOURNEY ATTRACTS EMERSON

Capital Five to Be 1 of 8 Schools in Glens Falls Event.

EMERSON INSTITUTE'S quintet yesterday accepted an invitation to compete in the annual Eastern States' scholastic basket ball tournament, the oldest in the East, which opens on March 21 and runs for three days at Glens Falls, N. Y. Emerson will be the lone representative from south of the Mason-Dixon line.

Thus Coach Benfield's strong five is accorded further distinction in a season that had seen Emerson's colors generally flying from near or at the top of the mast. The Emersonians recently advanced to the semifinals of the Washington and Lee scholastic tournament at Lexington, Va., where they played some of the best basket ball of the event.

Coincident to acceptance of the invitation, Coach Benfield resumed practice for his charges, and he is hopeful that they will regain top form by the time they will be called on to play.

8 Teams in Tourney Sponsored By City's Board of Trade.

Eight teams in all will compete in the tourney, which is sponsored by the Glens Falls Board of Trade. Emerson's opponents should be of the highest caliber, judging from the list of contestants who have participated in the event heretofore.

Last year's entrants were York (Pa.) Collegiate Instit

With NELSON B. BELL

The forecast, based on something slightly more substantial than mere imagination, recently made in the Sunday columns presided over by this department, to the effect that a majority of the Capital's neighborhood picture houses in due course would be wired for sound and dialogue pictures, seems to be coming true sooner than was expected.

Announcement from the office of John J. Payette, supervisor of theaters for the Stanley-Crandall Co., of Washington, makes known that installation of sound equipment has been completed at the Apollo Theater, 624 H street northeast, the Avenue Grand, 645 Pennsylvania avenue southeast, and the Home, at 1230 C street northeast, in all of which the policy of presenting audible films will be inaugurated next Sunday, March 17. As in the cases of the Metropolitan, Earle, Tivoli and Ambassador Theaters, under the same management, provision has been made in the residential houses for the successful screening of both Vitaphone and Movietone features—the former recorded by the disc process; the latter directly upon the film.

The St. Patrick Day dedicatory program at the Apollo will have the Warner Bros. production of "The Singing Fool," starring Al Jolson with Davey Lee, as its piece de resistance; the Avenue Grand, "Lights of New York," the first all-talking picture ever made, and the Home, "On Trial," in which Pauline Frederick, Bert Lytell and Lois Wilson are the featured players.

The inaugural dates of the new policy in other of the Stanley-Crandall outlying houses will be made in the near future, it being the intention, as I understand it, to wire all but three of their total of fourteen local theaters.

While we are on the topic of the Stanley-Crandall Theaters, it may be said that to the best of my recollection—which may not be so good, what with the infected jaw, a mild return to my old bubonic plague and one thing and another—Richard Barthelmess is by way of establishing a record at the Metropolitan. Unless I am as crazy as you think, he is the first star in the history of the house to score two three-week runs within the period of a year.

The first was written on the records at the time of his memorable engagement in the title role of "The Patent Leather Kid." The second is in process of being recorded, with "Weary River" the medium of a public appeal that seems quite to equal that exerted by any of Dick's previous vehicles, not excepting "Tolable David."

I am led to this observation by the fact that "Weary River" is scheduled to begin its third week on F street Saturday, having in its first week matched the extraordinary business scored by Al Jolson in "The Singing Fool" and in its current second reasonably well held its own.

That is how it happens that Mr. Barthelmess can manage a week-end vacation trip to Hoboken every three or four years!

A cursory glance at the inspired parchments heralding the approach of another week in the cathedrals of the cinema leads me to suspect that the seven-day period beginning Saturday will be conspicuously dominated by the more gorgeous of the genders.

At the Palace, despite the costellar capacity in which William Boyd will serve, I feel sure that Lupe Velez, the Mexican madcup, will be the personality of major interest, and I am no less certain that Leatrice Joy and Margaret Livingston, between them, will garner most of the honors at the Columbia. At the Fox, five will get you ten that most of the spectators will be conscious only of Nancy Carroll among those importantly cast.

All of which is fair enough, if you ask me, spring being what it is.

The new week's bookings, by the way, add up something like this: Columbia, "The Bellamy Trial," directed, unless I am wrong again, by Monta Bell; Earle, George Sidney, Mack Swain and Nora Lane in "The Cohens and Kellys in Atlantic City"; Palace, William Boyd and Lupe Velez in D. W. Griffith's "Lady of the Pavements"; Fox, Nancy Carroll in "The Sin Sister"; Metropolitan, Richard Barthelmess and Betty Compson in the third week of "Weary River," and Little, Diane Kerenne and Ivan Mosjoukine—pronounced Mosjoukine—in "The Loves of Casanova."

It must be spring fever!

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.
The Parent Counselor.

Seven Ages of Man.

THERE'S the Age of Babyhood: The world of reality unfolding some wonderful experience every hour. If the child could talk, and in its way it certainly does, we'd hear: "What's that queer shadow that squeezes me, teedle-ti-tums me, sticks pins into me and nearly frightens me to death with its queer face? What's that light that makes me blink, that food that gives me a queer feeling and that noisy thing running over the floor? Each baby is an actor on the home stage and the fond parents a most attentive audience.

There's the Dramatic Age: The time when the house and yard is the stage; the child is the actor and the parents applaud or wish they had a refund. How little eyes do see and ears do hear, and tongues do move. The stage is a lively place with childhood's experiments and questioning. A continuous performance of comedy and tragedy.

There's the Loud Age: When, as James Russell Lowell puts it, "The child has loudened to a boy." The stage is the universe and the audience is everybody—teacher, parents, other children, even the policeman. A trying age for the audience because it must test its power of interpretation in a plot of many twists and turns. For youth itself a trying age because it will try anything once—and oftener.

Then the Impossible Age: When the boy is a cross between an angel and an imp; and a girl stands at the threshold of a new world between beckoning hands and hands restraining. A time when parents and teachers must look for the invisible good and blind themselves to the visible bad. The stage performance is a continuous vaudeville of noise, song and stunts.

There's the Age of the Three G's: Gangs, goings-on and going-outs. 'Tis then we deal with group thought; when, "what the boys say," and "what the girls of my age do," confront the oldsters. Loyalty to the gang flourishes and comradeship with all sorts and conditions are parental rivals. The fountain of youth spurts with tremendous pressure of racial history behind it.

Ah! The Age of Romance: Self-sufficiency running as high as 100 per cent. What unbounded impatience elders display with their old-fashioned ideas about closing hours for dances, saving money, "early birds and worms," and "hares and tortoises." Stage rules of old are forgotten. The old scenery must be repainted. Youth would write its own plays. Those who understand are admitted free—others may keep away.

Then the Age of Responsibility: Youth has trained itself to "go it alone." Schools and parents have done their bit in educating for responsibility. The stage is again the world. Each now plays his speaking part without full knowledge of what has gone before or what follows after. The places in the audience of sympathetic teachers and parents have been taken by those who are themselves actors in the drama of life. The audience hisses, applauds, laughs or cries. Now the actor has no stage director except himself and the scenes constantly shift before his eyes. He may find himself on an empty stage in an empty hall. But at least his cry for independence has been answered. He has reached the age for which all that has gone before is but a preparation.

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER.

Girl Slips Out to Meet Boys.

My 15-year-old girl is wild after the boys. She skips out when she can and deceives us generally. How can I get her confidence? MOTHER.

Answer—By giving her yours. I like what another friendly mother wrote: "My 14-year-old girl likes the boys and they like her. We let her go to matinees sometimes with boys near her age that we know. When we go out at night to shows, church, league and various places we always take from one to four or five extra boys and girls. When the boys come to our home they play the phonograph, make candy and play games. I know my girl is young to be with boys, but if we take them to places with us and let the boys come here, she will have no reason to try to sneak out to meet them or stand on street corners." Good psychology.

I DIDN'T DOUBT YOU FOR A MINUTE, WALT DEAR— IT JUST SOUNDED AWFULLY STRANGE.
BUT I AM REALLY WORRIED. A NUMBER OF PEOPLE KNEW HE HAD A BIG ROLL OF MONEY ON HIM.
YES AND ONE OF THEM WAS A GIRL FRIEND OF A FRIEND OF HIS OUT WEST. NO TELLING WHAT KIND SHE WAS. SERVES HIM RIGHT FOR GETTING MIXED UP WITH PEOPLE HE DON'T KNOW.
UNCLE WALT, WHERE'S SQUINT. I WANT HIM TO SHOW ME HOW TO LASSO
HE'S AWAY JUST NOW, SKEEZIX. HE'LL BE BACK MOST ANY TIME I HOPE.
I WANT TO SEE IF ANYBODY UNIDENTIFIED IS IN ANY OF THE HOSPITALS.
AND I WOULDN'T OVERLOOK THE JAILS IF I WERE YOU.

3 AUTO FATALITIES TO BE INVESTIGATED BY CORONER TODAY

Deaths of Arthur Brown, J. M. Lane and Richard Cady Prompt Inquiry.

DAIRY OWNER KILLED YESTERDAY BY TRUCK

Several Other Persons Given Hospital Treatment for Injuries.

Police yesterday reported the deaths of three persons from automobile accidents. The first was crushed between two trucks yesterday morning. The second and the third were struck by automobiles as they attempted to cross the street.

Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt has scheduled inquests into the deaths of all three for today.

Richard A. Cady, 41 years old, 1319 Park road northwest, died almost instantly when he was crushed between two trucks in an alley to the rear of his dairy at 3120 Eleventh street northwest at 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

Two Die at Emergency.

Arthur L. Brown, 25 years old, 1147 New Hampshire avenue northwest, was struck March 6 by an automobile, said by police to have been operated by Paul M. Tuck, 1718 Twenty-second street northwest, at Twenty-second street and Massachusetts avenue northwest. He died at 3 o'clock yesterday morning at Emergency Hospital.

Joseph M. Lane, 65 years old, 218 E street northeast, was knocked down December 24 by an automobile as he crossed Thirteenth street on the south side of I street northwest. He also died at Emergency Hospital.

Oden Allen, colored, 28 years old, of 245 Hillside place northeast, said by police to have operated the automobile which struck Lane, was arrested by police of the First Precinct and held for investigation. He was later released in the custody of his lawyer.

Crushed by Truck.

Cady was receiving milk in the alley behind his dairy when an automobile truck, said by police to have been owned and operated by Francis E. Valdenar, 42 years old, of Silver Spring, Md., suddenly started backward and crushed him to death as he stood between it and another truck, police said.

Valdenar, an old friend of Cady, had delivered a truckload of milk and unloaded it in the alley and was talking to Cady when an automobile truck, said by police to have been operated by Charles A. Hobbs, of Silver Spring, Md., backed slowly into the alleyway.

Hobbs stopped several feet from where the two men stood and shouted to Valdenar, asking him to move his truck to make room for the loaded vehicle. While Valdenar climbed into his truck to comply, Cady busied himself in fastening the tail gate of the unloaded truck, still standing between the two vehicles, police reported.

Suddenly the truck started backward with great force, pinning Cady against the rear of Hobbs' truck and crushing in his chest and stomach, police said.

Valdenar Is Released.

Valdenar was arrested by police of the Tenth Precinct, to be held for investigation until the coroner's inquest, but was released yesterday upon instructions of Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt.

Cady lived at 1319 Park road northwest with his mother, Mrs. Francis Cady, widow of the late William R. Cady, and a married sister, Mrs. Bessie Owen. He had formerly been employed at the navy yard, relatives said, and had saved money for several years in order to enter business. Another sister, two brothers, and a nephew, also survive him.

Numerous other persons were treated yesterday at hospitals for automobile accidents occurring yesterday, some of which are believed partly due to slippery, wet streets.

Betty Baker, 5 years old, of 1219 Potomac street northwest, was cut on the head when struck by an automobile truck yesterday morning at Twenty-ninth and M streets northwest, police report. The truck was said by police to have been operated by Ellworth Hampton, of 3223 Sixth street northwest, who took her to her home.

Naval Air Station Viewed by Adams

New Secretary Compliments Personnel at Anacostia on First Inspection.

Secretary of the Navy Adams made his first inspection of the naval air station at Anacostia yesterday, accompanied by Rear Admiral W. A. Moffett, newly reappointed chief of the Naval Bureau of Aeronautics; Capt. George F. Neal, secretarial aid, and high ranking naval officers.

He was interested in the various types of planes in service at the station, and made a careful inspection of them. He reviewed the personnel, and was well pleased with his visit.

"I was very favorably impressed with what I saw at the naval air station," he said following his visit. "Of course I am acquainted with the great strides which the Navy has made in aeronautics during the last few years, while carrying out the five-year program inaugurated by Mr. Coolidge. I was agreeably surprised at the many new types which the Bureau of Aeronautics has developed and the splendid spirit of the officers and men."

Two Bids Are Received For Removal of Trees

Two bids have been received by the Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks for removal of 48 Japanese cherry trees and 37 elms from Riverside drive along the Potomac River, to the Rock Creek-Potomac parkway. John H. Smalls & Sons, of this city, bid $175 apiece on the cherry trees and $385 each on the elms. Lewis & Valentine, of Ardmore, Pa., bid the same amount on the cherry trees and $325 each on the elms. No award has been made.

Bids for construction for the foundation of the water gate near the Lincoln Memorial and the parkway approach from the end of B street northwest to the Arlington Memorial Bridge plaza will be invited next.

Woman Leaves Estate For Aid of Education

Educational institutions were named beneficiaries of the estate of Mary A. Peet, who died on March 4, in her will filed for probate yesterday in the District Supreme Court.

A bequest of $5,000 was made to the Antivivisectional Society, of London, and $2,000 was left to Sarah Beckley, a colored servant. The residue was bequeathed to the Humane Education Society of this city. The Merchants Bank & Trust Co. was named executor.

KELLOGG IS LAUDED AT MISSION PARLEY

GROUP TO SEE HOOVER

"The most Christian act performed by the United States Government since slavery was abolished, took place January 15, when the Senate ratified the Kellogg treaty by a vote of 94 to 1," Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison, of Chicago, editor of the Christian Century, told more than 300 delegates to the nineteenth annual session of the Woman's Missionary Council, Methodist Episcopal Church South, at the Mount Vernon M. E. Church, last night.

Dr. Morrison's address closed the opening day's program of the meeting, which will last until next Monday. He said that Secretary Kellogg and S. O. Levinson, in whose mind the proposal of world-wide peace first took form ten years ago, will be immortalized by the signing of the treaty.

Delegates will be received by President and Mrs. Hoover at the White House at noon today.

A memorial service was held yesterday afternoon. A retreat was conducted for the council members in the morning by Mrs. Harwell Wilson, of Winter Haven, Fla. A communion service was held before the lunch hour. Lunch was served by the missionary societies of Washington Methodist Churches.

Prior to going to the White House today the delegates will hear an address from the Rev. Elbert Russell, dean of Duke University. The subject is "The Poor in Spirit." It will be broadcast over WMAL at 11:20 o'clock.

At the opening session this morning the message of the president of the council, Mrs. F. F. Stephens, of Columbia, Mo., will be read. The report of the executive committee will be made by Mrs. F. S. Parker, of Nashville, Tenn.

"The Missionary Education of Youth" will be the subject of a talk this afternoon by Miss Elizabeth Harris. Reports of officers will also be made. Jubilee messages will be read tonight by missionaries from Japan, Mexico, Cuba, Brazil, Europe and Africa. Consecration of new missionaries will be conducted at the close Monday.

Lee Perjury Charge Is Ordered Dropped

Collins Nolle Prosses Accusation Against Former Police Informer.

A perjury charge against Marion F. Lee, erstwhile police informer, was nolle prossed yesterday by Assistant District Attorney William H. Collins. Recently convicted of a charge of grand larceny, Lee was placed on probation by Chief Justice Walter I. McCoy in the District Supreme Court.

The perjury charge was placed against Lee last September. He swore to an affidavit before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage that he made a purchase of liquor from Mrs. Morris Odell at 1416 Sixteenth street northwest. The liquor charges were dismissed against the woman and Lee was arrested when Commissioner Turnage had been satisfied by testimony that Mrs. Odell was out of the city at the time Lee swore he made the "buy."

Collins admitted the case against Lee was weak. Since the charge was filed against him, Odell, an important witness in the case, was convicted of liquor charges in Police Court.

Missionaries to Tell Of Life in Africa

"Word Pictures of African Life" will be painted by four missionaries of the African Inland Mission at a program tonight at 8 o'clock at the Epiphany Parish Hall, G street between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets northwest.

Mr. and Mrs. George Woodley and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wentworth are the speakers. They are members of the African Inland Mission, which maintains 40 stations through Kenya Colony, Tanknyika Territory, Uganda, Belgian Congo and French Equitorial Africa.

Business Women to Act In Maeterlinck's Play

Two performances of Maeterlinck's "Bluebird" will be given tonight and tomorrow night by the business and professional women's department of the Y. W. C. A. at Barker Hall, Seventeenth and K streets northwest.

The large cast is composed of members of the organization. Their work was directed by Mrs. Alice Sigworth Morse. Curtains will rise at 8:15 o'clock.

"Angel of Mercy" Leaves City to Regret of Many

Sister M. Louise, Endeared to Capital Through Untiring Work at Providence Hospital, Goes to Lowell, Mass., for New Post.

"The Angel of Mercy" of Providence Hospital has moved on. After 27 years of devoted service to the poor of the Capital, Sister M. Louise, of the Sisters of Charity, left yesterday for a new post at St. John's Hospital, Lowell, Mass.

So widespread was the regard for Sister Louise that news of her transfer shocked men and women in all stations of life from one end of the city to the other. A few, who learned of her transfer in time, gathered at Union Station for an impromptu farewell to this shining light of charity.

Tears dimmed the eyes of Sister Louise as she said "good-bys" to fellow hospital workers, physicians, nurses and friends who came to pay a tribute to the humble nun whose years of self-sacrifice had endeared her to the hearts of thousands among the city's poor. A genuine regret was felt by those who wished her health and happiness in her new duties in Lowell.

Sister Louise came to Washington in 1901 immediately following the taking of her vows as a Sister of Charity. Assigned to St. Ann's Infant Asylum, for seventeen years she rose at 4:30 in the morning to administer to the wants of tiny babies, cared for them through a long day until 9 at night and often passed from bed to bed during the hours of darkness to sooth fevered and tossing children with the infinite tenderness of a mother.

Transferred to Providence Hospital in 1918, Sister Louise was placed in charge of the free clinic and dispensary, the post she relinquished yesterday. During her term in this position, a flu epidemic raged in the Capital. She organized a corps of medical workers and nurses to work night and day among the poor. Last year her department treated 35,000 poor patients, giving medicine to those who could not pay, while Sister Louise cleaned and treated wounds, bandaged injured bodies and inspired physicians, surgeons and dentists to follow her example.

During the war period food shortage, Sister Louise made it possible for the poor to buy food at the hospital at wholesale prices. Volunteer social workers, organized by the sister, visited the homes of sick and needy, delivering medicine, necessities and even occasional dainties.

Recognition of her faithful work, fatiguing her in recent years, came from her superiors in an order modifying the rule in her case on arising at 4:30 each morning. For Sister Louise the hour was set at 5:30.

An air of gloom filled Providence Hospital yesterday although the transfer of Sister Louise to special duty in Lowell is a reward for her service of love to the poor. Her service knows no creed or race, and as she left for new fields, men, women and children of all creeds and races with whom she dealt, felt a distinct loss.

Changes Advocated In Left-Hand Turn

Proposal Is Indorsed by Board of Trade Traffic Committee.

Change of the left-hand turn on Washington streets to conform with that in general use throughout the country was indorsed yesterday by the traffic committee of the Board of Trade. The vote was evenly divided, making it necessary for the chairman, George W. Offutt, to cast a ballot.

The present method of turning at light or police controlled intersections was defended by William H. Harland, chief of the Traffic Bureau, who declared it to be preferable because of its safety.

Another measure indorsed by the committee was the automobile liability bill, proposed by the American Automobile Association. Theodore F. Noyes, jr., explained the bill to the committee. It was also explained by Herbert L. Davis, who urged that it be indorsed.

Senator Moses Speaker At Annapolis Dinner

Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, will be the only speaker at the first annual dinner of the recently organized Naval Academy Graduates Association of the District of Columbia, to be held at the Willard Hotel Saturday night at 7:30 o'clock.

All alumni of the Naval Academy, whether graduates or not, are invited to attend this dinner to renew old friendships and "to pledge the Navy Blue." A "happy hour" is to follow the dinner.

Neighborhood House Music Classes Urged

A plea for a resumption of music classes at the Neighborhood House was made yesterday by Mrs. W. L. McFarland, secretary of the music division of the National Federation of Settlements, before the board of trustees of the house. Lack of funds caused discontinuance of the school, at which 100 children had formerly received instruction.

Mrs. J. P. S. Neligh was named chairman of the committee for the spring festival at the Neighborhood House.

Broadcasting Glimpsed At Rotarian Luncheon

Washington Rotarians were given a glimpse of a radio broadcasting studio in action at their luncheon at the Willard yesterday. Caleb O'Connor, with a staff of assistants, and Stanley William Bell, WMAL announcer, gave a program done inside the studio.

Sixteen visiting Rotarians were present at the meeting. A guest of honor was Horace Albright, director of national parks, who was introduced by Clarence Aspinwall. Fred Pyle, chairman of the attendance committee, presented statistics showing the attendance at meetings during the last six months of 1928.

Man Sues Brother, Asking $25,000 Damages for Injury

A suit involving brother against brother was instituted yesterday in the District Supreme Court.

Ernest Bailey, of 210 I street northeast, asked the court to grant him $25,000 damages against his brother, Carroll Bailey, of 1354 East Capitol street, as the result of a traffic mishap on July 8.

The two were riding in an automobile, driven by Carroll Bailey, on the Lee Highway near Centerville, Va., Ernest Bailey declared. His brother attempted to pass two automobiles and was operating at a speed of 45 miles an hour, when the car struck a culvert on the side of the road, it was charged.

Ernest Bailey said he was thrown from the car and made unconscious for an hour. He suffered serious and permanent injuries, he said, which confined him to his home for six weeks, and blamed negligence on the part of his brother as the cause of his injuries. The suit was filed through Attorneys George Havell and Harold Hawken.

2 Men Bound Over For Auto Larceny

Sentenced in Police Court for Lesser Charge and Held for Grand Jury.

After being sentenced to serve two years each on petty larceny and carrying deadly weapon charges yesterday in Police Court Frank Davis, of 517 Morton street northwest, and George W. Davis, of 727 Gresham street northwest, were held for grand jury action by Judge Isaac R. Hitt in $1,500 bail each on grand larceny charges.

The pair were arrested by Patrolman J. J. Antoine, of the Tenth Precinct, on Friday night. The policeman said he captured Frank Davis driving an automobile, alleged to have been stolen from Mary Barrett, of 3810 Thirteenth street northwest, on Georgia avenue northwest, after chasing the car several blocks for operating without lights.

The captive, he said, confessed stealing the car, which contained a revolver two blackjacks and two pieces of lead pipe, and also implicated himself and George Davis in stripping tires from a car of E. W. Goodwin, of 646 Newton place northwest. He led the policeman to the stripped car, where George Davis was found. The policeman said George Davis attempted to shoot him when he approached.

Benning Group Backs Clayton for Position

The Benning Citizens Association indorsed William McK. Clayton, of the Brightwood Citizens Association, as a candidate to fill the vacancy in the Public Utilities Commission, at a meeting last night at Benning School. A number of other citizens associations have given a similar indorsement.

John Driggers, president of the Kenilworth Citizens Association, was named as the Benning Association's choice as a member of the advisory council of the Federation of Citizens Associations.

Clarence Darrow Urged For Hoover Law Group

Clarence Darrow, noted Chicago attorney, was indorsed at a meeting of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People last night in the auditorium of the Phyllis Wheatley Young Women's Christian Association for appointment on the law enforcement commission which, it was understood, the President would name at an early date for consideration of enforcement of all of the laws of the country.

A communication from Neval H. Thomas, president of the association, now in Nice, France, was read, urging development of a constructive program for wider civil liberties of the negro, especially at the National Capital. He indorsed the resolution seeking to have Darrow appointed on the law enforcement commission.

Lions Club Luncheon Hears Plan for Home

A plea for renewed faith in American home life was made by John E. Swanger, of Colorado Springs, Colo., yesterday before the luncheon meeting of the Lions Club in the Hotel Mayflower.

"There is no question but our home life has waned," Swanger, who is superintendent of the Modern Woodmen of America Sanitarium, declared. "The home has become sort of a terminal where the family loads up the flivver for the day."

Dr. Mann to Tell of Expedition.

An illustrated talk on his expedition to the Solomon Islands will be given tonight by Dr. William M. Mann, director of the National Zoological Park, before the Mens Club of St. Stephen and the Incarnation Episcopal Church, Sixteenth and Newton streets northwest, at 8:30 o'clock.

40,000 IN CAPITAL, 325 MILLIONAIRES, PAY INCOME TAXES

2,000 Corporations Will Swell Payments of Individuals by $8,000,000.

ROARING BULL MARKET HAS INCREASED RICHES

City Ranks Next to New York in Per Capita Income, Yielding $14,000,000.

Washington steps up to the window and pays its income taxes tomorrow. Forty thousand individuals, or more; nearly 2,000 corporations. Three hundred and twenty-five millionaire residents of the District will be among the crowd. Millionaires in the sense that they enjoy annual income of more than $50,000 apiece which, in turn, is the sum which $1,000,000 will return its owner if invested at 5 per cent.

Nearly 1,000 men and women with incomes of $25,000 or beter annually will be among the number. More than 1,300 persons whose incomes in 1928 exceeded $20,000.

The second richest community under the American flag—second only to New York in per capita income—will return to the Federal Government in income taxes alone approximately $14,000,000 on 1928 business. And that is all of the $9,000,000 which Congress votes to support the District, and more than half as much again.

$3,000,000 Due Tomorrow.

More than $3,000,000 will flow from Washington to the Federal Treasury not later than tomorrow, that sum representing one-fourth, or less, of the annual income tax.

Washington had 257 millionaires in 1927, the last year for which detailed returns are published by the Government. Of the 257, more than one-fourth, or 74, had incomes ranging between $100,000 and $300,000; five persons had incomes of $300,000 to $500,000; two had incomes of from $500,000 to $1,000,000, and two others had incomes of more than $1,000,000 apiece.

Such was Washington in 1927. The number will be increased materially in 1929, Treasury officials believe, and the increase will be due in no small measure to the share that Washingtonians played in the roaring bull stock market of last November and December. Thousands of Washingtonians played in the Hoover market, a study of New York stock brokers' accounts discloses, and scores, possibly hundreds, made comfortable winnings. A few cleaned up handsomely and others lost.

16,000 Paid No Tax.

In 1927, 40,024 Washingtonians filed income taxes. Of that number about 16,000 paid no tax, due to exemptions and deductions which left no taxable income. The figures furnish a good guide as to what may be expected in 1929.

Washington's taxable income that year amounted to $28,000,000, so far as individual income taxes were concerned. Considerably less than half of it, or $107,000,000 of the income, was in the form of salaries paid by the Government and by the city's industries. Nearly $30,000,000 of the total represented the dividends received by residents of Washington. Another item of more than $20,000,000 represented interest on bonds, mortgages and other invested capital.

Fifty million dollars from investments alone—such was the total of those two entries in Washington's income account. And as 6 per cent is a fair return on an investment, the figures indicate that Washingtonians had saved and put away stocks, bonds, mortgages and similar forms of investments to the extent of more than $800,000,000.

Out of income, Washingtonians donated to charitable and educational institutions a total of $3,593,000 during the year, their sworn statements show. Nearly $16 out of every $1,000 received was given away by those reporting taxable incomes. The 1,888 corporations here paid the Government in 1927 $8,671,000 in corporation income taxes alone. They paid it on net profits of nearly $66,000,000, and the gross turnover of Washington's corporate business was upward of $665,000,000—more than $2,000,000 for every working day of the year.

Corporations Made $66,000,000.

Of Washington's 1,888 corporations, 1,070 made a profit of nearly $66,000,000. That represented a net profit of about 11 cents on every dollar taken in during the year. The bulk of the corporation tax was paid by transportation and other public utility corporations with headquarters here. Their payments ran to $5,586,000 on gross business of nearly $300,000,000. Washington's banks, insurance companies, stock brokers, real estate and holding corporations paid income taxes totaling $1,082,000.

Of the 518 corporations engaged in trade in the District, 326 made a profit. The volume of corporate trade in the city amounted to nearly $200,000,000, of which $164,000,000 was done by the profit-making corporations. The income taxes of that group ran to more than $900,000.

In 1929, on the same volume of business, the corporation income tax will be about 10 per cent less, due to the reduction in the rate from 13½ to 12 per cent. Even so, Washington's corporations will pay from $7,600,000 to $8,000,000 this year.

Hurley to Take Oath As War Assistant

Patrick J. Hurley, of Oklahoma, owner of the Hurley-Wright Building in this city, will take the oath of office of Assistant Secretary of War tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock in the general reception room of Secretary of War Good in the State, War and Navy Building. John B. Randolph, assistant chief clerk of the War Department, will administer the oath.

Mr. Hurley succeeds Col. Charles B. Robbins, of Iowa.

Hugh Miller, Post Staff Photographer.

Capt. Guy E. Burlingame, shortly after he had returned to his old desk in the Second Precinct Station, surrounded by the floral tributes of his friends.

BURLINGAME DENIES INTENTION TO RETIRE

Exonerated Captain Is Given Warm Reception on Return to Precinct Station.

FLOWERS FILL HIS ROOM

Capt. Guy E. Burlingame, acquitted Tuesday by the extraordinary trial board of conduct unbecoming an officer, yesterday returned to his command of the Second Precinct, to be welcomed like a conquering and well-beloved hero.

Cheers, flowers, hand grips, words, letters, telegrams, telephone calls and visitors made of his return to his command a memorable occasion in police annals, and once more the hard-boiled shell of the 63-year-old police captain was broken through and he was overcome with emotion.

Men and women, white and black, bankers, attorneys, doctors, ministers, bootleggers, rum runners and tough guys in a tough precinct, came to the station to tell the captain that they were glad he had been acquitted by the trial board and that they were glad he was back on the job.

Abundance of Flowers.

And Burlingame, smoking his inevitable pipe, smiled and spoke his thanks in halting words in the office which almost was filled with flowers. The flowers came from members of his own command, from policemen of other precincts, from citizens' and business associations, from the directors of a bank, from lawyers and anonymous friends. The flowers filled tables and chairs, the desk, window sills, and were banked on the safe, wardrobe and filing cabinets until, as one florist, who came from Anacostia with a large potted plant, declared, "This looks more like a florist's place than my place."

Basking in the warmth of his welcome, Burlingame brushed aside inquiries from reporters about retirement. No, he said; he did not intend to retire.

None the less the veteran policeman is expected to ask for and receive retirement soon. How soon will depend largely on himself, but it would not be surprising if the application was made within a month or two.

Hesse Calls on Him.

Maj. Edwin B. Hesse, superintendent of police, went to the Second Precinct Station yesterday afternoon and conferred with Burlingame, but, Hesse said, he did not discuss the question of retirement in any manner and did not intend to do so. He merely made an official visit to discuss affairs in the precinct, the police chief said.

Burlingame arrived at the station a little before 8 o'clock yesterday morning, the hour which marked the thirty-third anniversary of the day he started pounding the bricks as a young copper. But his office door was closed and his men wouldn't let him in. He could come back at 9:15, they told him, and Burlingame, somewhat diffidently, obeyed their command. When he drove up to the station in his somewhat disreputable "puddle jumper," as he describes his car, again he found almost the entire command awaiting him, with policemen from other precincts waiting to shout a welcome.

Reception All Day.

William E. Leahy, his attorney, and Lieut. J. W. Pierson, who was in command of the precinct while Burlingame was suspended during his trial, escorted the returning captain into the station. A banner, "Welcome Home," was stretched across the office door and flowers were banked about the office, which had been decorated with a large American flag. Then the reception began, and it lasted all day.

"Captain, I'm glad you're back. I've been to the synagogue every day praying for you," one man told him.

"I busted up his still," Burlingame said afterward, "but I tried to treat him fair."

"Hello, Bootie," the captain greeted another caller who came to congratulate him.

"Captain, I'm glad you're back. You chased me lot o' times and you knew who I was, but you never arrested me till you had me fair and right."

LOOT WORTH $680 TAKEN BY THIEVES

Two Stores Broken Into and Suit Case Stolen, Police Are Informed.

SMALL THEFTS REPORTED

Thieves yesterday obtained property valued at $680.94 in two store robberies and a bus theft reported yesterday to police.

Mrs. Edwin B. King, of Warrenton, Va., discovered the theft of a suitcase containing wearing apparel and toilet articles valued at $400 from an automobile bus bound from Luray, Va., when she alighted from the bus at Ninth street and Pennsylvania avenue yesterday morning. She told police that a tall, dark colored woman, who sat in the rear of the bus, left an old suitcase in exchange for hers, police said.

The Mackall Brothers Drug Store, at 823 H street northeast, was broken into and robbed of $200 in cash Tuesday night, Lothier Mackall, of 3401 Woodley road northwest, reported to police. He suspects a colored man seen loitering about the store on Tuesday, police reported.

Wearing apparel and merchandise valued at $80.94 were stolen from the Liberty Clothing Store, 484 Seventh street northwest, early yesterday morning by thieves who broke a show window and took the contents of the window, Benjamin H. Goldstein, manager, reported to police.

Other thefts reported yesterday included the breaking of a locker and stealing of an overcoat and $15 check from Milton Pettit, chief engineer of the Transportation Building, Seventeenth and H and streets northwest; a quantity of scrap iron and iron rollers from a vacant lot at Twentieth street and New York avenue northwest, reported by Edwin G. McGill, of 2017 H street northwest; and a brief case containing papers belonging to the American Stores Co., valued at $10, from the parked automobile of Clifton L. Bazzle, manager of the store at 623 B street northwest, in front of which the automobile was parked.

Associated Charities Aids 740 Families Here

Reports that 740 families had relied on the Associated Charities for care and service during February, compared to 189 families last year in the same period, were heard at a meeting of the board of managers yesterday at the Social Service House. A total of $7,000 in cash was spent for relief, the highest amount in the history of the organization.

Additional trained workers will be needed and officials of the Community Chest will be informed of the increase in cases handled, the board of managers indicated. The Associated Charities is one of 57 agencies supported by funds from the Chest. Miss Helen Nicolay and Walter S. Ufford were named representatives to the Community Chest board. The annual meeting was set for next fall instead of just before Easter.

Man and Wife Demand $15,000 in Trolley Suit

The Washington Railway & Electric Co. and the Capital Traction Co. were sued for a total of $15,000 damages yesterday in the District Supreme Court by Mrs. Agnes Burns and her husband, Bernard J. Burns, of 113 Kentucky avenue southeast.

Mrs. Burns stated she was a passenger on a Washington Railway car on December 10, which was in collision with a Capital Traction car on a cross track at North Capitol street and Massachusetts avenue. She asked the court to grant her $10,000 balm for injuries alleged to have been suffered in the accident, while her husband asked $5,000 for loss of her services. Attorneys Wilton J. Lambert and Rudolph Yeatman appeared for the plaintiffs.

HESSE SUCCESSOR IN DOUBT AS 3 MEN ARE ADDED TO LIST

Col. Henry Shanton, Maj. Gen. Mark Hersey and Henry E. Solomon Boomed.

CHIEF'S RETIREMENT IS GIVEN APPROVAL

Question of Picking Man From Ranks or Outsider Is Being Argued.

Approved by the District Commissioners and the legal department of the District, the application of Maj. Edwin B. Hesse for retirement as major and superintendent of police was formally sent to the retiring board yesterday, but District officials declared themselves as far from the selection of his successor as they ever were.

Three names were added yesterday to the list of those who want the job. Two men, Maj. Gen. Mark Hersey, retired, and Henry E. Solomon, now in the Coast Guard, but formerly a policeman, formally filed their applications for appointment to the post of police chief.

Col. Henry Shanton, who has been an active candidate for the job each time there has been a vacancy in the last several years, also is seeking the post, with several friends actively working in his interest.

Pratt and Shelby Named.

The names of Inspector Henry G. Pratt, senior assistant superintendent of police, and Inspector William S. Shelby, also assistant superintendent of police, still continued to be advanced as having the call over other men if the Commissioners promote some one to the job of chief.

Shelby, it is said, is willing to accept the job providing his appointment does not entail a bitter fight, and is said to have told friends that he would be well content to give Pratt first call.

There are two divisions of thought among the unofficial pickers of the new police chief. There are those who believe that the precedent established with the appointment of Gessford and followed in the appointment of Sullivan and Hesse should be followed now and a man named chief who has had actual police experience and risen from the rank.

Another group urge that an outsider be appointed, declaring that such a man would be free from any hindrances of friendship or association such as might be felt by a man in the department in directing the force.

Hoover Is Silent.

The District Commissioners say they have heard no word from President Hoover on the subject and have not reached the point in their consideration where they are ready to confer with him about the matter. Neither have members of the House and Senate been heard from, the Commissioners said, although the attitude of Congress toward the new chief, whoever he may be, is admittedly important.

Indeed, Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty, president of the Board of Commissioners, in direct supervision of the Police Department, said that there had been time for so little consideration of the problem that no candidate had been eliminated from consideration nor had any advanced to anything like selection.

The name of Maj. Harry Leonard, retired Marine Corps officer, still is in the ring. Although it is said he has been strongly backed, the Commissioners have given no indication that he has come to be considered the outstanding candidate.

The Commissioners have full authority to name the new police chief. They may appoint anyone they see fit, regardless of age, creed or color, place of residence or previous experience. They have full latitude.

Minister Geissler Made Doctor of Laws

In recognition of his attainments in law, civics and diplomacy and his patronage of higher education, the degree of doctor of laws was conferred yesterday on Arthur H. Geissler, United States Minister to Guatemala by Chancellor John Wesley Hill on behalf of Lincoln Memorial University, of Cumberland Gap, Tenn. The award was made at the Willard Hotel.

Among those present were Senator Elmer Thomas, Representative Wilburn Cartwright, former Gov. D. W. Davis of Idaho, Assistant Attorney General B. M. Parmenter, Gen. Frank T. Hines, Colin H. Livingston, Wade H. Cooper, Wade H. Ellis, P. H. Whaley and Dr. Hill.

Brooklyn Man Falls Dead on Capital Visit

Allan W. Russell, 54 years old, an employe at the Hall of Records, Brooklyn, N. Y., fell dead at Seventh street and Pensylvania avenue northwest about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Death is believed to have been due to heart disease.

Mr. Russell arrived in Washington yesterday morning. He registered at the Lee House and then went to the Congressional Library to do some research work. He was returning to the hotel when stricken. The body was taken to the District morgue. He lived at 380 Lewis avenue, Brooklyn, and is survived by his mother, a son and two sisters.
